The divorce of Senator Sumner from his wife was so easily and quietly accomplished a few days since in Boston as to render it notable among divorces of people high in social Not the slightest impropriety was alleged on either side. It was a match of affection; but both parties; were so mature and so fixed in their ways and habits of life, as not to harmonize. Each found out that a mistake had been committed; so, to remedy it as far as possible, Mrs. Sumnerwent quietly to Europe, where she has since dwelt, and by her protracted and intentional absence has given Mr. S. the statuory right to claim a divorce on the technical ground of abandonment-all parties meanwhile remaining on 'terms of respectful tenderness.' Hon, Samuel Hooper. M. C. of Boston. his father-in-law. maintains the most intimate relations with Mr. Sumuer, and though losing him as a legal sonin-law clings to him as closely as everastone of the best of friends.

Carling's "dear Mr. Cocks" has resigned the Emigration Agency; or as a Carling organ has it-"this unsavory Mr. Cocks," has been dismissed.
