TATION INCOMEDIATION

TERMS:-$1.00 per year in advance. OFFICE On Main St., one door east of UME 28.

CHOOK

OVER

MILTON, THURSDAY APRIL 4 1889.

NO. 42.

OF HALTON, ONT. GO WEST. 18,000,000 acres of montains in-r and Attorney-at-Law. dry atc. Office-Beoth's

THOMAS G. MATHESON, anty Crown Attorney Barrister, Notary Barrister, &r., Notary Public. war, Esq. (upstairs) Dewar's Block,

AST MONEY TO LOAN. M. E. MITCHELL,

Solicitor, Conveyancer, &c. TIME Town Hall, Milton. Money to

Prister, Solicitor, etc., Notary Public. MONEY TO LOAN AT LOWEST RATES. PEFICE - Next door to Bank of Hamilton. BAIN, LAIDLAW & Co. Barristers & Solicitors. TICE over Imperial Bank, 34 Welgton Street, East. Entrance, Exchange Toronto. WILLIAM LAIBLAW. GEORGE KAPPELR.

'CIAL TEETH SS PER SE'

DING HOTELIN TOWN

" her' Wines, Liquors and Cigara, toles and attentive hostle.

ES $1 00 PER DAY AND DOMINION

Valuators, etc. 17 Young Street Arcade. HAMILTON: 42 North James Street. 17-6m building or other purposes, apply to E.R. REYNOLDS.

LOCAL COURTS CALENDAR, 1889.

Jan. Mar. May. July. Sep. Nov. Jan. of Opening Clerks.

Vor rates, Maps, and other information, Address, C. Warren, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. P. M. & M. Ry. General Sessions of the Peace and County and Tuesday, 10th December, at 10 acm;

CREDIT SALES County Court Sittings-Formerly Terms-Monday, 14th January, 1st April, Tuesday, 2nd July, and 7th

Audit of Criminal Justice Accounts-Wednesday, 2nd January, 3rd April, 3rd July & 2nd October.

By order, T. G. MATHESON, Clerk of the Peace.

N. B .- All pouls packed free of charge.

10 Per Cent Off. Bargains

Wm. Panton. 25 29 31 26 27 29 20 29 9.30a.m For the next 30 days we will sell Parlor Suits, Bedroom Suits, Sideboards, Lounges, Easy Chairs, Bookcases, Reed and Rattan Rockers, Ladies Sewing Baskets, Mantle Mirrors, and Furniture of all kinds at 10 per cent less than any other firm in the city. Give us a call before buying elsewhere.

DOMINION FURNITURE CO,

120 and 122 King Street East, Hamilton.

there isn't a friend among them.' "Step back, then, whoever they are." Stinsor & Co., Box 812, Portland, Maine. "But the dogs, sor "Curse the dogs. Back, I say !" time to say, Heaven presarve us !"

now. The Gold and Jewelled Medal awarded to the eer will please call at the "CHAMPION office,"

Milton, where all particulars as to dates of Licensed Auctioneer for Halton, Wentworth, eles, &c., can be given. E. CHAPMAN,

. 4 Bulfinch St.

Capital

$1,000,000

Reserve Fund

$360,000

scented their prey side of the frail cance.

from the shore. "In with you too."

"Kape on," whispered Dinny.

Present! Will you surrender?"

"Divil a bit can they see where to shoot."

voices and the furious baying of the dogs.

showing where their danger lay.

strength with so heavy a load.

reaked against the best.

pursuers having to force their way painfully what was in places little more than liquid mud full of fibrous vegetation, and what had

"Yes; be patient," was the atern reply.

"or we'll blow you out of the water."
"The ugly, yellow-faced divil!" mutter-

"Now, then, come schore, and I will not

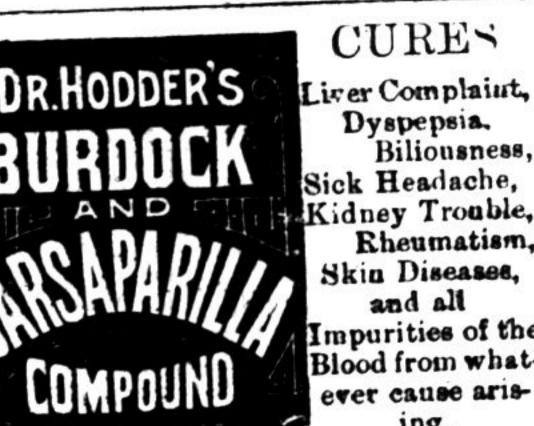

FIGE. - In Court House, Milton. 38-tf Deposits received and inter- who threaded it with ease. Exchange bought and sold Office la cooms occupied by Dancau Office hours-From 10 a.m.

10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

into the throat and excessive expectoration caused by tarrh. Sold by Druggists, or sent pre-paid on receipt of price, 50c. and $1. Address FULFORD & Co., Brookville, Ont.

ever cause aris-Price 75c (with Pills $1.)

DR. HODDER'S 'very small and easy to take.)

NO NAUSEA. Sold everywhere; price 25 cents UNION MEDICINE CO., PROPRIETORS. TOPONTO CAN.

when I say CURE I do not mean merely to stop them for a time, and then have them re-turn again. I MEAN A BADICAL CURE. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or

A life long study. I WARRANT my remedy to OURE the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. WINT INFALLIBLE BEMEDY. Give Express

> H. G. BOOT. 87 Youge St., Toronte, One. JONES

(Next door to the Thompson House,)

Valises, Whips, Combs,

the very Best English Canadian and American Manufacture. Tarness, Saddles, o , made to order

"Down, dogs!" roared the man again. but, and it was followed by titter silence, know who was in the boat. You have es. Then they made me get over the gate and i as if those ashore were listening. "Curse your stupid fellows, sergeant!

Why don't you make them fire lower? the men. Now, then, fire again.

the muddy creek had brought the fugitives knitted jacket above her linsey woolsey shout for help last night when you tould me from her brother.

The advice was excellent, for the sounds estuary dotted by sand banks and islets of it along? f pursuit were close at hand, and the dogs bamboos and palms. were baying as if they heard as well as "All's ready," whispered Mary. I heard pick off that fellow easily." the shots, and knew you were coming. Abel 'our hand. Join hands all.'

same time extending his own, which was before me face. taken by Bart, and he in turn, almost involuntarily, held out his to Dinny. In this order they passed rapidly through est allowed at current rate. It was one wild excitement, for the dogs sunocating sound, as or some animal being she now t and who was this sturdy youth in a handsome boy, and have a way wild phantly, and with an air of satisfaction that with a grin of satisfaction, and before many phantly, and with an air of satisfaction that with a grin of satisfaction, and before many phantly, and with an air of satisfaction that with a grin of satisfaction, and before many phantly, and with an air of satisfaction that with a grin of satisfaction, and before many phantly, and with an air of satisfaction that with a grin of satisfaction, and before many phantly, and with an air of satisfaction that with a grin of satisfaction, and before many phantly, and with an air of satisfaction that with a grin of satisfaction, and before many phantly, and with an air of satisfaction that with a grin of sa hot for them, and en the fleeing party had whined and seemed to be scuffling away. fisherman's boots. reached the creek the fierce brutes had gained the edge of the jungle, through which the overseer.

"It struck me with its tail." curses as they were brought into contact into the mud, where he stood and held the "Now, Abe," he whispered. "I can here them," shouted a voice. "Here, room for me?" whispered Dinny. "Silence, there!" said Mary, gruffly, from "Nay, my lass, nay," he said, becoming Mary smilingly laid her hand in Dinny's, cried Abel, fiercely. "The coming wid you," cried Dinny. Bart caught him by the shoulder.

hour she toiled on through the intense dark- rum. I say, though," he cried, sharply, her. ness, guiding the boat from the tangle of "what's gone of all your beautiful long "No, no, lad, we're escaping; this is no weedy growth and cane into winding canal- hair?" ' like portious of the lagoon, where every "Fire," said Mary coldly. Be my sowl, this isn't," said Dinny. the boat he began to wade and thrust her now and then they disturbed some great reptile, which plunged into deeper water it?" But said no zaore, but followed the Irish. with a loud splash, or wallowed farther

"I have you. Down, dogs! Do you hoarse laugh. "But who gave you a passage?" said face leaning over him.

"Gave! No one," she said, speaking in sadly. "Make rendy!" cried the same voice quite a rough tone of voice. "How could I "You, Mary !-dressed like this!" find friends who would give! I worked He started up angrily, his face flushing as "Lie down, me darlins," whispered Dinny "Divil a bit can they see where to shoot." my way out."

"Fire!" cried the same voice, and a dozen "Oh," said Bart; and he sat back, think- a seowl. flashes of light blazed out of the cane-brake. ing and listening as the pole kept falling in "What else could I do?" she said, repeat- wid a shtick?" There was a roar that seemed deafening the water with a rhythmic splash, and the ing her defence as she had pleaded to Bart. and the darkness was once more opaque. brother and sister carried on a conversation Then, as if her spirit rebelled against his face before her; "that was the reason." we'll get in. Ugh! bedad, it's up to me think you are hiding somewhere in the there is the sea!"

chin all at wanst," he muttered. "Can yet woods." die in prison, while I, a helpless girl, might snarply, as he turn panting, as Bart scrambled in simultaneous going?"

have starved at home, or been hunted down was your shtick?"

"To get right down to the mouth of this he that devil who called himself a man. "I struck him with Then another volley was fired, for the creek, and round the shore. There are What could be a man. bullets to go bursting through the cancs, plenty of hiding-places along the coast. What could I do?"

but over the fugitives' heads, and once more inlets and islands, with the trees growing as a sailor?" whispered Abel. darkness reigned over the hurried buzz of to the edge of the sen." "What then?" said Mary, in a hall marshy land at the edge of the creek, mingl. wondering tone. "Yes; where shall we go?" loose, and harking and yelping as they ran There was an interval of silence, during to here and there at the side of the water, which the boat glided on in the darkness, where their splashing could be heard by those which seemed to be quite opaque. "I had not thought of that," said Mary, ly and cautiously by Mary, who knelt in the in the same short, rough voice which she prow and thrust a pole she carried down is seemed to have adopted. of finding you, Abel, and when I had found The baying of the dogs as they kept mak you, of helping you to escape." "She never thought of me," muttered ing rushes through the canes gave the pursuers some clew as to where the fugitives Bart, with a sigh. "Good girl," said Abel, tenderly. would be; and from time to time, after a Don't say that," she cried minand given to the escaping men to surrender, a volley was fired, the bright flasher shortly. from the muskets cutting the darkness, and she whispened then. "One of the sentries." " Why did you bring him?" was slow work for both parties, the "Kill him?" said Mary, boassely, for her soger, where shall we let you ashore?" through the tangled growth, while the heavily-laden boat had to be propelled through brother did not and his sentence. You must set him ashore, of course.

been but a light task to Mary when she was aione, proved to be almost beyond her at last, for they were narmy moving, and it enthusiastically; but he was again checked ye wouldn't behave so dirthily as to send more ways of killing a cat than hanging seemed to him that they were running right at last, for they were hardly moving, and it "You're a brave, true girl," said Abel, seemed to him that they were running and shortly.

In among the growth that whispered and shortly.

"Don't say that," cried Mary, in as "But we're escaping," said Bart.

"Don't say that," cried Mary, in as "But we're escaping," said Bart.

Hard " said Mary, shortly. "Av coorse. They knocked me down and

Av. we've escaped, my-" Hush, I say !" cried Mary, imperiously; terribly near to the dense brake; but Mary's skirt, just as he had seen her hundreds of not?" "You were afraid," growled Bart "Nay, sor, ye'll tak' me wid ye, now ! pole remained perfectly motionless, and times in her father's, and then in Abel's suddenly. "Bring a gun, sergeant. I can mouth open, sleeping heavily. On his left him." was Abel Dell, also sleeping as a man sleeps Abel glanced at the happy, contented face "Faith, and what a foine liar he would who is utterly exhausted by some terrible before him, and then turned to Bart. make wid a little training," whispered exertion. But that was not the Devou Abel caught at that of his sister, at the Dinny. "Why, I can't even see my hand coast upon which the sun was shedding its half started up in the boat, for there was a like fittricate rustic scattoldings on said Dinny. "I was at say before I 'listed, a of reeds and caues, and then a choking, to help them with a boat; but where was there is anywhere. And, bedad! but you're gave way, and one leg was free.

words of encouragement with oaths and the poor brute 'lown," said the sergeant. eyes and mouth closed tightly, and wrinkles the speaker. appeared all over his face, as he softly shook Dinny burst into a hearty laugh. There was a rushing, scuilling noise here, all over, and then, after glancing at Abel spot for a bathe; but I've got to have a dip "Silence, idiot!" she whispered, sharply. save them?" as soon as we get out of this into the sea." "Do you want that strange man to know?" outside as well as in. It kapes off the ugly "Bart," whispered Mary, fiercely, and o' wood among the shnakes and reptiles hundreds o' miles." fayvers of the place. Do you want me to her eyes flashed with indignant anger, "is I wouldn't for the best brother I iver had,

"Oh!" ejaculated Bart, and it sounded counthry. It wasn't murther, or they'd west.

"Don't you know me, Abel ?" said Mary,

"Ay, and she could do it, too—as good a here for a thing like that! Gintlemen, I'm face before him.

sailor as ever took in sail; and, Mary, lass, proud of ye. Why didn't ye tell me be- "Nor the Hill of Howth?" I asks your pardon for laughing; and if I fore?" wasn't such a big ugly chap, I could lie down He held out his hands to both, and, inwhich Mary placed hers to return his honest escaped prisoners shook hands with him Bart, thoughtfully. clasp, and her eyes smiled for a moment into again. his, while Abel sat frowning and biting his "I only thought lips as he glanced at Dinny. "I don't know what to do," he said, hesi-

Mary start and Abel mutter a curse.

ding at Mary ; " what for ?" "What for ?" cried Bart. "To go back." can find a file." "I'm not going back," said the Irishman, "I did not think of a file," said Mary, to ate." "Sure, and you forced me to come, and never see one that grew files. Only there's of bananas."

What's she mean?" thought Bart; and smiling "It's meighty dull work stopping here." To be sure I am-a sowldier of fortune. Wou'll be a deserter if you stop with us, of the sea being hushed and the overhang. can have it our own way. "Bedad, yis, sor; nice swate bacon run- the rocks shutting out the evening light, so A rattling volley from close at hand rang people yender saw us then they would not there they are in the bottom of the boat. ning about on four legs all over the place, that at times it was quite dusk. fruit on the trees, and fish in the say rocky barrier was soon passed, and an open eshcape wid 'em; and, now they're safe, they for the catching. Oh, an' it's a moighty natural park spread before them, in a de-"And how could we find it?" cried Mary. smo th grassy shores were literally ploughed "We can't take you with us," said Abel, "By jist setting a sail, and kaping about in every direction with shallow scorings of and sat gazing straight before him into the "Aisy, now! Think about it, sor. Ye're four miles from the shore till ye see it lying the soil.

imagination filling up the blanks, till he cumstances I'd like one too. There! I see we could hang our hammocks there before whisper, as he pointed down at some of the There was the rattling noise of the ram- seemed to see her standing up in the boat, what you're a thinking—that I'd bethray ye. night, and the mushket here all ready to more recent turnings of the soft earth. The sinuous nature of upon her raven-black hair, and a tight, blue. Kelly do a dirthy thrick to anyone Did I "Yes," said Mary in response to a glance as Pat Mulcahy's pig which nobody could "Then I'll hoist the sail," said Bart. "Nay, let the boy do it," said Dinny, ing behind a piece of rock. "Afraid!-me afraid! Did ye ever hear of "and you come and sit down here.

"Let him come, Abel," whispered Mary, the party moved on, when there would be a All at once Bart Wrigley opened his eyes a Kelly who was afraid? No, sor; I said to soon show you a thing as would make the ing which had suddenly been heard in the What did it all mean? He was in a boat, shore now," said Mary, in a whisper to her knife on the thwart of the boat, and with lake.

"Now I have them !" cried the overseer, and behind him lay back the soldier with his brother. "You have nothing to fear from the flint jagged the edge of the blade all They were of all sizes, from little plump iron's as soft as cheese. This last was a slight Hibernian exaggo sions of an English pig. "There's no harm in him, said Bart, with ration; but as Mary hoisted sail, and Abel They trotted down to the water-side, put out an oar to steer, while the little where they drank and rolled and wallowed "Hush," whispered Eart, and then he grove did not spread their muddy roots "Sure, and you'll find me very useful," vessel glided rapidly over the sunlit sea, at the edge for a few moments, and then y yelping and baying of a dog, which was clusters of alligators lying here and there "Can you keep faith with those who trust and with such good effect that at the end passing so near the hidden group that Din-Yelp-bark-howl, accompanied by the It was true enough. They did escape in "An' is it a Kelly who can keep faith, me by hammering the ring together with the which rolled over, the rest dashing off had become perfectly familiar to Mary Dell, splashing and beating of water, and rustling the night, and Mary had been there ready lad? Sure, an, we're the faithfullest people but of the musket, the half-severed iron through the trees squealing as if every one who threaded it with ease.

It was one wild excitement, for the dogs sufficating sound, as of some animal being she now? and who was this sturdy youth in a handsome boy, and have a way wild you "Look at that, now!" said Dinny, trium "We sha'n't starve here," said Dinny,

"Keep her a little farther away from the "Look at him," he said, "coloring up like a girl. There, don't look at me, boy, shore, Abel," said Mary, in a warning tone in which she guided her friends, the dogs Mean house to make the boat swung round and it in a lad. It shows his heart's in the "Ye needn't mind," said Dinny, sawing They had been a month on the island, the house she guided her friends, the dogs Mean house to make the boat swung round and it in a lad. It shows his heart's in the "Ye needn't mind," said Dinny, sawing They had been a month on the island, were nearly upon them as the boat was Mary began to use her pole, and the boat faced him sharply, glancing at the two sleepglided on through the thick, half-liquid ing men, and holding up a roughened brown There, take a grip o' me hand, for I like a moighty dacent sort of folk, and won't begun to sleep of a night deeply and well

"Nay, not I," said Bart, shortly, as he "Did ye, now? Then ye're a brave lad; there's the shmiling crockydills, and a few Dinny generally had the last word. "Bekase I'm wet with fresh wather and too glanced at Dinny. "But I say, you do and there ar'n't many men who would have shnakes like ships' masts, and some shpotted "Why, who wants to do anything? Un-"Then you are safe, Abel," said Mary, man could wish for but some more powder with the tears standing in her eyes.

"Yes, Ma-yes, Jack," cried Abel, check some young rascal, that's what ye're always her place in the prow; and for quite an sober on the instant. "But you do look so and gazed in the nierry, frank face before ing himself; and then meaningly, as he thinking about." glanced at Bart, "you're a brother of whom "Jack" gave him an angry look, and "And yo shan't repent it, me lad, for "Ay," cried Bart, excitedly, "a brother "Look at him !" cried Dinny. "There's you've done no harm, and were niver a of whom a man may well be proud." "Fire! what!—you've cut it off and burnt prishner. And now, as we are talking I'd "Hurroo!" cried Dinny. "How't still, ture and we're all full of it, and a good thing, like to know what yere brother and number my lad, and I'll soon be through." noinety-sivin did to be sint out of the And the boat sped onward toward the for the powder's growing very low and we have hung 'em, Was it-helping yerselves? The island was found just as the Irish- shooting when it's done." into the muddy creek, only to get a few yards from the shore, as with a furious rush party bogan to converse in a low tone, all her passage out here as a sailor-boy, and Wrigley were transported to the plantata ed without having even sighted a sail on ly making up his mind, accompanied the party bogan to converse in a low tone, all her passage out here as a sailor-boy, and Wrigley were transported to the plantata ed without having even sighted a sail on ly making up his mind, accompanied the yards from the shore, as with a furious rush yards from the shore, as with a furious rush party began to converse in a low tone, all her passage out here as a sailor-boy, and Wrigley were transported to the plantata ed without having even sighted a sail on by making up his mind, accompanied the party began to converse in a low tone, all her passage out here as a sailor-boy, and Wrigley were transported to the plantata ed without having even sighted a sail on by making up his mind, accompanied the party began to converse in a low tone, all her passage out here as a sailor-boy, and their way the little heat leads their way the little heat leads and save Dinny. Whose deep, regular breathing have gape into that gape leaks and saved tions for beating and healf-hilling they said their way the little heat leads. reeds, to step, breast-deep, barking savage told that he had fallen fast asleep in happy you two?" said Mary, sharply; and as Bart the scoundred who have with flashing aves low rock-reefed shore above which waved. Here Dinny rolled up the sleeves of h carelessness of any risk that he might run. sat staring at her with dilated eyes once his sister!" cried Mary, with flashing eyes low, rock-reefed shore, above which waved Here Dinny rolled up the sleeves of his "Purty creatures!" whispered Dinny. carelessness of any risk that he might run. sat staring at her with dilated eyes once his sister. cred many, with dashing cheeks, as she stood up proudly a luxuriant tropic growth, but for some time coarse and ragged shirt, and climbed one are shadled and shadled being the front one to the no landing place was found, while though trop are laddess a role; but the fruit when "Sure, and we musn't get in yet, or, if we from his seat, after another vain effort to still sleeping soundly, and laid her hand in the boat, and looked from one to the no landing-place was found, while, though tree as a lad does a pole; but the fruit when the sea was calm there was a heavy swell in the boat, and looked from one to the no landing-place was found, while, though tree as a lad does a pole; but the fruit when the sea was calm there was a heavy swell in the boat, and looked from one to the no landing-place was found, while, though tree as a lad does a pole; but the fruit when the sea was calm there was a heavy swell in the boat, and looked from one to the no landing-place was found, while, though tree as a lad does a pole; but the fruit when the sea was calm there was a heavy swell in the boat, and looked from one to the no landing-place was found, while, though tree as a lad does a pole; but the fruit when the sea was calm there was a heavy swell in the boat, and looked from one to the no landing-place was found, while, though tree as a lad does a pole; but the fruit when the sea was calm there was a heavy swell in the boat, and looked from one to the no landing-place was found, while, though tree as a lad does a pole; but the fruit when the sea was calm there was a looked from one to the no landing-place was found, while, though tree as a lad does a pole; but the fruit when the sea was calm the se do, it must be together. Push her on."

"Halt there!" cried a loud voice, sudden "Ship," she said laconically, and with a firm grip on her brother's shoulder. other.

"Halt there!" cried a loud voice, sudden "Ship," she said laconically, and with a "Ship," she said laconically, and stant, and gazed without recognition in the his cheek as he peered eagerly into Mary's in a way that would have swamped their "We don't want dhrink, but mate," said

"Yes, with sticks." "And was that all ?" "They transported thim two boys to this watching the shore with a critical eye. hers had flushed, and his look darkened into baste of a place, and put chains on their legs. All at once, upon sailing round a jugged nuts nestled, and slid down again, sore in for giving a spalpeen like that a big bating point to which they had to give a wide berth body and in temper, on account of the fierce race which swept "A failure, Dinny?" said Jack. "Yes," said Mary, smiling in the eager and eddied among the rocks, a pleasantly. "Failure! yes. Can't ye see it is?" said anger, her eyes flashed with indignation, "Holy Moses!" ejaculated Dinny. "For with a smooth sandy shore where the waves softly rubbed the inner sides of his knees." lence gives consent," he added to himself. "I suppose we are safe now," said Mary. and she exclaimed hoarsely, "Well, I have just handling a shtick like that. Think o' just creamed and glistened in the sun.

"I suppose we are safe now," said Mary. and she exclaimed hoarsely, "Well, I have just handling a shtick like that. Think o' just creamed and glistened in the sun. "I suppose we are sale now, said binny. "I suppose we are sale now, said binny. "That's You have done with me—that, now! Why, I sent Larry Higgins to "Look at that, now," said Dinny. "That's You have a turn."

"I suppose we are sale now, said binny. "That's You have done with me—that, now! Why, I sent Larry Higgins to "Look at that, now," said Dinny. "They never saw the boat, and they would saved you, and if you have done with me—that, now! Why, I sent Larry Higgins to "Look at that, now," said Dinny. "They never saw the boat, and they would saved you, and if you have done with me—that, now! Why, I sent Larry Higgins to "Look at that, now," said Dinny. "They never saw the boat, and they would saved you, and if you have done with me—that, now! Why, I sent Larry Higgins to "Look at that, now," said Dinny. "They never saw the boat, and they would saved you, and if you have done with me—that, now! Why, I sent Larry Higgins to "Look at that, now." said Dinny. "They never saw the boat, and they would saved you, and if you have done with me—that, now! Why, I sent Larry Higgins to "Look at that, now." said Dinny. "They never saw the boat, and they would saved you, and if you have done with me—that, now." I suppose we are sale now." I suppose we are s the hospital for sivin weeks wance for just where we landed; but I was ashleep after "Jack" shook his head. "But you—dressed as a boy!" said Abel. such a thing. An' it was a contimptible pulling a long time at the oar, and I disre- "No skulking!" cried Dinny; "falr and laid it in the bottom of the boat, but d over the stem of the boat, dripping and uting as Bart scrambled in simultaneous.

They il think the singulars nave puned us whispered Mary, nearsely. — my protner and it chacked uncerty 1 left it will the glorious scene, and ask than I am. Why, ye cught to go up that the stem of the boat, dripping and uting as Bart scrambled in simultaneous while I a helpless girl might sharply, as he turned to Mary. "Where ing herself whether that was to be her future tree like a monkey." "I struck him with my hand," said Mary, "An'd' yer caal that beautiful !" said "No," he said, "I'm no climber. Let's Dinny, contemptuously, "Young man, did go back." "More sorrow to it that it hadn't a ye iver see Dublin Bay?" "No," said Jack, smiling in the carnest at? Not I, me lad. Now, then, I shall shtick in it at the time. Sint ye both out "Then don't call that beautiful again in drew him, half-resisting, toward the tree. truder as he was, it seemed impossible to me presence," said Dinny. He held out his great coarse band, in resist his frank, friendly way, and the "Puts me in mind of Black Pool," said climb the tree." Further conversation was checked by the Dinny. "Now, thin, take howed toightly, "And now what are ye going to do?" interest of landing, the boat being run up on and up you go."

the shore and hidden among the rocks, not "Loose my arm," said Jask, speaking in "We don't know yet," said Abel, rather that it was likely that it would be seen, but a low voice, full of suppressed anger. the position of the fugitives and the dread "Divil a bit. Ye've got to elimb that "That's jist me case," said Dinny. "I'm of being retaken made them doubly cau-three." Dinny, opening his eyes suddenly, making tired of sogering and walking up and down tious, Bart even going so far as to obliterate "Loose my arm, Diaz. poor divils chained like wild bastes. I tak "Now, then," said Dinny, "you've got "Ye've got to climb time There was only one of the two equal to the shilling bekase I'd been in a skrimmage, the mushket and the bagnet, and those two boy. Now, thin, no skulpture was only one of the two equal to the shilling bekase I'd been in a skrimmage, the mushket and the bagnet, and those two boy. Now, thin, no skulpture was only one of the two equal to the shilling bekase I'd been in a skrimmage, the mushket and the bagnet, and those two boy. the emergency, and that was Bart, who gave and the bowld sergeant said there'd be make one; but if I was you I'd cut down "Jack" brung back, with the color deephis knees sounding slap and cried aloud- plinty of foighting; and the divil a bit one of them bamboos and shtick the bagnet ening in his cheeks, and a dark look in his "Jack Dell, my lad, you've behaved like there's been but setting up to shoot prishners an that, which would make two of it, and it eyes, which Dinny could not interpret: and, a trump, and got us away splendid. I on's and I didn't want that. Now, ye'll tak me would be a moighty purty tool to kill a pig." half in anger at the boy's opposition, half in wish, Abel, I liad such a brother. Halle wid ye, only I must get rid o' these soger The hint was taken, Bart soon cutting playful determination, he grasped the youth soger, where shall we let you ashore?"

Clothes, and—look here, what are ye going down a long, straight lance shaft and forcing firinly, and forced him toward the tree.

In an instant land to do wid thim chains?"

The straight lance shaft and forcing firinly, and forced him toward the tree.

In an instant land to do wid thim chains?" "Get rid of them," said Abel, "when we "Then next," said Dinny, "if I was cap- with his eyes flashing. and before the Irishtain I should say let's see about something man-could realize what was coming he went "Hear that, Abel ?" said Bart.

"Hapes," put in Dinny; "and there's a ceived a blow. more ways or kining a car than a cabbage growing in the heart of ivery one of "Bad luck to ye, ye arbitrary young him, as the praste said when he minded his thim bundles of leaves on top of a shtick as divil!" he cried, springing up. "It's a big But we're escaping," said Bart.

"But we're escaping," said Bart.

"Sure, and I'll escape, too," said Dinny, own owld brogues wid a glue pot. Come they call palms; but thim's only vegetables, bating ye want, is it, to tache ye manners?

"Sure, and I'll escape, too," said Dinny, here." here."
He took off his flannel jacket, folded it, captain, dear, and me shtomach is asking for Thin ye shall have it."

glanced at Jack, who nodded that ing trees which held on among the rifts of "Hang the dogs! I wanted you to hit darkness where he knew the girl to be, his going for a holiday, sure; and under the circ like a bit o' cloud off to the south. Sure, "Look at that now," said Dinny in a

"What's the matter with the dogs?" said Bart stared till his eyes showed a ring of Mary started, and turmed of a deep dark "Now, thin, up wid that other purty foot!" sheltered nook, where the flame was not white about their pupils, and his mouth red, which showed through her sun-brown he cried; and, as the boat glided rapidly likely to be seen from the sea, and as soon "One of those beasts of alligators dragged opened roundly in unison for a time. Then ed skin, as she flashed an angry look upon toward the west, he sawed away again, with as it was glowing, pieces of the pig, cut in a

"Sure, an' it's plisant," said Dinny, cool"All right," said Bart, half-choking with the way you've stood thrue to your brother some, and they've got into a habit o' wear- ed in sweat, and believing that the authoriprotested and would have hung back had not Bart lifted her bodily in after wading into the mud. where he stood and held the sto and a wife. En ! Master Jack, ye hand-

The last fetter had been laboriously sawn to climb; but the day was hot, there was a through, Dinny having persisted in continu- languid feeling induced by the moist atmosing the task, and he now sat resting and phere, and Dinny failed three times to reach the glorious green crown of leaves where the wooded little bay opened out before them, the Irishman sourly, as he bent down and woods.

"Yes; and because they don't find us,

"Hush! Do you want that man to know!" thin shkull he'd got, just like a bad egg, membered all about where we went ashore." play's a jool, me lad, so up you go. Ye're "Yes; and because they don't mid us, "Hush: Do you want that man to know: thin shaul ned god, fact they do younger and eleverer wid yer arms and legs than deaught his wrist, and he was help they'll think the alligators have pulled us whispered Mary, hoarsely. "My brother and it cracked directly I felt it wid the "How beautiful!" said Jack, gazing younger and eleverer wid yer arms and legs than deaught his wrist, and he was help they'll think the alligators have pulled us whispered Mary, hoarsely. "My brother and it cracked directly I felt it wid the "How beautiful!" said Jack, gazing younger and eleverer wid yer arms and legs than the standard thoughtfully at the clorious scene, and aske then I am What are the standard thoughtfully at the clorious scene, and aske then I am What are the standard thoughtfully at the clorious scene, and aske then I am What are the standard thoughtfully at the clorious scene, and aske then I am What are the standard thoughtfully at the clorious scene, and aske then I am What are the standard thoughtfully at the clorious scene, and aske then I am What are the standard thoughtfully at the clorious scene, and aske then I am What are the standard thoughtfully at the clorious scene.

"Widout a nut, and ready to be laughed have to tak ye in hand and mak a man of ve. Up wid ye." He caught the youth by the arm, and "No, no, Dinny. Nonsense! I could not "Bedad, and ye've got to climb it " orica staggering back from the tierce blow he received in his chest, caught his heels against you to escape, and you have escaped. You "Change 1" cried Abel. "You can't ge "There's plinty of strange plants out in "Yes. I was thinking of how we could the husk of an overgrown nut, and came "There's plinty of strange plants out in "Yes. I was thinking of how we could the husk of an overgrown nut, and came

MAIN STREET