Just where the owl obtained its reputation for wisdom is rather difficult to discover. It probably grew out of the fact that the bird always looks exceedingly serious and solemn. There would not be any doubt about the wisdom of an owl who invested in one of our $8.50 suits this season. We intended these for our $10 line, but are going to give some very extra value in men's suits this fall. We know it takes more than newspaper talk to sell clothing and we stand better prepared this season than ever before to surprise our customers with good value.
