Suits are useful, (Expensive too) Otherwise Id buy a few.

When people talk about Suits being expensive now-a-days it shows they have not been around much to see what is going on in the clothing world. Men in business are "failing" all around us. Wonder why? They cannot produce their merchandise cheap enough to compare with our prices, and therefore cannot do a large enough business to keep afloat. We turn over sixty-five thousand dollars worth of clothing in the year, and we sell at low prices simply because we are bound to do the clothing business of the city. "It's money makes the mare go."
