A Good Word for Canada.

The Interior, published in Chicago, says: "We are not so anxious to annex Canada as we are to see some of her good ideas transplanted to this side o the border. Throughout the whole extent of her vast western dominions you will not find an outlaw, or hear of a case of lynching. It is not because she has to deal with a class of frontiersmen so different from those of our own Western States, but because she has laws and executes them. You can go nowhere, not even in the fastness of the Rockies or the isolation of the Selkirks. without finding the scarlet uniform of her mounted police. You will feel everywhere the presence of protecting law. You are made to realize that you person and property are under the care was crowded, and after ex. Mayor W. A. Int.
