SNRIBNER'S MAGAZINE for July opens with a descriptive article on the social aspects of that region along the Massachusetts Coast known as "The North Shore." The illustrations were made by W. T. Smedley from actual sketches along the North Shore. There will be similar social studies in succeeding numbers of the magazine, Mr. W. C. Brownell writing of Newport and F Mariou Crawford of Bar Harbor. Doc. tor Carl Lumboltz, the distinguished emplorer and author of "Among Can. nibals," has been for the past three years making explorations in the al. most unknown regions of the Sierra Madre in Mexico. He has written several papers on his discoveries for Scribner's Magazine, the first of which appears in this number under the title "Among the Tarahumaris." The anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg makes particularly appropriate the publication at this time of the late Dr. Philip Schaff's reminiscences of 'The Gettysburg Week.' In this number also
