What is especicess that the fitness of women to exer eise the franchise was practically test ed and eventually approved. A preliminary word is said by Mr Luck about the locality in which this important experiment has been made The self-governing colony of New Zee land is a comparatively small and com pact country, inhabited by an isolate community of almost unmixed British origin, and generally possessed of high standard of culture and education As a consequence, apparently, of thes peculiarities, this particular colony has been conspicuous among the Austr lian colonies for the number of its nev departures in legislation and in inst tutions. It was, for example, in New Zealand that what is known as the Australian ballot system was devised and it is there found to-day in its most nearly perfect form. There, too a system of lessening, instead of sel ing state lands was introduced and now in operation. There, also, a sys tem of local option with regard to the sale of intoxicating drinks has been
