But Then They Are Heathens. A gentleman traveling in Persia says he has been in a town where the bells ring for prayers five times a day, and business men rush out of their offices to the churches, leaving their places of business alone and unlocked, and nobody ever has a thing stolen. But we must remember that those people are heathens. Take it in this country-where we send missionaries to the heathen-a man who went out to attend prayers would lock both ends of his shop, tie his clerk's hands behind him and have a policeman to watch the shop and another man to watch the policeman. Besides, the man who owned the shop wouldn't go to prayers either.

Names Known of Old. The instruments now known as the telephone and microphone are of comparatively recent invention, but the origin of the names dates back many years. 1827 Wheatstone gave the name of microphone to an apparatus invented by him to render weak sounds audible, and 1845 a steam whistle or trumpet, giving. roaring signals in foggy weather, was called telephone by Captain John Taylor, while Sudre used the same name in 1854 for a system of musical telephony.-Chicago Chronicle.
