Doctors Disagree. Toronto doctors agree about the proposed new general hospital. The city council proposed to give a grant $200,000 to the hospital, but one condition is that "the trustees shall allow or hospital, the right of employing their own surgeon and physician, subject to the regulations of the trustees." The hospital trustees and medical staff object to this. They say that only private and semi-private ward patients pay enough to cover the cost of their main tenance and that the amount, $3.7 per week, paid by public ward patients does not cover their expenses. They refuse the grant under the above condition. City doctors, who are not on

The Difference Between Expert Unskilful Tea Blending

THE qualities of different teas prove that there is a distinct difference between expert Red Rose blending methods and the usual methods.

Several kinds of teas may be blended, but if unskilfully selected they will not combine to make a perfect blend; they will retain their original individual characteristics with their roughness and harshness emphasized. Such tea is bitter, poorly flavored in the cup (and there is much of it in bulk and package form on the market). It emphasizes the result of inexperience, lack of knowledge of combining qualities of different teas, imperfect blending, poor selection, and the hundred and one other causes of poor tea.

But my expert Red Rose blenders select the right grades of strong, rich Indian teas and delicate fragrant Ceylon teas, and produce Red Rose Tea with entirely new characteristics—a tea with that "rich fruity flavor" -a tea so exquisitely different and better than any brand of Ceylon alone, that no one who once tries it ever goes back to Ceylon again. ais ROSC ing some appear St. John, N.B., Toronto, Winnipeg

OVER MUCH OF LEARNING. To sell High Class Nursery Stock | Fancied Knowledge Kindles Discontent With Humbler and Happier Walks. Let education have its full due. But let common sense have its due also. Let education be real, so far as it goes; not superficial teaching of subjects ' which will never be of practical use, the study of which will never be pursued, and fancied knowledge of which can serve only to kindle restless ambition and discontent with the humble ' and unsuitable education English farmers in part lay the blame of that desertion of the country for the town, which is leaving rural England without hands to hold the plough. Some terms must be kept even with natural fustice, though its strict claims may be set aside when public necessity commands. It is the natural duty of every man to provide education, as well as food and clothing, for the children whom, by his own act, he brings into the world; and to tax one man for the education of another's children, while there may be urgent reasons for it, is a departure from natural justice, especially when the man who is taxed prefers, as many new do, and for substantial reasons, himself to perform his parental duty. Crowded Professions.

"Formerly," says Lecky, "the best workman was usually content to remain in his class, and to bring up his children in it. He took a pride in his work, and by doing so he greatly raised its standard and character. His first desire is now, much more frequently, to leave it, or at least, to educate his children in the tastes and habits of a class which he considers a little higher ! than his own. That a man born in the humbler stages of society, who possesses the power of playing a considerable part in the world, should be helped to do so very desirable; but it is by no means desirable that the flower of the working class, or their children, should learn to despise manual labor and the simple, inexpensive habits of their parents, in order to become very commonplace doctors, attorneys, clerks, or newspaper writers. This is what is continually happening, and while it deprives the working classes of their best elements, it is one great cause of the exaggerated competition which now falls with crushing weight on the lower levels of the intellectual profession."___
