COMMITTED.—Hugh Craig, Orville Fletcher and J. Worth appeared before Police Magistrate Dice on Monlay in the adjourned U. P. R. joy ride case! Worth was train despatcher at ondon up to the time of the ride. He had surrendered at Toronto since the last adjournment. As Fletcher had been at work as a railway man only two weeks before the ride and was considered less responsible than the other two men, the charge against him was withdrawn and he was sworn as a witness for the prosecution. The charge laid by Joseph Holding, C. P.

R. detective, of London, was that Craig and Worth did, on the 20th day of April last, unlawfully-run an engine of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company over the tracks of the said company and did then and there obstruct or interrupt, or cause to be obstructed there any reason why he might not go too.
