thing else in the world for the time. At last, with a great wooden groan, as though its heart were breaking at having to give up its secret at last, it crashed open. I fell on my knees as though I had been struck by lightning, for it was literally brimming over with silver and gold pieces-doubloons and pleces of eight; English and French coins, too-guineas and louis d'or: "all"—as Tobias' manuscript had said

-"all good money."

For a while I knelt over it, dazed and blinded, lost; then I slowly plunged my hands into it; and let the pieces pour and pour through them, literally bathing them in gold and silver, as I had read of misers doing. Then suddenly I broke out into an Irish jig-never having had any notion of doing such a thing before. In fact I behaved as I have read of men doing, whom a sudden fortune
