The Five Foolish Teapots. An amusing story of a padre of the Universities' Mission to Central Africa is related by Mr. F. S. Joelson in the Tanganyika Territory. Being not over-proficient in Swahili, the padre was transferred from Zanzibar to a station near the Rovuma river, and for his first sermon there he chose the subject of the foolish virgins. His discourse proceeded fluently, but for some reason he did not appear to hold his hearers' attention. Patiently and quietly they sat, but intense interest was lacking. When the service was over a colleague whispered to him that the Swahili for virgin is "bikara," not birika." He had been eloquently
