 Sir Basil Zaharoff, G.C.B.,

Is Very Wonderful Person,

If He Really Can Be Found

ID you ever hear of Sir Basil Zaharoff, G.C.B., G.B.E.? Neither did we. But the London correspondent of the Sun and New York Herald says that he is one of the most remarkable and interesting men in the world, and he makes out a pretty good case for it, too, unless he is drawing upon a highly hectic imagination. According to him Sir Basil is the "Millionaire of Mystery," one of the wealthiest men in the world, whose various art collections can compare with those of any American millionaire, and whose philanthropies are as vast as they are capricious. He is about to visit this continent on a special mission for the British Government. His visit has to deal with finance. of course, for it is in the realm of finance that Sir Basil shines with purest ray serene. The fact that he was born about 65 years ago of obscure parents and in the intervening years has made himself an amazing fortune, and was able at more than one critical moment in the war to throw his tremendous resources on the side of the Allies would seem to Cows Drink 20 Gallons of Water qualify him particularly for a finan-Sir Basil was born of a Greek mother and a Russian father in
