Paul's, one of the finest examples of

Renaissance architecture in England, placed him in the front rank of architects of all time. The cathedral's great dome is the crown of London. It is really three domes one within the other—one of vaulted stone, one of brick and one of lead and timber. On top is a stone lantern and the cross above reaches up 365 feet. The vast weight of 60 000 tons rests upon eight mas-

It took Wren 35 years to build St. Paul's -- from 1675 to 1710. He received but little pay---$20 a week-less than even unskilled workmen now receive. Sometimes he couldn't collect his wages. And his work was difficult and dangerous. Several times weekly he stepped into a basket and was dragged up o the top of the building to see that all was going as i he wished.

Safety caps and safety shoes are being supplied for the use of coal that the men are not compelled by the cost, the amount being deducted from their wages. The caps are made to protect the wearers' heads when they strike against cooms or props in low seams; and the shoer are constructed to guard the feet against falling objects. It is hoped that these special caps and shoes will reduce the number of accidents considerably.

CASTLE BECOMES SCHOOL. Oxonfoord Castle, near Dalkeith. Scotland, one of the seats of the Earl of Stair, has been converted into a boarding school for girls. The Lady ! Marjorie Dalrymple, Lady of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, and sister of Lord Stair, devised the plan for the school and has so arranged the rooms and furnishings that the school may again be converted back into a castle. Modern bathrooms had to be installed in the ancient building for the change.

ARCTIC EGG HUNT. Dr. George Miksch Sutton, ornithologist, is searchingein the Arctic circle for an egg which no man has ever seen-the egg of a Harris sparrow. He expects to travel 5,000 miles the cold wastes above Northern Canada in search of these eggs. He and his party left civilization by way of the north of Manitoba. Find Elephants at Bath On a world cruise you may be disappointed at not seeing elephants in Ceylon, unless you plan to make your trip with knowledge of where they may be found. Ceylon has been the great home of elephants from earliest history, yet many who visit Colombo sha and go down to the Katagastota r.ver, about three miles away, in the alternoon, and you will find the river crowded with magnificent animals taking their bath.—Exchange.

Powdered Eggs

Ten million dozen eggs will be cracked and either frozen or powdered by a Kansas City concern within the next few months. The company, one of the few of its kind in the country, sells the liquid and powdered eggs to bakers, candy makers and manufacturers of ice cream, noodles yolks are a deeper yellow and the whites of thicker consistency. The eggs are packed in 30-gallon cans and then frozen before being shipped,
