Sheep Owners' Guns Ready For 'Phantom' Killing Dogs

Sheep owners throughout Nelson, Trafalgar and Essex townships are keeping their rifles handy as a precaution against further raids by a "phantom" pack of sheep-killing dogs.

According to Meldrum Stark, third line, Essex township farmer and district sheep valuator, who himself lost a prize-winning Southdown ram last week, the dogs have killed "more than half a dozen sheep in his district."

The "phantom" pack "sweep down on the flocks during the night. You can't find a trace of them at dawn," he told the press.

Within the past two weeks the pack visited at least three farms within five miles of his home, Mr. Stark stated.

"They killed seven sheep belonging to G. Busel," he said. "My wife left several dead on the farm of Peter Walker—I am not certain of the number—and killed another owned by A. S. Wilson."

Mr. Stark stated that the kill was unaccountably the work of a pack, although no one has actually seen them in the act.

He found his own ram, valued at $30, lying dead early one morning, while the ewe was suffering from a bite on the leg.

"What will the farmers do if the dogs come back? We're getting the old shotguns and rifles down," he said.

Many Attend Blakelock Picnic

Blonde, blue-eyed Ruby Galloway, 14-year-old Oakville girl, stole the show at the seventh annual "Thos. Blakelock picnic" held at Oakville on Saturday, when she took the title of "Miss Halton county" from contestants over twice her age.

The picnic featured an annual picnic. Thousands of spectators cheered the winner, and she received a larger prize when she lost her voice in front of the microphone when she attempted to make a speech.

Other girls reaching the final rounds were Dorothy Dunn and Beatrice Taylor, of Acton, and Irene Hughes, of Oakville. First prize was $20 and a bouquet.

There weren't any speeches, something new for a political picnic. Mr. Blakelock, in welcoming his guests, affirmed his loyalty to Premier Hepburn, who earlier in the day had wiped his regret at not being able to attend as he had in former years.

Mr. Blakelock assured his audience that things in the province were in better shape than they were a year ago. Employment insurance will be in force by a future Ontario and health insurance is to come, he predicted.

Besides free apples, ice cream cones, pop and candy the children had a clown to make them happy.

A long and varied program of sports and other entertainment was provided. The largest midway in the history of the annual picnic went full blast until late at midnight.

Youths Given Three Months; Not Criminal But Wanderers

(Burlington Gazette)

John Germaine, 18, of Quebec, and Roger Labelle, 21, Montreal, were each sentenced to three months detention and three months probation at the Ontario reformatory by Magistrate Woodliffe here Friday.

They pleaded guilty to a joint charge of stealing an automobile owned by Dr. H. Mitchell, Burlington. A Magistrate Woodliffe reduced the original charge to one of taking the car without the owner's consent.

E. H. Cleaver, K.C., who offered his services to the accused youths as counsel, told the court there were extenuating circumstances. The parents of one boy were separated and there was no one to look after him.

The other boy's parents were on relief, he claimed. "These are only two of the hundreds of thousands of boys who are travelling around this country with nothing to do," said Mr. Cleaver. "They are not criminals and I would hate to see them placed with seasoned criminals. It is a pity there is no place to put them to be punished where they would receive guidance."

New Mental Hospital to Care for 3,000

Not only will the Ontario government's new $7,000,000 mental hospital in St. Thomas be the most modern in Canada from the point of institutional facilities, but it bids fair to become one of the show places of the province. While it is under construction, it is expected to be in operation in 1941.

It is proposed to house only the milder mental patient, but in time the more serious cases will be treated in a special pavilion. The present buildings when ready will take care of 2,000 patients. In such a modern institution a large staff will be required. The exact number is not known, but it is expected to be in the neighborhood of 500. Male nurses, now in training at the Ontario Hospital in Whitby, will be on the staff along with the female nurses.

The dominant idea in the architecture of the building is sunlight and the absence of any suggestion of the old prison-like asylum. The exteriors of the buildings all tend to the same design, are of chaste outline, three stories in height. The buildings resemble a double row of stone apartments, the male pavilions on one side and the female on the other.

All the windows consistent with such buildings are to be found in the pavilions. Absent are the iron bars, which are replaced by what is termed "institutional" grill. The grill work is iron grill work, resembling from the interior a French window. The grill work is painted grey to conform with the stone face.

Miss Renee Calise has reopened her cancer clinic at Brice-bridge, which was closed some time on account of friction with the government.

Refuses To Convict Lad Charged With Wearing Trunks Only

Displaying of the manly form—or at least a goodly part of it—on Hamilton's beaches received official sanction Monday afternoon in Hamilton's Traffic Court.

A lad was charged under by-law passed in 1936 with appearing at the Bay Street bathing beach improperly dressed in that he wore trunks only. The beach constable testified that the lad was not permissible for boys under 14 years of age, but not for others.

"The City Council will have to define the meaning of the words 'improperly dressed' before I will convict under this by-law," ruled Magistrate James McKay in dismissing the charge. "I was at Port Dover yesterday and did not see one man in a hundred who did not wear trunks only while bathing. If they permit that on bathing beach outside of Hamilton I am not going to decide what is or is not proper until the City Council here decides what is proper dress."

The Magistrate expressed the opinion that trunks were permitted on virtually every beach in this district.

"People take so little interest in politics that they never realize that an election is near until great men begin to notice them."

BASEBALL

With Johnny London twirling a fine bit pitching effort, Milton handed Acton a 7-2 drubbing in the first game of the semi-finals of the Halton County play-offs. The game was played here on Saturday before the largest crowd of the season. London amassed a total of ten strike-out victims, while his made-out to Lefty Morton for nine safeties to score a trio of runs in the third and fourth innings.

It is expected Rev. G. H. Knighton, of Port Colborne, will preach next Sunday morning in the United church.

An Interesting Letter from Miltonian in Pine Plains

Pine Plains, N.Y., Aug. 9th, 1938.

To the Editor of the Champion:—Dear Sir,—You do not realize until you are away from home what it means to receive the home paper, especially when you miss an issue.

I have just returned from a thirty mile trip through the mountains and valleys, and when I tell you that Mount Nemo is like a mole hill, in comparison with the mountains about here. One in particular is named Silver Hill and its summit is 1650 feet above sea level. We had had a picnic at the top and the view for thirty miles is almost beyond description. You can see over seas and across mountains, and the farm houses look like toy houses. A motor car in the distance appears about the size of a fly. The farmers are all threshing oats and the crop is very good. As our car where I was on Saturday the thresher came at 3 p.m. and in an hour was in full swing. However, a rain came on and all was stopped for the day. But on Sunday the thresher started and we continued to continue so they carried on even if it was on the Lord's Day. This was only one case that I saw that day, for other farmers had the same experience on the Sabbath.

I find the folk here are very friendly, and it is the same wherever you go, if you show a friendly spirit. You will meet and chat with others of the same type.

I think it costs plenty to live here in the matter of food stuff. Meat is especially high in price. You pay 30c to 45c for a pound of the cheapest cuts are 25c to 28c, per lb.

We are able to keep well informed about U.S. matters in general. We have the New York Herald and Tribune in our homes. For the night, the Star in the evening. The local paper is printed on Wednesday afternoon and reaches the home early Thursday a.m.

The editor of the Pine Plains Reporter is a very friendly man and has been in Canada on more than one occasion. He speaks very highly of our National Fair at Toronto and next door neighbor, Dr. D. may leave here next Monday for a month's vacation to the Manitowish-Iland for a fishing trip. He and a friend have a cottage in the woods and are anticipating a grand time. They have been going up there for some years.

Every person who wishes to fish in the lakes or rivers here must obtain a license. For that, the license is 5c, city, town or hamlet. I have been invited to go with a party, but I must pay a higher license than a U.S. citizen.

There is one feature in the business life I like very much and that applies to early closing of all stores. All business firms here close sharp at 6 p.m. except Saturday night, when 10.30 p.m. is the closing time. This is carried out in Milton, so the employees could have a little more leisure, and the business men here will be glad to do just as much business from 7.30 a.m. to 6 p.m. as from 8 a.m. to 10.30 p.m., as with the Milton stores.

The post office opens at 7.30 and the wicket closes at 5 p.m. sharp. Box holders can obtain mail until 6 p.m. when the wicket closes for the night. I think these hours would be acceptable to our worthy postmaster in Milton.

Although the presidential elections are two years away there is considerable discussion in the press, pro and con. Some papers are most bitter about Roosevelt and his New Deal and forecast his defeat if he makes an effort to run again for president.

At present we are having exceptionally fine weather, being cool yet bright and sunny. The last hot spell, when the temperature was around 94 to 96, was enough to drive thousands to lake resorts. In the first inning, the weather was so good that I may say the costumes of some of the ladies I see on the Main St., not alone on the beaches or near water, but right in the business district would be a man's flush. The women have gone to the limit of dress, or rather the need of dress. A pair of shorts and a hankie tied about the upper part of the person seems to be all that is necessary, and the backs, arms, shoulders of these members of the gentler sex are as brown as the sun can make them. You can see them all over the country playing tennis, badminton, etc., and it is possible they are gaining strength for the long winter by doing so, but to a Canadian the sight is spectacular.

We shall soon be leaving for home as we go with our hosts to Alexandria Bay for a visit of a few days, then we cross over to Canada at Kingston, and resume our journey home by bus to Toronto and Milton. We have had a splendid outing and when we return to our home in Milton we will have most pleasant memories of our month spent here with our relatives. ED. WILKINSON.

Most Late Model Autos Found With Defective Headlights

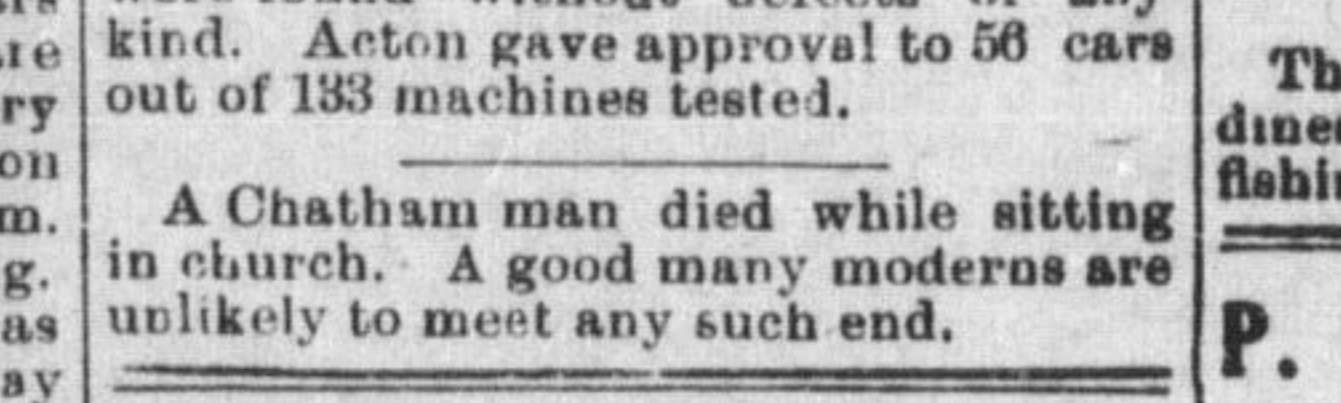

Georgetown, Aug. 14.—Eighty-five per cent of the late model automobiles, those dating from 1935 onwards, tested in Halton County safety lanes this week, had defective headlights, according to Fred Sinclair, of Georgetown, who announced the results of the tests.

This defect constituted one of the greatest hazards in motoring, he said. In Georgetown only sixteen cars out of 180 received O.K. stickers on the first test. During the week 687 cars were tested in the county. 319 receiving O.K. stickers. In Burlington 196 cars were tested and 100 were approved.

Forty cars were approved in Milton, out of 128 tested. Oakville had 100 cars pass through the lanes and 53 were found without defects of any kind. Acton gave approval to 56 cars out of 153 machines tested.

A Chatham man died while sitting in church. A good many moderns are unlikely to meet any such end.
