

The Canadian Champion

MILTON, DEC. 8, 1938.

Prominent at Winter Fair.

The winter fairs are over for another year. Those of 1938 were well up to the standard and, as usual, Halton livestock men and the fruit, vegetable and grain growers and also the junior farmers, brought many honors back to the county. At the Royal, the fruit exhibit of W. L. and Colin Smith was most attractive, as were their exhibits in the open classes. In the poultry wing, the exhibit from Fisher Orchards, under the personal direction of Murray Fisher, attracted much interest.

In this brief resume it would be impossible to list all the awards won by exhibitors from the county, but the following cross section will indicate the prominence of Halton exhibitors and also the diversification of Halton agriculture. The winning team in grand championship at any show is a grand achievement, but to win such an award at the Chicago International is one which is most gratifying to all Canadians, no matter in what province or county they may reside, and therefore the grand championship won by C. J. Bell's Command, owned and exhibited by Grant Campbell, of Moffat, is indeed worthy of special mention.

The Berkshire female championship at the Royal was won by a sow owned and exhibited by Rae Scott, of Acton. Other livestock winners at the Royal included Hugh Rodney, with Percherons; Valley Crest Farms, Palermo, with Clydesdales, saddle horses and Guernseys; Dr. Cecil Heslop with standard breeds; Geo. H. King, Oakville, with Guernseys; Mark Givens & Son, Limehouse, N. G. Lindsay, and Robt. Kerr & Son, of Acton, with Hackneys; W. O. and T. J. Brownridge, with Berkshires and Tamworths; and Oscar Lerch, Georgetown, with Yorkshires.

Many of these exhibitors were also prominent winners at the Provincial Winter fair, Guelph, and in addition we noted the well-known sheep flocks of F. C. Willmott & Son, and J. E. McKinnon, both of Milton.

The Agricultural Society class at Guelph brought out 15 entries, with Esquimaux society in second place and Acton society in 7th. Prominent amongst the winners in the seed division at both the Royal and Guelph were T. J. Brownridge, Jas. Cunningham, Bruce Brudenell, Wilson, all of Georgetown; J. H. McLean, Milton; John VanSickle, Palermo; Woodlands Orchards, Bronte; S. E. Griffen & Son, and Hugh Reid, of Acton. In the section open to members of Boys' Grain clubs, Wm. Bradley, Hornby; Bruce Reid, George and Allen Simpson, Campbellville, were 4th, 5th and 6th, respectively. In the early oat class, while in the George Fisher, Georgetown, was 4th; Ward Brownridge, Georgetown, 5th; Chas. Harber, Acton, 7th, and Smith Griffen, Acton, was 8th. In the inter-grain club judging competition, with 18 teams entered, the Acton team composed of Jack VanGozen and James McNabb was third, and the Georgetown team of Joe Milton and Robert Alexander was fifth.

At the Royal Winter fair the inter-county judging competition for the Jeffrey Hall Memorial trophy brought out 30 teams from as many different counties. Here the Halton team, led by Gerald Graham, Georgetown; Richard McLaughlin, Norval, and Walter Reid, Milton, placed twelfth, with the Royal team being fifth.

Parliament Opens Jan. 12th

The Canadian parliament will open with traditional ceremony next Jan. 12th or what many observers believe will be the final session before a general election.

In the opinion of many political experts, 1939 will be general election year and a heavy legislative program is expected to be forecast in the speech from the throne to be read by Governor General Lord Tweedsmuir at the opening.

If parliament's work is not completed by early in May, it will adjourn for the visit of the King and Queen, who arrive at Quebec May 15th and sail from Halifax about June 10th. It does not appear probable that parliament will be able to prorogue before their majesties come to the Dominion.

The report of the royal commission on Dominion-Provincial relations will be tabled in parliament about the middle of the session and Mr. Justice H. H. Davis' report on the Bren gun contract will likely be tabled in January, if it is not made public before parliament meets.

While the prime minister has made no recent comment concerning possibility of a general election next year, his government will have completed four years in office by next October.

Naming Walla Walla, Wash.
Walla Walla is the second oldest city in Washington, some fur traders having settled at Vancouver before Lewis & Clark first viewed the district. Dr. Marcus Whitman and his wife were pioneer missionaries who located about 6 miles from the present site of Walla Walla in 1836, and their daughter, Alice Clarissa Whitman, was the first American white child born west of the Rocky mountains. There is a saying that the early settlers "liked the place so well they named it twice" because Walla Walla is an Indian expression meaning "many waters."

CANADIAN CLUB

Last Friday evening the Canadian Club held "family night" in the Milton High School auditorium. The guest speaker was Count Nicholas Ignatieff, a native Russian, who is now teacher of history at Upper Canada College.

For a number of years the speaker has been associated with the School Extension Society of Canada and during the summer vacation period has been conducting groups of boys between the ages of 15 and 19 through eastern British Columbia about 600 miles north of the 49th degree. As an introduction to the address the Count showed many feet of film dealing with the plotlines of colonization in the Kapiuskung district.

The second part of the reel gave the audience an opportunity of accompanying a group of boys on a mountainous part of Canada, along untraveled paths, to marvel at the gorgeous scenery of British Columbia.

After the film the boys ascended steep mountain sides, appearing to enjoy the thrill of the trip, which was attended with many dangers. Occasionally the party would pitch camp and the boys engaged in the work of mapping and sketching.

It was a glorious adventure for the lads. Their trail ascended 6220 feet to the top of Mount Selwyn and after they descended they wrote reports of the Finlay River in a forest boat. Between pictures of the arduous tasks undertaken by the party the colored film showed pictures of the beautiful lakes that grow on high elevation and the unforgettable beauty of a hidden lake, which reflected the towering peak above during sunrise.

The speaker stated that although the idea of exploration was back of these trips the chief consideration was to awaken the youth of Canada to the great opportunities that are theirs and to teach them to stand on their own feet. To realize what this meant the speaker recalled that he had been in Russia of well-to-do parents and had witnessed the horrors of revolution.

After fleeing from the country with his parents, he fled in England and then came to Canada, where three years were spent on the frontiers. There he discovered that Canada had not grown to its possibilities and youth was not taking advantage of the opportunities.

He decided to try selecting groups of boys and leading them into unknown parts of Canada, he would be serving his adopted country. He could teach the boys to be hardy, to create in them a desire to see more of their great country and above all instill into their minds the truth that what makes life today is a handicap.

The speaker expressed the opinion that boys should be given something difficult to do. He had sympathy for boys who were fed from a silver spoon by their parents. His advice to our youth was self-dependency through self-achievement. Comparing the possibilities of Canada with those of European countries, the speaker felt that not being Canadian born he was afforded a keener power of observation. He compared the peaceful life here with the turbulent conditions in Europe. Having seen the terrible conditions of the Russian revolution he had no hesitation in saying that what he had been in Russia is excelled by the present day brutality and ruthlessness in Spain, China and other European countries. In Russia he saw law, order and justice broken down and this is evidenced today in Europe by the ruthless force that is running through the land.

"Great Britain has not yet realized that the sustaining of civilization rests on her shoulders," said the speaker. He had seen evidence of the present ruthless spirit in Great Britain, which he had assigned to the fact that country having a long experience with freedom and democracy. Count Ignatieff expressed confidence that war can be avoided if the people will uphold law, order and human decency. By training boys the speaker hopes to inspire and awaken in them a true conception of their responsibilities to Canada and a realization of their great heritage.

Miss Marjorie Dawson favored the meeting with a solo and Mrs. Gordon MacKenzie, her accompanist. His Honor Judge Munro conveyed the thanks of the audience to the guest speaker.
