Rounding a curve they saw an immense evergreen directly overhead and toppling in their direction. "We saw it crashing down, and all we could do was step on the gas, and hope," the men related. "The tree crashed across the truck, just behind the cab, and pinned the truck in a vise."
They told police that had there been a load on the truck at the time, the vehicle would have been "broken in two." The two were badly shaken up. McCaulley also suffered an arm injury, as a result of the terrific impact. The truck was badly smashed. Walter Colvert, of Brampton, was in charge of a gang of wood-cutters at work in the lane way.
