Halton County Music Festival

Halton County Music Festival was held in Milton at the Knox church last Thursday and Friday. The census of opinion as to its success was very apparent. At each session the church was filled to capacity and an appreciative audience encouraged the talented young contestants with unstinted applause.

Adjudicators for the two-day festival were Mrs. Vera Russell, Toronto, and Mr. Harvey Perrin, B.A., Paed., also of Toronto. Mrs. Russell, although not the adjudicator of High School entries, paid great tribute to their work, the high standard of which she attributed to good ground work in the public schools. Or in Mrs. Russell's own words: "The High Schools could not do what they are doing if the public schools were not doing what they are doing". Mrs. Russell urged a continuance of interest for music in the schools, because as she put it—"if music were ever needed, we need it now." Mrs. Russell praised the untiring efforts of the teachers and music instructors in the various schools in the excellent work they were doing; also members of the Festival Board for the precision with which the Festival was run.

Mr. Harvey Perrin, adjudicating for the high school entries, was also very generous in his praise of the high standard of efficiency evident throughout the Festival and of the organizing ability behind it. "I have never seen a better run festival," said Mr. Perrin, "and I don't think I have ever seen one as well run. It has been magnificent." Mr. Perrin declared the entrants in several classes had been so uniformly good that judging had been very difficult. Choruses in every instance gave particularly pleasing rendition of part songs. When asked to say a few words regarding posture for boy-soloists, Mr. Perrin said he was in favor of boys standing in what was to them the easiest and most natural position, that is with their hands behind their back. It may not be technically correct," said Mr. Perrin, "but still I recommend it because it is so important for a boy if he is to do his best, to be at ease."

A new feature of the festival was the several non-competitive entries, including a closing number by the Georgetown High School orchestra, followed by the national anthem in a special setting and sung by the Georgetown High School choir.

In place of the customary medals in solo classes, prize-winning entrants were given war saving stamps as follows: First, 4 stamps; second, 3 stamps; third, 2 stamps.

Friday afternoon, at the request of Mrs. Russell, the audience and contestants sang in unison, "O Canada", as a tribute to those who had taken part in the Festival in previous years and were now serving with His Majesty's forces at home and abroad.

The April meeting of the W.M.S. of St. David's Church met at the home Mrs. George Inglis, with the president in the chair. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. R. Menzies, and a very fine paper on the Church in Action was given by Mrs. J. Howard, also a very informative talk on the Ukranians in this Country by Mrs. Alex Moore. It was announced that the W.M.S. rally of the Guelph Presbyterial will be held in St. David's Church on May 20. The meeting then closed by singing the National Anthem and all joined in repeating in unison the Mizpah benediction. After which tea was enjoyed by all.

Tea Consumption in U. S.

America is fast becoming a nation of tea-drinkers to vie with Great Britain, according to latest figures of the U. S. department of agriculture. During the last year, more than 100,000,000 pounds of tea were imported into the United States—a 14,000,000-pound increase over the previous year.

Dogs Cause Trouble Throughout Ontario

The local press throughout Ontario is now devoting much attention to community beautification. Coincidentally, there are numerous references to discouraging elements at work. This situation was alluded to in the "Neighborly News" radio broadcast by Andy Clarke on Sunday. An item from the Gazette was referred to.

"Scanning the weekly newspapers," said the commentator, "we find some stern comment on the impulse to vandalism in the rising generation; also considerable local animosity has been aroused through property destruction by dogs that are uncontrolled, as a consequence of which, restrictive laws are being more widely promulgated and enforced. It seems a pity that two of the most lovable classifications in the Animal Kingdom—children and dogs—should thus have been allowed to get out of hand in some communities, and perhaps the censure really belongs to those who might have exercised control.

"I have probably 40 clippings, gathered within the past weeks, on dogs. I will cite only a few to show the way the wind blows. The Markdale Standard records that Grey County Council paid $4,500 for sheep killed by dogs in 1940. The Picton Times quotes Dr. Christie, President of the Ontario Agricultural College, as saying 10,000 lambs would be required to replace sheep killed in Ontario last year. Few counties escaped paying compensation. Sheep are not the only victims. Severe poultry losses are reported from time to time, a very recent example being a bill of $14 against the Village of Usborne for geese killed, according to the Exeter Times. A number of townships have stiffened their local by-law. Melancthon is considering the policy of Dymond Township, Temiskaming District, whose by-law reads: "Every dog which is found off the premises upon which it habitually is kept, with or without a tag and not under the control of any person may be killed." The township also distributes posters offering a reward of one dollar for every dog shot and buried.

"Towns and villages, of course, aren't worried about sheep killing but there are gardens and garbage pails. The Arnprior Chronicle, Burlington Gazette and Tavistock Gazette announce new restrictions imposed by town fathers. In Burlington one complaint declared stray dogs had done $70 damage to his property. The dog-catcher did away with nine in one night after council clamped down. There might not have been any issue in Wiarton, and, perhaps there is no serious agitation there, but there is one less dog since one took a bite at the Assessor's heel. In that case, the Echo reports, the official was laid up for some days with an infected foot. Amherstburg appointed a new dog-catcher and of 37 rounded up; only three were claimed by owners, and now the Echo believes the historic town may bloom to blush for tourists. The Tilbury Times promises to "hound" the authorities there until the situation is eased. It says it is doubtful if any town has more curs without tags than Tilbury, and some the size of ponies are galloping around. The Huron Expositor of Seaforth wants deer chasing dogs shot, and the Durham Chronicle tells of two such having been shot It is believed they are two of the five that chased a pair of deer into the Hahn Hotel at Durham recently.

"I have seen references in a number of papers lately to unruly children—in some instances, court proceedings. At least a half dozen municipalities have invoked curfew laws, but I shall not detail them. A word or two will serve to illustrate a situation from a Gananoque Reporter editorial which, unfortunately, is not an isolated one: "So disgusted and ashamed was a representative of The Reporter at a meeting the other evening, that, had there been the proverbial hole in the floor, there would have been no reporter. It is the duty of parents, or if the parents have no authority, it is the duty of the police to see that the children of the town are taught to respect the rights of others concerning the enjoyment of public meetings." Now one more quotation from the Peel Gazette of Brampton: "A good neighborhod is one where the families are well regulated. A location where many children are lawless and making trouble for the neighbours need not expect that it will be rated 100 per cent."

Truck Driver Burned to Death

Joseph Stumpf, a transport driver from Kitchener, was burned to death around 6.30 on Monday morning, when his truck ran off the Queen Elizabeth highway, near Aldershot, turned over, and caught fire. The gasoline tank burst open, and the fuel caught fire. The driver was pinned in the cab, and rescuers were unable to release the man, and his body was burned to a crisp. The Burlington fire brigade were called to the scene, and extinguished the flames, so that the body could be recovered. The remains were removed to Southall's funeral home, and later taken to Kitchener. Provincial officers A. R. Smith and Wm. Coles, of Burlington, and Coroner Dr. Hopper, of Waterdown, investigated the accident. The fire which destroyed the truck burned some telephone cables, and rural lines were without service until the damage was repaired.

FARMERS SHOULD PLAN TO HELP EACH OTHER

There is an old saying that "the Lord helps those who help themselves," and it would be equally true to say that "the Lord helps those who help each other." Many Ontario farmers will literally have to help each other this year if they cannot get sufficient help for their own individual farms.

There will be, from all accounts, a number of "one-man" farms this year with a consequent reduction in crop acres as a result of the farm help situation unless farmers co-operate in the old-fashioned neighborly manner of changing "works" with each other. It will be recalled that during severe farm labour shortages in the last war neighbors worked back and forth helping each other with seeding and harvest operations.

A return to this method of operation will mean that farmers will be able to plant and harvest more crop acres and feed more hogs and cattle than they would by attempting to run the farm alone.

Breeders To Stage County Cattle Show At Milton

Halton Jersey Breeders and also the Halton Holstein Breeders will both hold their annual cattle shows in conjunction with the Halton Agricultural Society at Milton the last Saturday in September. This will be the third year the Halton Holstein Breeders have held their County Show at Milton where it was the highlight of two excellent shows in 1939 and 1940. The Jersey Breeders held their initial show at Acton a year ago when 60 head of Halton Jerseys were on parade.

Announcement is also made by Secretary V. J. Lawrence of the Holstein Breeders that their annual field day and picnic will be held at Edgewood Park, Eden Mills, on Saturday, May 31st.

Arrested in Brockville

J. Noonan, who it is alleged solicited advertisements for a hotel register, and skipped his board bill about three weeks ago, was arrested in Brockville on Monday. Chief Smith, who is a great believer in printer's ink, issued circulars giving full particulars of the racket, and mailed them to the police in various parts of Ontario. His efforts were rewarded, and on Tuesday the Chief went to Brockville, and brought his man back to Burlington. It is alleged that Noonan sold advertising space to several local bsuiness men. He was lodged in Milton jail, and will receive a hearing before Magistrate Woodliffe.

HOME TOWN LOYALTY

It is a general rule of daily life that if you get favors from anyone, you are under obligation to return such favors. If somebody keeps entertaining you, and you make no returns by entertaining him, you can't expect the intimacy to continue indefinitely.

In home town life our people are constantly getting favors from their home stores. The home business places go the limit to please the home town folks, often subjecting themselves to serious inconvenience to meet their every demand. The home stores back up the institutions of the town and pay a big share of the taxes. It seems up to the people to return all these favors, by giving them their patronage when it comes to buying goods.

"UNCOMMON" INFORMER

The average Canadian is inclined to regard the informer or "stool pigeon" as ranking among the lower classes of humanity, but few, if any, voices will be raised in denunciation of the informer who aids in apprehension of the hit-and-run driver. Two Ontario women were recently presented with $25 reward for the part they played in bringing about the arrest of a motorist who left the scene of an accident. As Attorney-General Conant said, some laws exist in enforcement of which the public is unwilling to take part. But there should be no hesitation in helping to bring the hit-and-run driver to justice. The hit-and-run driver should be regarded as a dangerous and heartless criminal.—Lachute Watchman.

High Flying on Ground

Technicians of the Civil Aeronautics authority have worked out several new ways of testing a pilot's reaction to the thin air of high altitudes without having the airman leave the ground. Their devices are being tested at the authority's medical science center at Kansas City, and it is predicted that they will greatly speed up the country's progress in aviation.

By a gradual cutting down of the amount of oxygen, a pilot or student aviator sitting safely in the laboratory goes through exactly the same reactions that he would if he were handling an air liner or a military plane several thousand feet above the ground. Every reduction in the volume of oxygen is the equivalent of a corresponding rise heavenward.

BONFIRES

Through the suburban and country towns the curling smoke of the bonfire rises, and countless householders are getting rid of winter refuse. The neighbor may complain if the smoke blows over on her clothesline, but the town looks cleaner after the bonfires have done their purifying work. If it were not for these flames, vast quantities of ugly stuff would linger on our places.

Do you notice how the kids will gather around a heap of burning refuse? It seems to suggest to them the carefree life of the Indians, and makes them feel free from the restraints of home. Only they had better look out how they get close to those flames. The little girls often wear flimsy clothes that would be food for the cruel tongues of fire.

PLEASE KEEP OFF!

Yes, this is rather an abrupt remark and a little imperative. However, at this time of the year it is quite necessary to heed the admonition "Keep off the grass." Warm weather is here, lawns are being planted, shrubs and plants are being carefully tended, and it is annoying when delivery boys, canvassers and others walk across lawns and gardens to save a few minutes. They walk through flower beds and hedges quite deliberately when making deliveries or canvassing. It seems a small matter to take such a short cut yet it means everything to the citizen who is trying to beautify his home and grounds.

FISHERMEN AND FARMERS

In the so-called good old days, fishermen could go almost anywhere. They wandered along the trout brooks and lake sides as free as the birds.

They are not always so popular now among the country dwellers. Too many of them couldn't take time to put up the farmer's fence which they knocked down. Or they were perhaps so eager to get home that they left their camp fire burning, with the result that a forest tract went up in smoke. So if many owners have erected "No tresspass signs", they should not be considered to have violated any principle in the etiquet book or golden rule.
