NATION-WIDE DAYLIGHT SAVING

(Gananque Reporter)

The report is current that a bill to provide for nation-wide Daylight Saving will shortly be introduced by the Government at Ottawa as a necessary war measure. The purpose of the bill is to conserve electric power for war production.

Certainly nation-wide adoption of Daylight Saving is a necessary war measure. It would automatically remove the major objection to the measure as far as railwaymen and farmers are concerned says the Carleton Place Canadian. Railway workers would be in no different position from other workers, and everybody would have the opportunity of enjoying an extra hour of daylight. When the measure is made universal all across the country much of the objection to the measure would soon be forgotten. There really can be no valid objection to Daylight Saving on a national basis, particularly as it can be shown that it will assist our national war effort, and all of us want to have a part in that.

MEN'S SEVEN GREAT MISTAKES

Man's imperfections lead him to make many mistakes in life, and the pointing out of these realities has engaged the attention of philosophers and reformers in all ages. A writer recently enumerated what he considered the seven great mistakes of man. Here they are:

1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others down.
2. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves cannot accomplish it.
3. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected.
4. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences in order that important things may be accomplished.
5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind by not acquiring the habit of reading.
6. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and live as we do.
7. The failure to establish the habit of saving money.

FORMER HOME SUPERINTENDENT

Richard H. Partridge, Native of Mono, Ontario, died at Toronto on Monday.

Richard Henry Partridge, former well-known resident of this town, died at his home, 33 Christie Street, Toronto, on Monday, after a short illness. He was born in his 67th year.

Mr. Partridge was for ten years superintendent of the Peel-Halton House of Refuge, being appointed in 1918. He was born in Mono township, son of Henry Partridge and Mary Ann Allen Partridge. Mr. Partridge came to Brampton over forty years ago and was employed with Dr. Quinn. Later he was engaged with the William Shoe Company. Since moving to Toronto thirteen years ago he conducted a tobacco store on Christie Street.

He was twice married and is survived by his widow, (Ellen Mullis McMurtry), one son, Howard and one daughter, Eva, both of Toronto. Mr. Partridge was the third eldest of a family of seven and also surviving are one brother, Joseph, Brampton, and one sister, Mrs. A. E. Dyson, Toronto. He was a Presbyterian in religion, a Conservative in politics, and a member of the Masonic lodge.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon with interment in Brampton cemetery.—Peel Gazette, Brampton.

WHAT ARE THE PROPER WORDS?

The chaplain of Christie Street Hospital, speaking in Orillia recently, commented on the lack of spirit when singing "O Canada" and the Owen Sound Sun-Times made some timely comment, maintaining that there are too many words written for this, our Canadian anthem. We agree, and have often noticed at public meetings when "O Canada" is sung that most people are not sure of the words and are listening for the cue from their neighbor or the song leader. We have also felt ashamed that we were not sure of the words and many times have decided to find out the right ones and memorize them. But here is the way the Owen Sound editor sizes it up.

"We cannot see why the people of Orillia and vicinity should be too severely criticized for not knowing 'O Canada.' How could an audience of several thousand make the welkin ring with a song of which they do not know the words? We have too many versions of that song—either four or five, we are not sure which, at the latest returns. What is one to do when he tunes up on the version he has learned, if he hears the people alongside and in front of and behind him singing two or three different sets? He'll just naturally quit; and most of those in the vicinity will do the same until what should be a full-voiced chorus dwindles into a murmur. If Canada is ever to sing 'O Canada' and make it sound like anything they must have one authorized version, one that will mean something, not one of those written by persons who do not seem to have caught the idea of a national song. Until we can reach unanimity on our Canadian hymn, 'O Canada' is bound to be a 'flap' whenever it is sung—or attempted to be sung.—Listowel Banner.

TOWNS AS TRADE CENTERS

Towns grow when they become trade centres to a greater extent. If a town draws in a large group of customers from the outlying communities, the stores become more prosperous, and are able to employ more people. Such business is able to pay more in taxes, and support home town enterprises more generously.

This enlargement of a town's trade comes in two ways: First, by persuading people to buy their merchandise at home instead of purchasing it elsewhere. Second, by efforts to draw in more trade from outlying towns. Trade from such towns is attracted primarily by advertising, and secondly by cultivating personal acquaintance with the outlying people. Efforts by the store people to remember the names of their wants and ideas, are very helpful.

New British Process

Trebles Feeding Value

One million tons of straw can be given the feeding value of 500,000 tons of cereals by a new pulping process which is the latest contribution of agricultural science to Britain's food-growing campaign.

At a cost of only £30, a plant can be built by farm labour which, by soaking straw in caustic soda, will produce 1,400 lb. of straw pulp each day, enough to provide a daily ration for 30 fattening beasts, or twice as many young animals. Already installed on 250 farms in the United Kingdom, the plant consists of a ramp and occupying 12 ft. by 12 ft. of ground.

Livestock can normally utilize only from one-half to one-third of the nourishment in straw, chaff or cavings, but pulping makes these materials palatable and trebles their feeding value. Thus each ton of straw yields 3½ tons of straw pulp, and 100 lbs. of straw pulp, whether from wheat, barley or oat straw, has the feeding value of 3 lb. starch, 11 lb. maize, 12½ lb. barley or rice meal, 15 lb. oats, 15 lb. dried sugar-beet pulp, 120 lb. mangolds or 130 lb. swedes.

Such a suitable food such as groundnut cake, it is relished by fattening or growing cattle, dairy cows or lambing ewes.

The pulping can easily be fitted into the farm routine, one ton of straw requiring only 10 man-hours' labour, 150 lb. of caustic soda and 6,000 gals. of water.

ELORA MAN SENTENCED FOR DRUNK DRIVING

David Maitland, Elora, was sentenced to fifteen days in the county jail, when he appeared before Magistrate P. Watt, K.C., in Guelph police court Monday, and was found guilty of drunk driving. His car was ordered impounded for three months.

Farmers in Halton and Peel counties are beginning to feel that there is little use planting fall wheat unless moisture conditions are greatly improved in a short time, according to the weekly crop report issued by the Department of Agriculture. Many farmers are conducting post-harvest cultivation of the soil preparing the ground for the fall crop. Pastures in both counties are dry and winter feeding is already prevalent.

There are places in which the Main street is the dividing line between two municipalities. Suppose one of these municipalities was under Daylight Saving and the other Standard Time. They are both required to cease selling gasoline at seven o'clock. But seven o'clock is an hour later on one street than on the other.

If a motorist failed to replenish his tank in the Daylight Saving town, could he cross over to the Standard Time town and purchase his requirements?—Brampton Conservator.

SHE KILLED IT—BUT

The record for sheer pluck goes to a woman resident of Summerside, whose special pluck is a hen or two chickens. The other morning at 3 o'clock she heard distress calls coming from her chicken coop and immediately rushed to their aid, clad only in her nightgown. Enraged when she saw two of her beautiful chickens lying dead outside the pen, she cast discretion to the winds when her eyes beheld the tail of Mr. Skunk disappearing under the post for a third victim, and grasped the offender by the tail, battering his head against a nearby fence until life was extinct. Although the enemy's forward section was out of action by the first salvo, he was game to the last, and the guns in the rear turret were still firing as he went under. It is said the victor did not tarry at the scene of the encounter, but departed in haste, leaving her 'nightie' hanging on a stake, and spent the next half hour immersed in a bath tub of water.

Why Sliced Bread Cannot Be Sold

The order which ended the sale of sliced bread in Canada on August 11 applied to bread in any form including bread rolls and any other rolls made from unweetened dough, according to a statement issued by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Cessation of the sale of sliced bread was ordered as a means of conserving labor and electric power and of avoiding the additional cost of double wrappings of sliced loaves. The purchase of slicing machinery is not only a factor in determining the retail price of bread but, as a considerable portion of this slicing equipment is manufactured in the United States, replacement would mean the expenditure of foreign exchange now needed for the purchase of munitions of war.

Courses at Guelph

Dr. G. I. Christie, President of the Ontario Agricultural College, has made an announcement to the effect that Courses in Agriculture at the College at Guelph will be carried on in the regular way. The College Calendar for 1941-42 has been published, and copies are available at the Agricultural office, Milton.

Dr. Christie states that it is indicated that there is altogether likely that there will be a large percentage of Seniors, Juniors, and Second Year students and applications for Freshman Class are now coming in. To these younger students not old enough to be in a position to enlist, a very encouragement is being given to enroll in the College. This contact will mean much to them later on. If another year they should enlist or be called away for service, the training will be of some advantage. Again when war is over and they return they will find that the College connection will mean much to them. It will be easy for them to come back into the work and finish their courses.

Cattle, Hogs and Butter all Bring Prices

Cattle, hogs and butter all bring prices which are more hopeful for the men on the land, and they will demand even more profitable prices in the near future, if the war continues.

Allow Gasoline Sale In Cans For Homes

Gasoline may be sold in cans or other containers, providing it is for use in lamps, stoves, washing machines, or for domestic purposes. Oil Controller G. R. Cottrell stated in a wire to a Midland washing machine company. The agency asked for a ruling, and reported to the Oil Controller that gasoline station operators had refused to sell gasoline in containers under any condition, and domestic consumers were suffering. "Prohibition applies only to gasoline for use in private passenger vehicles," stated the wire.

NEW-BORN COLT MINUS ONE LEG FRISKY ANYWAY

William McManus of Goderich, has a racing mare that gave birth to a baby colt that will never go to the post. The colt has only three legs.

So far the colt doesn't appear to miss the leg that it never had. Five hours after it was born it was up and started to walk around. Later it began to run and play like any frisking colt.

It's the right front leg that's missing and there is not even a stump.

There will be no issue of The Grand Valley Star and Vidette for two weeks, Sept. 4th and 11th.

Community Fair At Kilbride

(Burlington Gazette)

About fifteen hundred people attended the annual Labour day community fair held on Monday. The huge affair was sponsored by the Kilbride Community club to which are affiliated with the Burlington Red Cross, the Nelson Civil Guard and the Nelson Federation of Agriculture, and the proceeds are to be given to the Red Cross.

Featuring the day was the period in which W. E. Haskins, the newly appointed national secretary of the Federation of Agriculture, was introduced by Paul Fisher, of Burlington. In outlining the purposes of the federation, Mr. Haskins said it was to take the farmers' differences to the higher-ups and have them amicably ironed out. He told the gathering it only cost the members five cents a year to maintain the Ottawa office.

"What the farmer wants is a greater spending power and the only way to obtain this is to raise farm prices 50 per cent," he suggested. It would mean only an extra five dollars a month to the consumer and it would mean a lot more to the farmer.

A softball tournament was the main interest during the afternoon. Virtues, of Burlington, defeated Milton Owls 11-8 in a heavy hitting match. The local Kilbride nine took the lead in the last half of a seven-inning affair to nose out Dufts, of Hamilton, 13-12. The winners then clashed with Virtues being the champions for the day, handing Kilbride a 7-4 drubbing.

A midway of games was going full swing all day, with vaudeville entertainment during the evening. The entire fair was under the general chairmanship of M. M. Robinson, Burlington, who advised the annual Labour Day celebration was usually in aid of the Kilbride community hall, but this year all proceeds were going towards war work.

The following lucky number tickets have not been claimed: First, 223, and second, 51. Holders of these tickets are asked to get in touch with Frank Milne, of the Milne Coal and Supply Co., Burlington, and receive their prizes.

Normal Entrance Decrease From Nine To Eight Subjects

Of paramount importance to pupils wishing to attend Normal School is the announcement of the Department of Education concerning the admission requirements.

The Minister will accept for admission to Normal School in September, 1941, the application of a candidate, otherwise qualified, who has standing in any eight Upper School papers. Forms of application for admission to Normal School may be obtained, on request, from the Deputy Minister of Education, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Previous to this announcement, nine upper school papers were required with the stipulation that three of these must be English Composition, English Literature, and Modern History. According to this announcement, any eight papers will be accepted. This may mean that a student who has eight upper school subjects, not necessarily having standing in English Literature, English Composition or Modern History, may attend Normal School.

It is believed that the reduction of subjects from nine to eight has been caused by wartime conditions. Lowering of requirements will permit many attending this fall who under the old list of requirements would have had to spend an additional year studying to secure the subject necessary. Whether or not this is a fore-runner of the return to the Normal School entrance of eight middle school papers only time alone will tell.

Corned Beef Cargo's Atlantic Adventure

Two lots of tins of corned beef have just finished a trip across the Atlantic. The benefits of this modern meat canner and the housewives of Britain.

Canned meat sometimes goes black where it touches the tin. It need go black no more; blackening may now be stopped by a simple process perfected by British scientists in the laboratories of the Tin Research Institute in Middlesex.

The cans, or the tinplates from which they are to be made, are dipped for a few moments in a boiling solution which is both alkaline and oxidizing. The result leaves an invisible film of oxide which has now been proved to be even better than the older and more costly method of lacquering.

Two batches of corned beef have just arrived in England from South America. The tins of one batch had been oxidized by the new process; the others were untreated.

Both batches were filled fifteen months ago and when all of them were opened on their arrival in England the untreated tinplate had developed black stains. The other was still silvery and bright.

New Savings Stamp Goes On Sale Sept. 8

A new issue of war savings stamps, designed particularly to appeal to school children, will go on sale on September 8.

The stamps, called the "V for Victory" series in the post office bulletin, will be issued in a series of eight different designs depicting Canada's armed forces in the air, on land and on the sea.

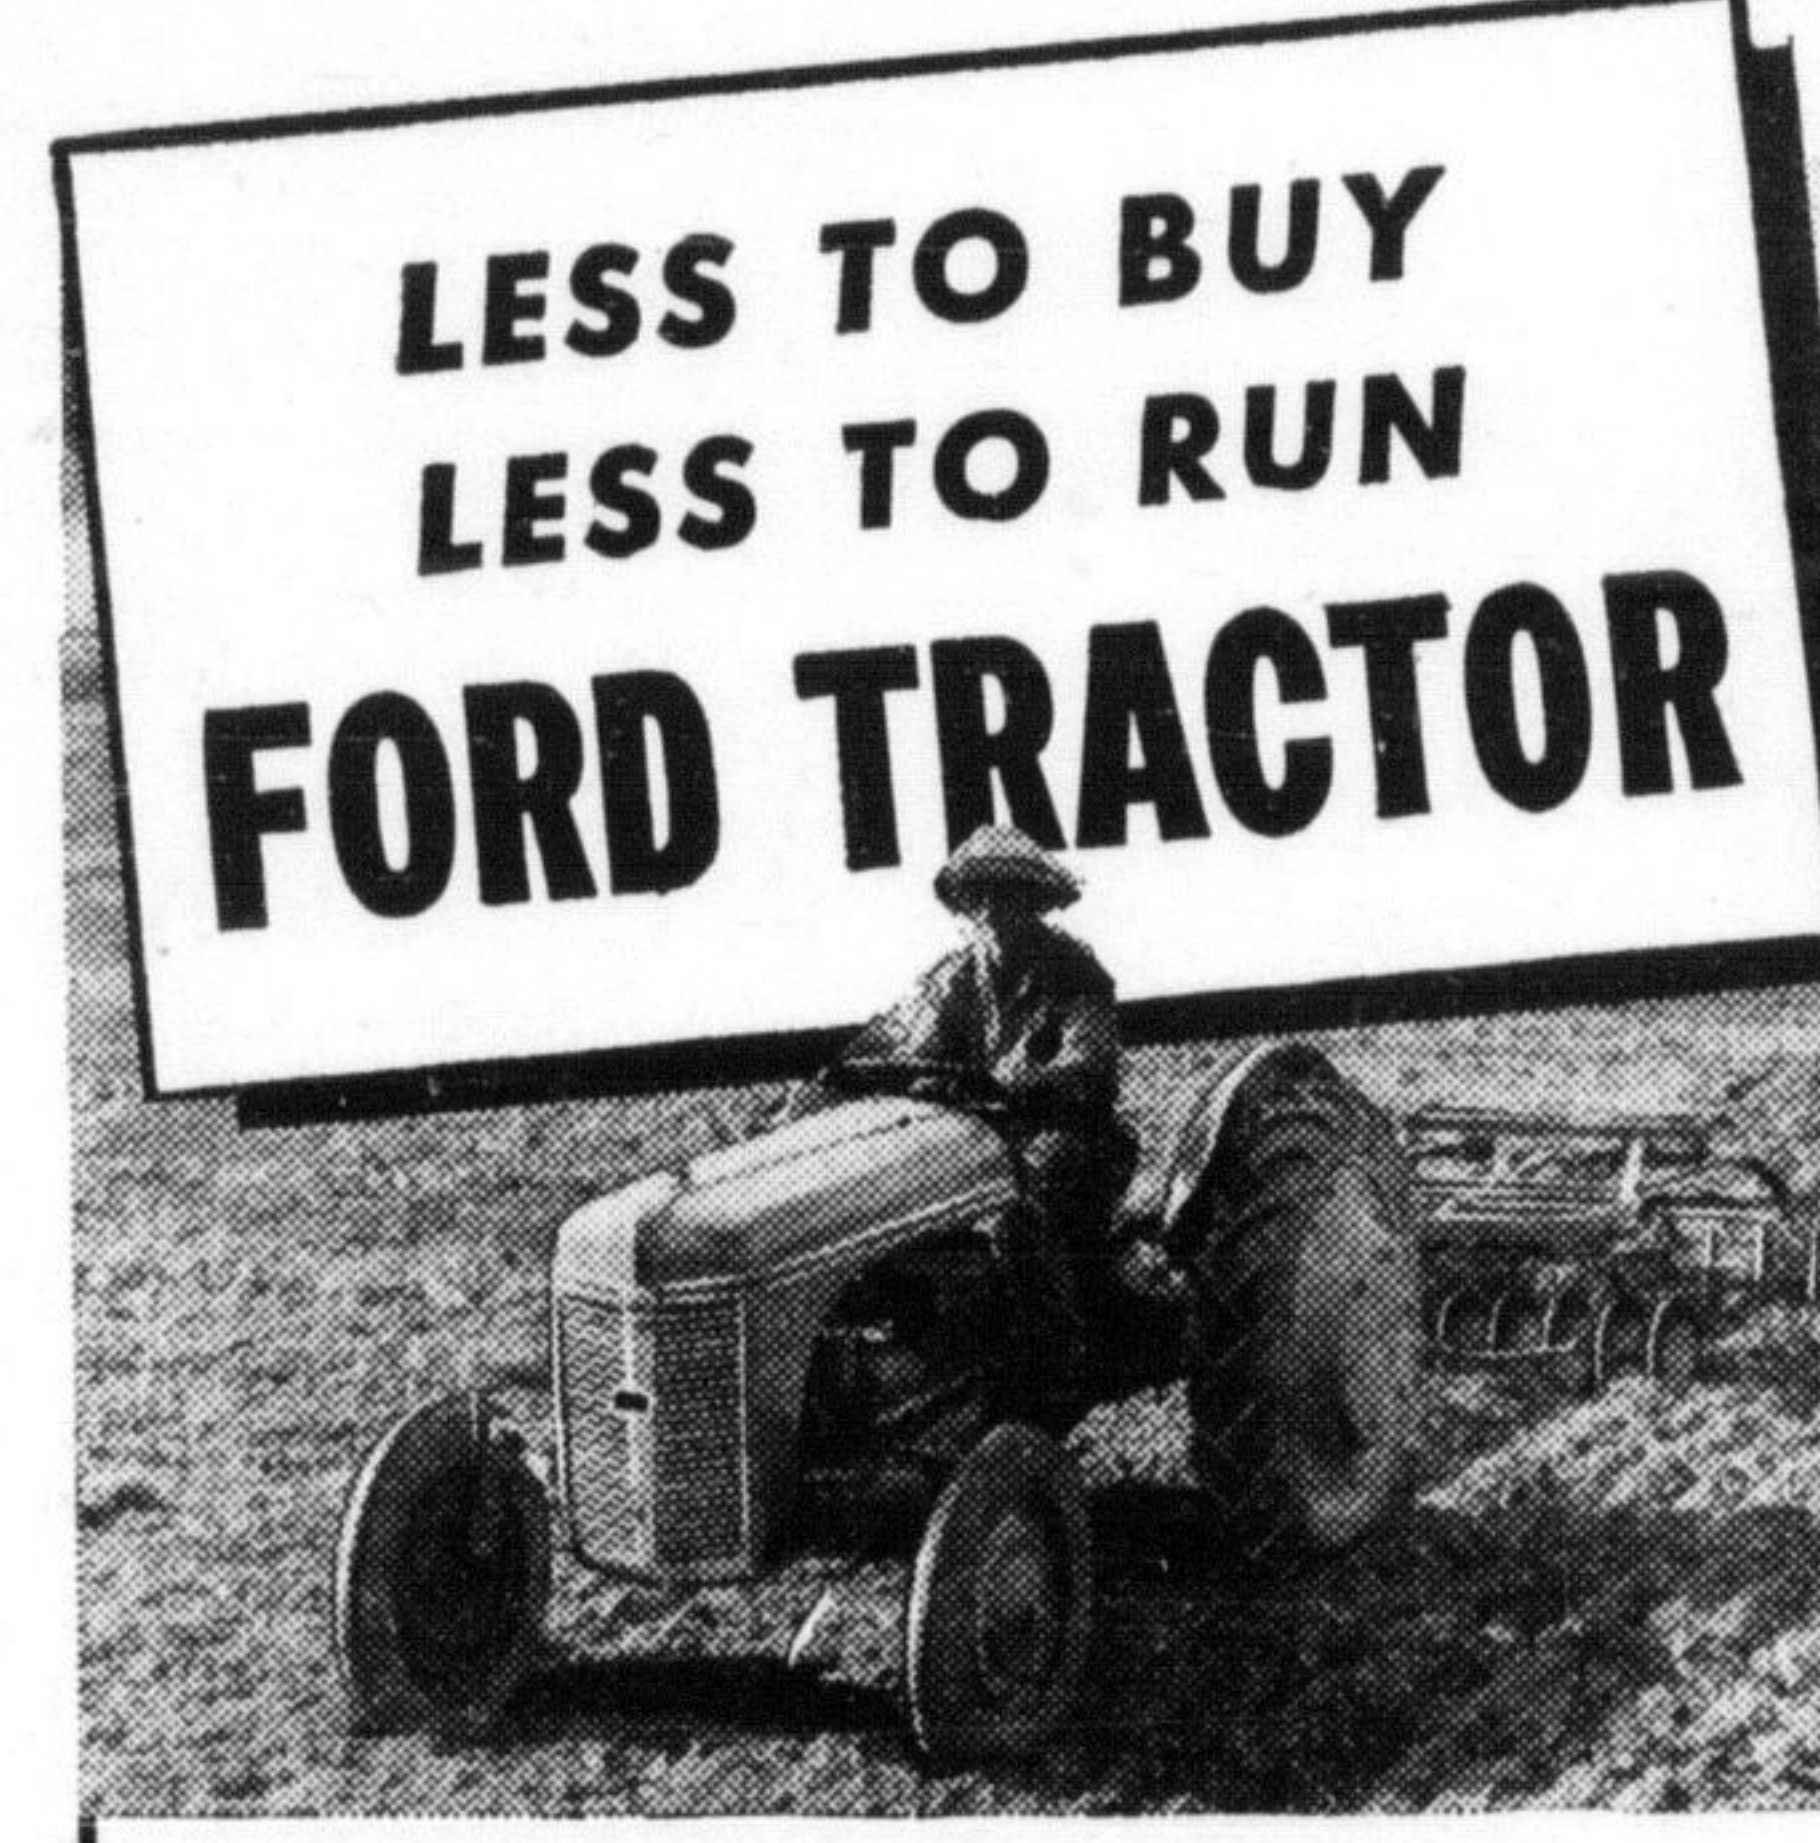

The stamps are contained in books which have a total value of $10. Every book contains five pages of savings stamps each of different designs. Depicted in the series are aviators, soldiers, tanks, gunners, destroyers, anti-aircraft guns, nurses and Wellington bombers.

War savings stamps of the old design will still be available for those who do not particularly prefer the new issue.

"SLOW DOWN AT SUNDOWN" (Chatham News)

This is a new motto suggested to motorists in an effort to reduce the alarming toll of highway accidents. Analysts have discovered that the daily peak hours for accidents is between 6.30 p.m. and 8 p.m. and that fatalities again take a sharp jump at midnight when parties break up. The cause of these accidents is given as "decreased visibility, fatigue, more drunken driving and walking, and irresponsible pedestrians." Thus the new slogan "Slow Down at Sundown" if allowed to influence the motorists who drive in the evening and at night, could have a splendid effect in reducing the danger on the highways, and might be the means of saving many a life.

• The Ford Tractor is built a new way to reduce farming costs. Every ounce of the Ford Tractor is utilized as "muscle"—not ballast. Canadian farmers from coast to coast have written praising the amount of work this modern tractor enables them to do. It's an all-purpose tractor for Canadian farming—built with an eye on wartime economy.

Drop in next time you are in town. We'll arrange a practical demonstration of the Ford Tractor on your own farm and your own work.
