Miss Hilda Hadden has changed her place of residence from Milton to Oshawa.

September gave some glorious weather this year and was kindly to the fuel problem.

Mrs. Will Cole, of Milton, was a week-end visitor with friends in town. —Georgetown Herald.

A question that will bear repetition: "Have you renewed your CHAMPION subscription yet?"

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Bell, of Nelson, spent the week-end at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Babcock.

Mrs. Geo. McMillan, of Milton, spent last week-end with Dagald and Miss McGregor.—Streetsville Review

Miss Mabel Campbell, of Milton, visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilson this week.—Georgetown Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Featherston and son Emerson, and Miss Olive Richardson, of Toronto, were visitor at Milton Fair.

Advertising is the power which drives and the lubricant which oils the machinery of business. It moves the world.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Simpson, Pearl St., Milton, and Mrs. Tost. Georgetown, visited friends in Oshawa over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McGill, Erin-dale, attended Milton Fair and spent week-end at home of Miss Millie and Henry Peacock.

The only thing we've seen going down is the elevator, but the hang thing, like prizes turned around and came right up again.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harkies and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harkies, Erin-dale, attended the Fair and called on Miss Millie and Henry Peacock.

They do tell that the folks in Germany are wearing underwear from wool pulp. It can only stand washing some half dozen times.

The Evening Auxiliary of St. Paul's United Church were entertained by the Dublin Street World Friendship Club in Guelph on Wednesday evening of last week. Mrs. W. E. Robertson, of Milton, was the speaker and interested everyone as she told of her work as a missionary in Honan, China. She showed slides and pictures Dr. Robertson had taken while practicing in China, and various curios were displayed. Mrs. George Brown also gave a devotional talk and several of the members of the auxiliary gave several musical numbers.

OBITUARY.

JOSEPH HENRY MCCOLLOM
Private funeral services for Joseph Henry McCollom, 89, who died at a Portland hospital, will be held Saturday at 4 p.m. in Riverview cemetery chapel, with Rev. Percy Hopper officiating. Mr. McCollom, who resided at 3082 N.E. Regents drive, was born October 11, 1852, in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, and lived in Portland for 31 years. He was married to Elizabeth Wallace in 1879, and she passed away in 1934. Mr. McCollom was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. Surviving relatives include four children, Mrs. C. Rungt, Mrs. A. M. Chrystall, Dr. J. W. McCollom, all of Portland, and Mrs. R. Cooke, Estacada, and 12 grandchildren. Interment will be made in Riverview cemetery.—Portland Oregonian, Sept. 27, 1941.

NOTE—Mr. McCollom located in Milton in 1876, where he owned and operated a drug store for more than 20 years. He and his family lived on Victoria Avenue in the house now occupied by Dr. McColl's widow and daughter, Miss Enid. When they left Milton, the McCollom family moved to Portland, Oregon, where they have since resided.

A Message From The Prime Minister

The following message, received from the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, Mr. Churchill, is addressed to every worker for and every contributor to the Canadian Red Cross:

"The Canadian Red Cross Society has won the gratitude of many thousands of people in Great Britain for the energy and devotion with which it worked on their behalf. The quality of clothing sent from Canada has been universally admired; its quality has been so remarkable. Civil defence workers and the fire fighting service have shared with innumerable air raid victims the greatest supply of clothing, blankets, food and medical equipment that have reached these shores. In their name I thank all those who have contributed with such tireless generosity to this humane work."

Extract Power From Sky

With New Wind-Turbine

The greatest windmill ever conceived and erected by man—a spectacular new scientific marvel—is now being rushed to completion on the summit of Grandpa's Knob near Rutland, Vt.

It represents the most serious and ambitious attempt ever made by modern engineering genius to solve a problem that long has intrigued and baffled scientists—how to harness the mighty power of the winds and convert it into cheap, usable electricity.

This unique, streamlined, super-windmill, which will cost several hundred thousand dollars, is called an experimental wind-turbine by Palmer Cosslett Putnam, the youthful-looking and clever Boston engineer who designed it for the S. Morgan-Smith company of York, Pa., co-sponsor of the project.

Many eminent engineers and scientists studied the design of the wind-turbine, and it impressed them as being practicable and having great possibilities, with the result that it was constructed on a huge scale for the Central Vermont Public Service corporation.

Only wind-turbines of its size and kind in the United States, and the entire world probably, it may prove a most valuable as well as a revolutionary contribution to the development of the power industry in New England. Moreover, it may be a most important auxiliary for national defense.

Santa Domingo Has Oldest Piece of Mahogany Known

Among the many woods that enter into the manufacture of furniture, the story of mahogany is one of the most fabulous in history. With legends and records of its use dating back to the voyages of Cortez, to a development that produced a single piece of furniture which has to this day represented the ultimate in design and craftsmanship, is a story of thrilling interest.

According to research by George N. Lamb, director of the Mahogany Association, Inc., the earliest mahogany in existence today is a roughly hewn cross in the cathedral of Santo Domingo, which bears this legend: "This is the first sign planted in the center of this field to mark the beginning of this magnificent temple in the year 1514." The cathedral, which was completed in 1550, has much carved mahogany still in splendid condition.

It was not long after that piratical rovers of the sea were carrying this much-desired wood to Europe. One of the most unusual stories of a mahogany treasure trove is that of the ships of the Spanish Armada, which were sunk by the British in 1588. The first large shipment of mahogany to reach the shores of England still lies in the hulls of those ships on the bottom of the sea.

Echo of Past

The "vanishing race" has taken on such a new lease of life, according to latest reports, that by 1980 there will be as many Indians here as there were when Columbus landed in 1492.

The number of "Redskins" at that time is generally set at 700,000 to 800,000. They were healthy and robust, but tuberculosis and other infectious diseases took a drastic toll in succeeding generations and for a time there were fears the race would soon be extinct.

The abrupt change in trend is credited chiefly to improved medical care. Today there are about 300,000 Indians in this country and the number is growing steadily every year. All of which is eminently fitting for a race whose contribution to our history is such a notable one.

Son Gets Mother's Ears

One of the most remarkable operations in the annals of plastic surgery recently took place in West-cliff-on-Sea, Essex, England. A mother's sacrifice has built a new face for her son. The mother is Mrs. Atkins and the child is Jimmy. As the result of an infection, Jimmy could not speak properly. Jimmy has been going to a hospital for months for his face to be rebuilt with skin grafted from other parts of his body. Now his smile is no longer constricted but straight and joyful. But Jimmy had no ears. As his mother heard that he could be given ears, she pleaded with doctors to give him hers. So soon the final delicate operation of transferring the mother's ears to her son will be carried out and Jimmy will be as good as new, doctors say.

Screen Fare Taken Seriously

If you don't think the general public—meaning about 85 per cent of those 88,000,000 people popularly supposed to attend the movies every week—don't take their screen fare seriously, take another guess. A storm of protest came from all over the country when a teen-age actor brought home his girl at the break of dawn. A running gag in one picture has one of the players under the perpetual influence of pin-mangle gambling. This brought a protest by fans who thought it encouraged gambling.

Congratulations Jimmie

The many friends in Milton district who are pleased to be pleased to learn that he has graduated from the Ontario Whitty hospital as a graduate male nurse and will write his final examinations for his R.N. next November, have accepted a position on the staff of the Toronto General Hospital as Dressing Nurse, a very responsible position.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Clements, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Clements and Mr. and Mrs. R. Elliott motored to Whitty Wednesday evening, Sept. 24th, for the graduation exercises.

Fire Destroys Truck

Palermo, Sept. 25.—A fierce 11 z, which broke out on a tar-spraying truck at the Camp and Sansonetti firm was fought by both companies of the Trafalgar fire brigade of the village yesterday afternoon. The fire had got a good start when the truck was wrecked, and the truck was totally destroyed. It was parked on the road, close to a barn, and the flames confined their efforts to saving the building. Cause of the blaze was unknown.
