Halton Crop Improvement Association Hold Annual Meeting

A board of directors was chosen at the annual meeting of the Halton Crop Improvement Association held in the Farmers' building here Saturday afternoon.

Time was utilized in the discussion of crop improvement. E. K. Hampson was the speaker. His address centred upon three factors in crop production: moisture, organic matter and fertility levels.

He pointed out that notwithstanding contributions made by local investigators in favor of newer and better varieties of grains, we were barely holding an average yield per acre.

He stressed the importance of growing leguminous crops for greater soil conservation.

Township directors chosen were: Praefager—J. H. Willmott, V. Hall, Cecil Lawrence and V. J. Lawrence; Nelson—W. E. Breckon, R.S. Heatherington, W. J. Robertson; Nassagaweya—J. Ellenton, Geo. Gordon, Roy Wood, A. R. Service; Eglar—E. J. Brownridge, Edwin Harrop, G. W. Murray, Malcolm McNabb; Erasmosa—J. E. Pearson. The board of directors will meet at a later date to elect the officers. Attorney-General Conant gives warning that dancing on Sunday to the music of the juke boxes in restaurants and pavilions is contrary to law and that persons guilty of its infraction will be prosecuted.

The young men used to pride themselves on possessing the greatest physical strength. Observation of them along the roads suggests that now they boast most enthusiastically about their speed.

Hockey.

AURORA 11—MILTON 3

Aurora Juniors had far too much class for the Milton O.H.A. "C" entry last Friday night at Aurora as they swept to a 11 to 3 victory.

The home team was wild to tally seven times in the second period to sew up the game. Stevens was big shot in victory with four goals. Stark, Billbrough and Beaumont scored two apiece. Stark also drew down assists on four other goals.

MILTON 7—OAKVILLE 4

The local Juniors defeated Oakville here last night, 7 to 4. It was the opening game of the season and the lads showed fight from the start. The game had everything the fans desired. Tempers flared in the third when each man on the ice went to town and threw punches. Even chubby Evans, the local goalie, skated the length of the ice to receive a belt in the jaw which sent him sprawling. It is fortunate the O.H.A. sends officials who let so much go, that rowdiness begins. The locals had the best of the play and with practice should have a smooth-working aggregation.

Milton—goal, Evans; defence, Shirzil and Murphy; centre, Leary; wings, Carter and Schiszi. Alternates, Robert, Coats, Basso, B. Schiszi, Sloski and Armstrong.

Oakville—goal, Klemak; defence, Pool and Hilson; centre, Costello; wings, Wilson and Russell; alternates, Bridgman, Forbush, Hall, Smith, Quainton and De Pippo.

Referee—Kerr, of Toronto.

Don't forget the game to-morrow night.

MARRIAGE IN WAR TIME

Life is far from easy and simple for the young people in these times. After ten years of worrying whether the world would shut its doors of opportunity to them, they now find many new doors opening. But one of those doors is the dark, forbidding, and sinister entrance to war. Many of the young men have to go in that door. The girls who are left behind have many pangs.

In Europe the effect on many was to induce them to get married right away quick. Many of these men wanted some taste of the fun and happiness of marriage, and they would better make sure of that for a few days or weeks, and let the future take care of itself. In many cases the future was not able to take care of itself and some of these men probably came to grief.

A hasty marriage is usually a doubtful one. There are many people who seem very bright and nice on first acquaintances, as you see them at the parties and in loving scenes of courtship, but some harsh claws can be concealed under soft kitteny fur.

The girl whose suitor is called for military service should ask herself how it will be, in case they are married, if a baby is born to them. Will she be able to continue working, or can the husband support them from his pay as a soldier, or will government aid be sufficient? There may be days of poverty ahead, with inadequate care of the wife and the little one, if these resources are not sufficient.

Wars do not last many years. The clouds will roll away. The young people would better wait a few years than make a match if they feel any doubt about it. If their love has proven itself deep and lasting, the world will give them its heartiest good wishes, if they say the faithful vows.

BLUSHING MAIDENS

The news reports of weddings used to tell about the blushing bride. Poets often wrote about the charm of the blushing maiden. Do the girls blush any more? If they do, it is usually well-concealed under a coat of artificial make-up.

The girls used to blush when someone mentioned subjects considered suitable for their age and sex to hear. Now that they hear everything at an early age, and talk about nearly everything with their boy friends, it is difficult to say anything with which they are not familiar. The chances of getting a good blush out of the old timers is better than discovering one on the cheek of the modern girl.

HANDBAG SNATCHERS

Handbag snatching rarely or never occurs on the streets of small cities and towns. But the lady should beware, if she goes to some big centre and wanders around with her handbag loosely attached to her wrist. Some too smart thief might strip it from her hand, and dart up an alleyway, where he would soon emerge into haunts of his own.

A handbag may seem a somewhat exposed place to carry money, but if the lady is careful to carry only small sums the thieves will make no hauls likely to excite their interest. It is a risky game for a thief. Many women would scream with such violence that the crowd would surround the fleeing rascal, and hand him over to the police.

LOVE FOR THE HOME TOWN

The people are urged to love their country. They should do so. They should also feel a deep love for their home town. There they have security, many benefits, they have profited by its advantages and institutions, and its business enterprise. The things done for the town by present and former residents have given us all pleasure and satisfaction, and the comforts of home and a chance to work. We should feel grateful to the community that has done these things for us.

If we have a proper feeling of gratitude, we shall want to make some return for these benefits. A good way to make that return is to buy things at home, and to join and work in the organizations formed to promote useful purposes in our community.

ORGANIZATION

It takes organization to get things done. We now see vast organizations going to work to prepare the country to defend itself, and produce war material, ward off enemies, and provide the essentials of war effort.

It also takes plenty of organization to make a home town a good place to live in. The local organizations are worthy of hearty support. People should join them, attend their meetings, pay their dues regularly, and be willing to serve on committees and do the detail work of these societies. The progressive town is almost always a well organized town.

George Rochols, a South Wellington farmer living near Guelph, was fined $10 and costs in Guelph Police Court for having cottontail rabbits caught with a ferret. That it is an offence to use a ferret to catch rabbits is a fact of which many may not be aware.
