Manitoba Goldeye On Vanishing List

But Only Temporarily Due to the Manpower Shortage

WINNIPEG, (CP)—The Manitoba goldeye has become to Western Canada what haggis is to Scotland, roast beef to England and "potatoes and point" to Ireland.

But the Manitoba goldeye—or the Winnipeg goldeye if you want to be parochial—is joining the long list of delicacies vanishing temporarily from Canadian tables and it is the same old story of wartime supply diminished with the manpower shortage.

The goldeye is caught in Lake Winnipeg, Lake Winnipegosis and the smaller bodies of water around The Pas, Man. The season starts 1st of November. This year fears have been expressed that the winter catch will fall off.

The goldeye, a member of the hiodontidae family of fish related to salt water shad, is from 10 to 12 inches long and difficult to distinguish from the mooneye fish which the trade lumps in with the goldeye for smoking and sale on the retail markets of the Dominion. When fresh, the fish is whitish in color with a faintly gold eye. The gold coloring spreads to the rest of the body of the fish during the smoking and curing process.

The market for the goldeye is almost exclusively Canadian with most sales made in the Winnipeg area, but goldeye has a prominent place on the menus of trains and restaurants across Canada.

The greater part of the annual catch is frozen and later smoked in quantities to meet the demands of the market. There is little demand for the white-fleshed fresh goldeye. Smoked goldeye, 30 cents a pound before the war, has gone up to 38 cents a pound on Winnipeg retail markets.

Last year's catch of 348,200 pounds was more than double that of the previous year but the markets have no goldeye to-day, thank you.

HYDE PARK SHEEP LIKE SWANK HOTEL

LONDON, (CP)—At one time the shepherd guarding the sheep who wander year-round through Hyde Park, could rest under a tree and forget his charges for hours on end. But that was before they tore down the six-foot rail fence for metal salvage—and now the shepherd has to keep apologizing to the doorman of one of London's most fashionable hotels. The sheep wander across the road—and twice recently they had to be shooed (or whatever you say to chase sheep) away from the hotel entrance—and the bar entrance at that.

FOR BETTER COTTON

NEW DELHI (CP)—The war has accelerated progress in the cultivation of superior varieties of cotton in India. It also has aided in the obtaining of better balanced production of various types.

Beef and Pork Eaten in Canada

The consumption of beef, pork and edible parts such as heart, liver and tongue has been rising steadily in Canada since the beginning of the war. An official estimate places the 1942 consumption of all meats in the Dominion at 135.2 lb per head of population, compared with 133.1 lb in 1941; 126.8 in 1940; 122.2 in 1939; and 116.6 in 1938.

The domestic consumption of the various meats in 1942 included 734,823,000 lb of beef; 571,992,000 lb of pork; 127,041,000 lb of veal; 60,961,000 lb of mutton and lamb; 80,075,900 lb of tongue, liver, heart and other parts in addition to 100,639,000 lb of lard.

In detail, the 135.2 per head consumption of all meats in 1942 represents the consumption of beef at 63.1 lb per head; veal, 10.9 lb; mutton and lamb, 5.2 lb; pork, 49.1 lb; tongue and other parts, 6.9 lb.

The consumption of beef showed a slight increase over that of 1941 but about 8 pounds per person more than in 1935 while the domestic consumption of pork despite the substantial increase in exports, increased by 2.6 lb per person from 1941, and about 6 pounds per person more than in 1939, and 10 lb more per person than in 1935. In 1942, there was a slight decrease in the consumption of veal from 1941, and there was no change in the consumption of mutton and lamb compared with 1941, or since 1935. The consumption of lard increased from 7.4 lb per head of population in 1941 to 8.6 lb in 1942.

RAILWAYS HANDLE BIG RUSH OF FEED GRAIN

The production of grains in the Eastern Provinces this year has been far below that of the previous year mainly due to adverse weather conditions experienced last spring. This situation has made it necessary to transport millions of bushels of feed grain from the Western Provinces to maintain live stock production, according to reports received by the agricultural department of the Canadian National Railways.

The Agricultural Supplies Board points out that it will be necessary for farmers throughout the Eastern Provinces to save supplies of all varieties of seed particularly barley and oats for planting in 1944.

Every farmer is urged to look over the grain grown on his farm to ascertain if it is suitable for seed. If so, this grain should be cleaned and set aside. It should not be fed to live stock.

It is altogether probable that large quantities of seed grain will have to be transported from Western Canada to meet the requirements for spring sowing. Every bushel of seed grain saved from the home grown crop will ensure seed for next year's planting and assist the railways to meet the abnormal demand for feed grain for live stock in Eastern Canada.

FORGERY PROOF SIGNATURES

In Mesopotamia, 3,000 years before Christ, official and legal red tape was highly developed. Then as now people had to sign on the dotted line. Although the ancient Near East claims the earliest known system of writing, its masses remain illiterate. Documents were written on clay tablets by professional scribes but "John Henry's" signature was personally imprinted on the soft clay by means of a seal. The seal was usually in the form of a small stone cylinder, fore-runner of the rotary printing machine. It was owned and worn by the signatory who was protected against forgery by the variety and intricacy of its design. The Royal Ontario Museum has recently put on display a fine collection of these ancient seals.

WINTER CLOTHES STRICTLY PRACTICAL

Now is the time when inhabitants are changing into winter clothes. This does not only apply to the Indian and the trapper but to numerous wild creatures some of which brown bears and weasels and mottled ptarmigan (Arctic grouse) will quickly acquire coats as white as the snow that will blanket their homeland. Specimens of these animals in the Royal Ontario Museum's study collections show various stages in this change. It is not accomplished by some mysterious transmutation of colour in the old coat as has been supposed by some people. It comes about by the replacement of hair or feathers, a doffing of the old and growing the new. Winter clothes for wildlife, unlike those of humans, are not "designed" to be revealing. The style for this year, as every year, will be strictly practical.
