- Brevities -

- Remembrance Day a week from Saturday.
- An epidemic of measles has broken out in town.
- Milton Victory Loan Flag is flying over the Town Hall.
- Milton Brick Transport is erecting a new garage on Mill Street.
- Deer seem to be quite plentiful around this district again this year.
- And this is November. Just another week to take part in the Seventh Victory Loan.

—The Victory Loan salesman for town are L. Service, Wm. Anderson and P. W. Cooke.

—Must have been Indian summer we had this week. At any rate it was delightful weather.

—Mrs. A. Barton and family have moved to town from their farm on the First Line, Trafalgar.

—The Halloween Dance held by the Fourteen Club last Saturday night in the Town Hall was a great success.

—Among those to graduate from No. 5 A.O.S. Winnipeg, on Thursday were Sergt. Colin Smillie. Colin is the youngest of three sons of George and Mrs. Smillie, Bronte Street, serving with the Armed Forces.

MILLIONAIRE'S NIGHT HAS MANY UNIQUE FEATURES PLANNED

The members of the Milton Board of Trade are making elaborate arrangements for a gala night in the Town Hall on Thursday evening November 9th. There will be all kinds of games for old and young with prizes to suit everyone's fancy, also that popular game bingo with attractive prizes and numerous other attractions. There will also be a big lucky draw with 8 big prizes. Some one is going to win a fifty dollar Victory Bond. It may be you, who knows?

For the inner man, dainty and appetizing refreshments will be served. This is going to be a night of nights with millions changing hands. Join in the fun.

The proceeds go to the Red Cross, the I. O. D. E. and the Board of Trade and the assistance and the cooperation of all is needed. It's an opportunity for a real night's fun and to assist worthy causes.

12-Year-Old Girl Bride of Dancer

Australian Couple Want Stage Career Before Settling Down to Family Life

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—A 12-year-old girl left school in Sydney to marry a 25-year-old man. She is now Mrs. Joanne Moores, and her husband is her dancing partner.

The husband explained that he and his young wife hoped to establish themselves as professional dancers before settling down to a domestic life.

"There will not be any children for some years," he said.

One reason for the marriage was to enable him and his wife to go on dancing tours without a chaperon.

I am not in favor of marriage at such a very early age said the minister who married them. "I thought carefully for a week before I agreed to perform this ceremony. I think there are special domestic circumstances in this case, and also I think that the girl is old for her age. The couple appear to be sincere in love, and I think that they will make a success of their marriage."

The bride's mother said that she herself was married when she was 19, and her husband was 25.

Mrs. Moores is not the first girl of 12 to be married in Australia. In 1941 a girl of 12 married a boy of 14, and since 1901 there have been seven 12-year-old brides.

A statistician said that the average age for marriage in Australia was 27.47 years for men and 24.52 years for women. In 1943, three girls of 14 were married in New South Wales.

I'VE GOT ONE GOOD EYE LEFT

Under the shadow of the solemn Peace Tower on Parliament Hill, a 23-year old veteran of this war appeared before the microphone ready to signal the launching of a new warship at Lauzon, Quebec.

Before a huge crowd, gathered to take part in the inspiring opening ceremony for the Seventh Victory Loan campaign, he was being briefly questioned by the Master of Ceremonies about his record overseas. He was Lieutenant Ensign Grant Travers of Summerside, P.E.I.

"And you were wounded?" said the Master of Ceremonies.

"Yes" replied Travers modestly, and then added quickly with a note of thankfulness in his voice, "but I've got one good eye left and that's better than none."

There were many in that crowd on Parliament Hill whose throats tightened by a sudden realization of the tremendous significance which lay behind the simple words of this repatriated soldier. And his statement remains significant as the Seventh Victory Loan Campaign proceeds.

An eye cannot be replaced. Money can. If the Canadians are imbued with the same spirit as this repatriated Prince Edward Islander has displayed and people in all provinces can be thankful that they have a great deal more money left that is necessary for the minimum success of the Seventh Victory Loan Campaign, there will again be a huge over subscription.

THEY ALIGHTED ON THE "PLATFORM" ALL RIGHT

Slogans in wartime London were mentioned by a BBC speaker in a recent overseas talk. "Back the Great Attack With War Savings," "Don't Telegraph or Telephone if a Letter or a Postcard Will Do," "It's Dig for Victory Still," "We Must have more Fuel for Battle—this means Coal, Gas and Electricity" were among a number he quoted.

But he mentioned one in particular that had caught the attention of a soldier travelling in the train with him.

"We've got our own slogans in the army," the soldier said, "but there's one up there I'd like to pinch." It was a notice above the door of the compartment, a notice that is as old as the blackout "Before Alighting Look Out for the Platform." "That" the soldier said, "might be useful on our invasion craft." The date of that talk was about a week before D-day.

LAKE GOES DEEP

EDMONTON (CP)—Dr. D. S. Rawson of the University of Saskatchewan said here that depths of water at some places in Great Slave Lake were greater than in Lake Superior. The depth at one point in the lake is 1,440 feet.

Common Cold Bad For Poultry Flock

During the fall and early winter the most common cause of trouble in the poultry flock is the common cold. This ailment will cause losses by interrupting egg production and by predisposing the birds to more serious disease such as roup and bronchitis.

It pays to take precautions in the autumn to prevent colds. The common causes are exposure to draughts, dampness or a sudden drop in temperature. Poor ventilation and dirty quarters are also contributing factors. The prevention of colds, is less costly and more effective than medicinal cures.

In the treatment of colds, the first action should be directed toward correcting the faulty condition that gave rise to the trouble. A mild physic should be given, consisting of one half to one pound of Epsom salts per hundred birds. The dose should be repeated if necessary. A ten per cent solution of argyrol is an effective antiseptic agent in the treatment of colds. By the use of a medicine dropper, or a sewing machine oil can, a drop of the solution can be placed in the cleft in the roof of the mouth. Drinking vessels may be the means of spreading colds. A few grains of potassium permanganate, sufficient to colour the water a deep purple, will act as a disinfectant and reduce the danger.

USED CAR "RACKET"

NOTTINGHAM, England (C P)—The prices charged for used cars are a "racket", said D. Craven Griffiths, secretary of the North Midland Regional Price Regulation Committee.

He said the committee will probe methods adopted by shrewd dealers to hold cars with a view to the "fabulous prices" that would operate if and when the basic gasoline ration is restored.

SEA FOOD SAGA

Many of the well-known sea-foods including the oyster and scallop, flourished long before man was here to appreciate them. The fossilized remains of these shell-fish occupy a conspicuous place in the vest and varied collections of the Royal Ontario Museum.

The scallop, like the oyster, belongs to the group of molluscs known as "bi-valves", a name which has reference to the two shells which enclose and protect the soft animal. The mode of life of these two creatures is very different. The sedentary oyster is fastened to rocks or other objects in near-shore areas. The active scallop swims freely in coastal marine waters as deep as two hundred fathoms or more. Its power of movement is seated in a single muscle that closes the shells. This hard-worked muscle is the part we eat—the white and tender bit which tastes somewhat like lobster meat. The other soft parts within the shell we cast away. Strange though it may seem, the inactive oyster has so tough a muscle that we discard it, but regard the remainder as a delicious morsel.

Unlike the oyster, the scallop is in season the year round. Many species are known and are widely distributed. Multitudes of individual scallops assemble in restricted areas to form "scallop banks" from which they are dredged. Two species in particular frequent Atlantic waters, notably from Labrador to Cape Cod. Nova Scotia waters, especially those in the Bay of Fundy, provide quantities of scallops for markets in Canada and elsewhere.
