FLEETING

Last spring we tilled the land, And sowed the golden grain, Then we, at God's command, Were given sun and rain.

While August sun shone hot, We cut and stooked the grain; We cared naight, we had wrought The sheaves to fill the wain.

My friendly fields I've ploughed, The first snowflakes are here; The sky is one grey cloud, 'Tis the closing of the year.

Debt is disobedience to God. Debt is also slavery (Prov. 22: 7). Nothing brings more reproach upon the cause of Christ than a professed Christain and especially a minister who does not pay his debts. But "owe no man anything" means more than "pay your debts." It means never go into debt. It means more yet, it means to render to every man what is due to him whether it be tribute, custom, 71.38 2.110.83 fear, honor or obedience (v. 7). Are you doing this?
