TORONTO (CP)—Premier George Drew of Ontario and Prime Minister Mackenzie King executed an agile double shuffle during the week-end in connection with the dates of the federal and Ontario general election.

Premier Drew made the first move with the announcement that Ontario's voters would go to the polls June 11. Mr. King followed suit the next day setting the federal election for the same date.

"Indescribable confusion would result from holding the two elections on the same date," the Progressive Conservative premier of Ontario said.

E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader assailed Mr. Drew's action in moving the election date ahead. "The Ontario premier was bringing on 'a wild last-minute scramble in which thousands of our fighting men will be left without sufficient time to see the lists of candidates and cast their votes,'" Mr. Jolliffe said.

Ten special returning officers, deputy returning officers and their assistants were scheduled to leave for Ottawa Tuesday on the first leg of their journey overseas to supervise the taking of the provincial vote among 300,000 Ontario voters on active service.

Extensive studies in Russian history geography, economics, language and literature are being prepared for the University of Toronto curriculum Dr. Sidney E. Smith, president-elect of the university announced. It is hoped Russian courses will be available in the fall semester, he added.

A Russian-born Canadian scientist is conducting experiments at the University of Western Ontario, London, on a new drug similar to penicillin which, it is hoped, will prove effective in the treatment of tuberculosis. Dr. I. N. Asheshov and his assistant, Miss Freda Streilitz, German-born laboratory technician, are working on a new organism, Aspergillus Fumigatus, a member of the recently discovered aspergillum family.

Magistrate E. R. Tucker of Cockrane told the executive meeting of the Ontario Division of the Red Cross Society on Monday that inadequate medical care is given Indians in the James Bay area. The executive ordered a complete examination of the facts by the Outpost Hospital Committee.

Dr. P. E. Moore, acting superintendent of medical service for the Indian Affairs branch, commenting at Ottawa, said there are "inadequacies" but the picture is not so grim as that given by Magistrate Tucker. One of the difficulties is that the Indians are spread over such a large area, he said.

Weekly War Commentary

By FRANK HINDS Canadian Press Staff Writer

Gen. Omar Bradley's Americans at the week-end had been slowed in their drive on Berlin from the north, but to the south the Americans stabbed deep into the last-ditch defence area with the 9th Army at last reports only 45 miles from the Reich capital. Allied troops east of the Elbe were meeting heavy fire from lowered anti-aircraft batteries guarding Berlin and tanks attached to this army were slowed to a crawl over the flat Brandenburg plain on Saturday.

American tanks entered Bayreuth, northeast of Nuernberg and were closing in on Chemnitz. Gen. George S. Patton's Americans were 88 miles or less from the Russian lines and within 25 miles of the Czechoslovakian frontier. Dresden was only 38 miles beyond Patton's armored forces Saturday.

Meanwhile, on the Netherlands front the Canadians have pushed west from their IJssel bridgehead to the outskirts of Apeldoorn after the British had cleared the eastern part of Arnhem and pushed on a mile to the north.

On the other side of Germany there were increasing signs that four Russian army groups were ready to begin their massed assault on Berlin. German commentators said they expected the Soviet forces to attempt to outflank Berlin from the north and south and link up with British and American forces driving in from the west.

To the south in Italy, the newly Allied drive is meeting resistance in the lower Po valley.

In the Pacific, the latest American raid on Tokyo is said to have included as many as 400 Superfortresses. Meanwhile furious ground fighting was proceeding on southern Okinawa in the Ryukyus group.

Americans Take Plauen

American 3rd Army forces chalked up another victory with the capture of Plauen at the beginning of the week. Plauen is an important communications centre near the border of Czechoslovakia.

Some units of the 3rd army were within six miles of Czechoslovakia on Tuesday. Advance elements of this army were only 75 miles from the Russian lines and juncture of the two armies was expected at any time. A Paris newspaper said American and Russian forces had already joined hands in the Elbe valley according to a "secret German radio station." The newspaper quoted the clandestine broadcast as saying the armies met southeast of Dresden.

Meanwhile, the Germans admitted that the American 9th Army was within 45 miles of Berlin. Canadians were holding firm in the western Holland sector. The Nazis had breached dikes holding back the Zuider Zee, flooding the Utrecht-Halversum area. The Canadians had cut the German escape route in Holland. The British 2nd Army had advanced 18 miles on a 20-mile front south of Bremen. To the south, American 7th Army troops were fighting in the streets of Nuernberg, second city of Bavaria and birthplace of Nazi racial laws.

The German air force is declared officially knocked out after Monday's Allied score of 1,013 planes destroyed. Allied pilots were out again Tuesday continuing their paralyzing blows against the Reich.

On the Eastern front the Russians were reported to have taken the high ground west of the Oder and 22 miles from Berlin. This Soviet gain was reported in a German communique and lacks confirmation from Moscow. The enemy added that Red Army units made deep breaches in German lines on both sides of Frankfurt.

In the Pacific Superfortresses blasted enemy airfields on the Japanese home island of Kyushu in multiple raids designed at neutralizing the southern Japanese bases from which the enemy has been hurling suicide planes against the Americans on Okinawa.

Back on the European front, Canadians had almost reached the south shore of the Zuider Zee in Holland by Wednesday. Canadian infantry advancing from captured Apeldoorn had almost linked up with tank forces driving toward the inland sea. The British 2nd Army, meanwhile, had driven into the suburbs of Bremen and advanced closer to Hamburg and the American 1st Army had battled its way into Leipzig. To the south the American 3rd Army had assaulted Chemnitz and has catapulted advance units over the border into Czechoslovakia. The Russians reported their armies within sight of burning Berlin. German commentators said the battle for the eastern approaches to the Reich capital had reached a climax and admitted that the Red Army had broken German defence lines only a score of miles from the city.

DUST IN MOTOR

Dirt and dust allowed to collect around the air passages of an electric motor on the farm causes overheating. This is likely to result in serious damage if the air is kept from circulating through the coils. Electrical specialists suggest the use of a tire pump or hand bellows to blow dust out of the motor.
