HUGHES CLEAVER
Liberal Federal Candidate for Halton County

To the Electors of Halton County:

As there are only three issues of the weekly press between now and election day, I will endeavor to cover as fully as I can the platform of the Liberal Party in three letters, dealing this week with agriculture, next week with labour and in the final week with health, Family Allowances, Unemployment Insurance and other social security measures.

I should at once state that the Liberal Party makes no special appeal to any group or class in Canada. We believe that Canada can only be prosperous if all of the three main groups, namely agriculture, labor and capital are fairly treated and are prosperous. The Liberal Party favors no one class, but on the contrary seeks the prosperity of all three classes. We seek the support of men of good will in all three groups. As to agriculture no one can deny the fact that this industry is not as prosperous as it should be. It is true that agricultural income has advanced sharply during the last few years, but here are the facts. 30% of our people are engaged in agriculture. If this industry were fairly treated, it would be receiving approximately 30% of the national income. During the fifteen years prior to the war, agriculture received on the average less than 15% of the national income, which is barely half of what it should have received. As a result we have depressed agriculture. I can take you to any township in this county and you can buy any farm with a good set of buildings on it for less than what it would cost you to build the buildings. Is any further proof required of the depressed condition of agriculture? While it is true that in some instances farmers are themselves to blame through being inefficient farmers, yet these exceptions do not prove anything. Our task is to see that in the overall picture agriculture receives its fair share of the national income.

Our farmers produce quite large surpluses of food stuffs which are valueless unless marketed abroad. The Liberal Party has always encouraged foreign trade and this is why our farmers have been more prosperous under Liberal Governments than under high tariff governments, but from the experience which I have gained through ten years of service as your Member, I firmly believe that foreign trade is not enough. I believe that all Canadian food products which we sell abroad should be finished products. For example we should sell bacon to Britain, instead of grain to Denmark to produce bacon in Denmark for the British market.

The present Liberal policy is that by maintaining floor prices for staple farm products, by taking the tariff off farm implements, by making proper credit facilities available for farmers through amendments which have been made to the Bank Act and by trade agreements, we will restore agriculture to her proper place in our economic life. All of these provisions will be of a very material assistance, but personally I have some doubts as to whether these provisions will yield the full results which are desired. I believe it may be necessary to subsidize labor of agriculture to the same extent that we subsidize the labor of industry through tariffs. Only the future will tell whether I am right or wrong, but we do know that if agriculture is prosperous this industry alone will employ a half a million more men than it today employs on farms. Our Prime Minister, in his recent answers to questions published in MacLean's Magazine, stated very clearly that the Liberal Party is pledged to a policy which will assure to agriculture its proper share of the national income.

In closing I would like to emphasize the fact that there is one thing which farmers can do for themselves. I refer to organization. Agriculture should be fully organized in order that the industry may be properly directed as to what products it should produce and in what quantities and in order that the industry may be able to intelligently convey to the government in office the needs and problems of the industry.

Yours sincerely,
HUGHES CLEAVER
