TORONTO (CP)—Agricultural expansion of Northern Ontario in the past decade was pointed up by Agriculture Minister Kennedy in an address at the opening of a new potato storage and grading warehouse at Cochrane, Ont.

The new warehouse, under the management of a co-operative organization would help growers to meet Northern Ontario's demand for potatoes and would open a new and wider market in the southern part of the province. By utilizing the facilities of the warehouse, growers could send substantial supplies of seed potatoes south at times of the year when they were required.

Cochrane area had the right kind of soil to grow heavy yields of potatoes, Mr. Kennedy said, predicting that the district might become one of the greatest potato-growing areas in the Dominion.

"The time has passed when it was necessary to bring in supplies of potatoes from Prince Edward Island," he said.

Harvesting weather throughout Ontario was generally good in the past week, the Ontario department of agriculture reported in its weekly crop survey. Harvests in most sections were about 50 per cent. complete, but fruit crops were reported much below normal.

Bruce, Simcoe South and Leeds counties reported danger of injury to late crops because of continued dry weather. Harvest operations were delayed in Northumberland and Peterborough counties. Northern Ontario also reported continued dry weather detrimental to pasture and Nipissing experienced its first mid-summer frost. Livestock in Northern Ontario were reported doing well.

The first radio-telephone connection between Canada and Barbados, B. W. I., was officially established under joint sponsorship of the Bell Telephone Company and the Canadian Marconi Company. Involving use of Bell land lines and Marconi beam transmitting and receiving stations at Drummondville and Yamiche, voice paths on the circuit to and from any part of Canada are cleared over land lines of the Trans-Canada Telephone System through Montreal.

Victory and peace celebrations could begin in earnest following announcement by five of the eight Canadian provinces in which liquor is sold, that the monthly liquor ration would be increased.

Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan announced increases to 52 ounces of spirits per person a month. The increase is double from the previous 6 ounces in Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia; from 13 ounces a month in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Quebec announced its 80-ounce-a-month ration would remain unchanged for the time being and announcements are still awaited from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. There is no legal sale of liquor in Prince Edward Island.

For the last two or three years, Canadian schoolchildren have collected enough milkweed plants to keep the plant at the National Research Council busy all winter. The scientists are studying ways to extract the high rubber content from milkweed plants.

Vandals Wreck Organ in Church Near Milton

Using a carpenter's hammer they left behind, vandals destroyed a 50-year-old organ in Bowes church on Highway 25, a mile south of Milton, provincial police reported.

Parts of the organ were strewn all over the church, organ stops were scattered under seat, the pulpit and choir rail bent to an uncanny angle, and several hymn books ripped to pieces," Provincial Constable E. R. Lemon said, who is investigating. "It is one of the most complete jobs of wrecking an organ I've ever seen. They even smashed all lamp chimneys on the old kerosene lamps on a chandelier hanging in the centre of the church," he added.

Discovery of the vandalism was made by a Milton merchant, a former member of the church, who was visiting the cemetery Sunday. "I noticed the rear door had been broken in, and went in to look around," he said. "An organ was installed in the church when it was erected over 70 years ago but a newer instrument replaced the original about 45 years ago."

The old church, which history dated back to the time of Rev. Egerton Ryerson, a former minister, has not been used for nearly 15 years, officials said. "Nearly every year anniversary services have been held in the church," said George Dolby, Boyne, a trustee. "The last service was held over a year ago, and the church has been locked since. Several years ago the church was used by the Milton Gospel Tabernacle congregation for services."
