

SNOW VEIL

Now the bright trumpets of the autumn blow.
And acres darken and the apples fall,
Stretch out your hands to clasp the falling snow,
White in the wind and white against the wall.
Now that the crimson trees have thinned and gold
Has tipped the maple till it's sagged with brightness,
And the birds drifted like leaves from the cold—
Accept this momentary gift of whiteness.
How soft a cloud against November sun,
The sudden mantle that from high air flows
Earthward like wings, not an oblivion
Rather a carpet thrown to greet the rose
Another April when joy shall arise,
And flowers and banners wave before our eyes.

GRAPHITE AIDS SELF EXPRESSION

It is a widely accepted view that "the pen is mightier than the sword," and by the same token, the lowly pencil should come in for its share of glory. The "lead" of pencils is formed of the mineral graphite, mixed with new clay, the name graphite being derived from the Greek meaning "to write." It is found in distant parts of the world, but also in Canada, examples of the natural mineral in the Royal Ontario Museum having been taken from the Ottawa valley. Artificial graphite has been manufactured in this country also, and possibly the "lead" in the pencil you used to-day came from Niagara Falls.

GENTLE DYNAMITE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Blowing building apart with subdued dynamite charges is a new method employed by a wrecking company in razing Ferguson Army Camp buildings in Stanley Park without damaging the lumber or materials. Charges are only strong enough to jar walls and roof apart, leaving nails loose and easily removable.

Twenty Years Ago

Taken from the Edition of the Canadian Champion Thursday November 11th 1926.

The head of a huge bull moose has been on exhibition in front of S. Buck's butcher shop since last week. It measures 47 inches between two inner points and 51 inches all over, which is very large for Ontario. The moose weighed about 1200 lbs. and was shot by Jas. Turner near Chapleau, Northern Ontario.
Miss Jesse McPherson was guest speaker at the C.G.I.T. Mother and Daughter banquet held at St. Paul's Church last Friday evening.
A very pleasant evening was spent at the Presbyterian Manse, Hornby, last Thursday when a large number of friends and congregation crowded to extend to their new pastor, Rev. P. W. MacInnes, and his wife a real hearty welcome to the community and district.

Milton was shocked and saddened last Thursday by a fatal accident. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wilson's daughter, Edith Irene, aged nine was on her way home from school when she stepped close in front of a car driven by J. Bell of Acton. The driver had no time to stop and the car knocked the child down and passed over her, fracturing her skull. She died twenty minutes later.

DEMAND FOR POULTRY

Domestic demand for poultry is exceptionally high. Meat rationing and a high level of employment, says the Current Review of the Agricultural Conditions in Canada, have resulted in a greater consumption of poultry meat. Poultry markets are now having a strong seasonal increase. The export demand for Canadian poultry is also strong, and the United Kingdom calls for a shipment of 12½ million pounds of fowl and chicken before the end of the calendar year 1946. The poultry must be graded, packed and inspected according to Dominion Government regulations.

The Sunday School Lesson

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 10th

THE CHURCH REACHES OUT

Golden Text.—I can do all things in him that strengtheneth me. Phil. 4: 13.

Lesson Text.—Ac. 16: 11-15; Phil. 2: 5-11.

Exposition.—I. The First Convert in Europe, Ac. 16: 11-15.

Under the direct guidance of the Holy Spirit, Paul is called to preach in Macedonia (vs. 9-11). Step by step God leads his servant on. The means He used were various; the direct guidance of the Holy Spirit, a vision (ch. 9: 10-12; 10: 10-17, 30; 18: 9, 10; 22: 17-21; 27: 23, 24; 2 Cor. 12: 1-4, 7; Ac. 2: 17); his own judgment (v. 10, R. V.) The promptness with which Paul responded to the guidance of God, no matter how it came, is worthy not only of special note, but of careful and constant imitation. In such prompt and exact obedience is found one of the greatest secrets not only of a happy, but an efficient life. If we respond at once to God's leading, it becomes clearer and clearer. If we falter, the guiding light grows dimmer and dimmer until it goes out in thick darkness, and we are left to grope our way as best we can.

Paul lost no time in starting for the field to which the Lord had called him. There had been no supernatural direction as to what part of Macedonia he was to be at. So Paul used his common sense and went straight for the first city of the district (R. V.). It is true Christian strategy to begin at the great centers of population and political and commercial life, and work out from them. Paul and his companions did not begin preaching at once (v. 12, R. V.) They waited and watched, and doubtless prayed for a favorable time and place to strike the first blow (ch. 13: 14; 17: 2; 18: 4). They began at last, in a very quiet and humble way.

Be that as it may, the work of European evangelization began with a handful of praying women. That was one of the most notable gatherings of all history. The word spoken resulted in the conversion of a prominent and pious woman, Lydia, "whose heart the Lord opened." That was the turning-point. There is no hope for any woman, or man either, unless the Lord opens their heart (Jno. 6: 44, 45; Eph. 1: 17, 18; Luke 24: 25). But this He is more than willing to do. The steps in Lydia's conversion are very plainly marked and typical. (1) She went out to pray (v. 13). (2) She heard the Word (v. 13, 14; comp. Jno. 5: 24). (3) The Lord opened her heart. (4) She gave heed unto the things which were spoken (v. 14, R. V.)

II The Christ Paul Preached, Phil. 2: 5-11.

In this passage we see the clear revelation which God, by the Holy Spirit, had given to Paul concerning our Lord Jesus Christ (Eph. 3: 1-5; Gal. 1: 15-17; 1 Cor. 15: 8, 9). Paul knew Jesus as we all must come to know Him, that is, by the revelation of the Spirit (Ac. 9: 5, 6; 1 Cor. 2: 3, 4, 11, 12). The passage before us is an exhortation. But the basis of it is the revelation concerning Jesus. Let us, therefore, first consider this and then, secondly, the exhortation. Jesus is here shown (1) to have the "form of God" an expression which asserts the eternity of His Person and His Deity. He could not have been in the "form of God" unless He was so identified with God as to be co-existent with Him. There is, however, in the Person of Jesus, all the realities of Deity since He had them from eternity by virtue of His being the manifestation of God (Jno. 1: 1-3; Heb. 1: 1-3; Col. 1: 15-19). (2) Jesus is also described as "equal with God" (v. 6) and it is here stated that in His holy thought He could not esteem His exercise of His authority as being an act that would in any way detract from God. He knew that God and He were one (Jno. 10: 30). If men are searching for God, let them come to Jesus (Jno. 8: 49-51; 12: 32) (3) In order to become a man (vs. 7, 8) Jesus laid aside the glory which He had with the Father (Jno. 17: 5). He took upon Himself man's nature. This was necessary for him to be received as a man amongst men. In assuming man's nature, He did not partake of man's sin (Jno. 8: 46; Heb. 4: 15 9: 28). Also note the manner of His incarnation; "no reputation," "humbled himself," "obedient," "death of the cross." Read the reports of Jesus' birth and see how true this is (Matt. 1; Luke 1 and 2; also Jno. 1: 11) Jesus came in the form of a man to be a servant of all men (Mk. 10: 45; Isa. 53: 3).

In view of Jesus' redeeming work, God has "highly exalted" Him. When therefore, we come in this faith to Jesus we come to God. Because the Son of God died on the cross for sinners in order to accomplish their salvation, God the Father has given Him "a name above every name." This exaltation of Jesus makes Him the object of faith and obedience (Ac. 16: 31. Heb. 5: 7-9). It does more. It makes Jesus the arbiter of the soul's destiny. To believe on Him means life. To refuse to yield to Him means death (Jno. 3: 36). In the consummation of all things, all creation will honor the Son, man included, and the eternal dominion of our Lord will be established. The human rebels will then know what was involved in their rejection of the Lord of glory (Heb. 2: 7-9; Rev. 20: 4-6; 21: 8).

The exhortation of v. 5 is that we shall share the humiliation Jesus suffered; we shall be humbly his servant and the servants of lost mankind; we shall seek to save the lost by seeking to bring them to Jesus Christ, their only Saviour (Ac. 4: 12; Heb. 7: 52). We are to have the mind of Christ in the sense of true faith, obedience to God, love for the word of God, faithfulness in prayer and longing for God's holiness (Matt. 5: 8; Heb. 11: 1; Rom. 5: 19; Heb. 5: 8; Matt. 24: 35; Jno. 10: 35; Heb. 10: 19-25).

SNORE LESS

Snoring, so often accepted as inevitable, should receive medical attention declares the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa. In a bulletin, the health authorities state that snoring is common among sufferers from some form of nose blockage, and that persistent snorers should see their family doctor for corrective measures.
