

SHORTAGE

This is the house that Jack would like to build.
This is the knob that has no door
That leads to the hall that has no floor
That has to be crossed to reach the stair
That isn't—to lift an expression—there,
In the house that Jack would give a lot to build.

This is the roof, all make-believe,
That hasn't a shingle, strut or eave
That acts as a shelter for floors and walls
That aren't to be found in the rooms and halls
That adjoin the porch and the rump-us room
That can't be swept with the stick-less broom
That hasn't a closet to call its own,
For the evident reason widely known,
That the lumber required for this—and these—
Is existing still in the form of trees
And not in the house that Jack would like to build.

Twenty Years Ago

Taken from the edition of the Canadian Champion, Thursday, November 18th 1926.

Last Thursday was cold and raw but a large number of people turned out for the Memorial Day Ceremonies at the soldiers' monument, Victoria Park. Mayor Irvine presided and after the service, wreaths and sprays were placed at the foot of the monument.

The Acton Free Press says Jack Kentner has become a professional hockey player having a contract with a Quebec team at a good salary. He learned the game in Milton and played here till he removed to Acton a few years ago.

A very happy and enjoyable evening was spent on Armistice Day in Grace Church Sunday School, when the men of the congregation resolved to display their culinary art, and entertained the ladies of the W.A., the choir and Sunday School teachers to a banquet.

The Sunday School Lesson

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 17

HOW CHRIST CHANGES PEOPLE

Golden Text.—Be not weary in well-doing, 2 Thess. 3: 13.
Lesson Text.—Ac. 17: 1-7; 1 Thess. 1: 2-8.

Exposition—I. Paul in Thessalonica, Ac. 17: 1-7.

Paul had at this time a uniform mode of procedure: first, he began with the Jews at their regular place of meeting, the synagogue. cf. vs. 10, 17; ch. 9: 20; 13: 5; 14: 1; 18: 4; 19: 8). Second, he made use of the Sabbath Day, the regular Jewish day of assembly. Those already Christians met on the first day of the week for their own distinctive service (Ac. 20: 7). In order to reach the Jews Paul wisely made use of their day, as missionaries among the Jews still do. Third, "he reasoned with them from the Scriptures." Nothing else has the power to convince, convict and convert and regenerate men than the Word of God has (Eph. 6: 17; Jer. 23: 29; 2 Tim. 3: 15-17; Jas. 1: 18; 1 Pet. 1: 23; Luke 8: 11).

In his preaching, Paul emphasized three points: (1) The Christ must suffer. Why the Christ must suffer, we are told in Isa. 53: 6; Matt. 20: 28; 26: 28; Heb. 9: 22; Jno. 19: 36, 37; He must suffer because we have sinned, and are therefore under the curse of the broken law of God (Gal. 3: 10), and He must suffer even unto death by crucifixion to redeem us from that curse by taking the curse upon Himself Gal. 3: 13). He must become sin on our behalf in order that we may become the righteousness of God in Him (2 Cor. 5: 21). (2) The Christ must "rise again from the dead." This, too, he proved from the Old Testament as Peter did on Pentecost; (3) That "this Jesus whom I proclaim unto you is the Christ." There are many in these days who wish to substitute some other Jesus from the One whom Paul preached, some Jesus of their own conception and not the actual historic Jesus.

If we do not accept this Jesus whom Paul preached as the Christ, an awful weight of guilt rests upon us (Ac. 2: 34-37; 3: 22, 23). Paul set an example in what he preached worthy of all initiation by modern missionaries and preachers. Politics in Thessalonica were in a bad enough way, but Paul did not teach politics, nor reform. He went at the root of things. God blessed this kind of preaching, "Some of them believed" (cf. 1 Thes. 1: 5). This is the usual result when the pure gospel is preached in the power of the Holy Spirit. In the epistle which Paul wrote to them later we get a very charming picture of them (1 Thes. 1: 6-10). Those who believed threw in their lot with Paul and Silas; true converts always seek the society of other Christians. But the gospel caused division as well as union in Thessalonica; union of believers, division between believers and the world. Paul's success aroused the envy of the Jews: every successful preacher must expect to be envied by smaller men. There was much truth in the charge brought against Paul and Silas (v. 6); for no other man ever did as much to "turn the world upside down" as this man Paul. There is great need, to-day of preachers who turn things upside down and thus get them right side up. They accused him too of "saying that there is another king, one Jesus." He did say that and it needs to be said again and again.

II The Gospel Victorious, 1 Thes. 1: 2-8.
A church was fashioned out of the raw material of the pagans of Thessalonica, as they were converted under the effective preaching of Paul (v. 1). After they were regenerated by the Holy Spirit they lived nobly and true for Christ (Eph. 4: 22-24). Wherever the plan of God's salvation is allowed to work it produces the same result. What is needed to change people is not external aid and material. They need a new heart (Heb. 8: 10-12). This is what makes us Christians. Think of these former pagans of Thessalonica, now being complimented by Paul for (1) "works of faith", (2) "labor of love", (3) "patience of hope on our Lord Jesus Christ" (v. 3). Why were they so zealous and faithful? Because they knew their "election of God." Elected to what? Read Romans 8: 28-34. It means that these former pagans now knew they were born of God and therefore the eternal children of God (Jno. 1: 12, 13; 1 Jno. 3: 1, 2; Rom. 9: 8).

Now, Paul recapitulates the wonderful effect of the preaching of the Gospel in Thessalonica (v. 5). It was not in "word only but also in power." Indeed! How we would have liked to participate in that great revival. This is the way the Gospel works, when it is carried into the strongholds of sin and Satan. The results begat "much assurance." That is how to get assurance. Get some zeal and put the Gospel to work. Gods wants it spread. These Thessalonians soon developed into saints. True, they had to learn the hard way, for they suffered (v. 6). But through it all they knew Jesus more and more. It became a revival that spilled over into the surrounding country. The Gospel would do the same to-day if God's people would believe it with like zeal (Rom. 1: 16; Ac. 4: 31; 5: 40-42).

Supply Information On Latest Research

Reconstruction Department Service Informs Canadians of Developments

OTTAWA (CP)—Latest discoveries of scientific workers in Canada and throughout the world are being transplanted into Canadian factories through the reconstruction department's technical information service.

Established last year to form a link between scientists and manufacturers the service has already handled about 1,000 enquiries. It will tackle almost anything from finding new sources of raw materials to reporting on latest developments in technical processes or the patent situation. All the service asks from the enquirer is full information on what he is looking for. Unless special investigations are found necessary the service is free.

The branch employs eight specialists in such fields as chemistry, mathematical physics, metallurgy, biology and several branches of engineering. Most of them can read two or three languages and once the hunt starts, they delve into the scientific records several countries if necessary.

This small group is backed up by regional representatives scattered across the country who can make closer contact with the people seeking the information. As the files build up it is being found that some questions now being asked have already been investigated and information can be provided from the records.

The branch co-operates with such groups as the Ontario Research Foundation, Manitoba Industrial Development Board and the British Columbia Industrial and Scientific Research Council. Help is frequently sought from the National Research Council or from the experts of some government department.
