

POETRY OF EARTH

The poetry of earth is never dead; When all the birds are faint with the hot sun, And hide in cooling trees, a voice will run From hedge to hedge about the new-mown mead; This is the grasshopper's — he takes the lead In summer luxury — he has never done With his delights, for when tired out with fun He rests at ease between some pleasant weed, The poetry of earth is ceasing never: On a lone winter evening, when the frost Has wrought a silence from the stove there shrills The cricket's song, in warmth increasing ever, And seems to one in drowsiness half lost, The grasshopper's among some grassy hills.

The Milton Flour Mills will be shut down for three weeks while the new water wheels are put in.

A. S. Chisholm, Arthur Hillmer and W. H. Crankrite of Oakville returned home Tuesday evening after spending two days shooting in the vicinity of Milton and the mountain. They were quite successful, bringing home 15 rabbits and three foxes.

Rev. D. W. Snider of Milton preached at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Brampton last Sunday morning and evening.

Walter Lindsay Jr., one of Milton's promising young men left for Manitoba on Monday, having secured a situation at Brandon.

The Young People's Association of Knox Church presented a tableaux in the Town Hall Friday evening. The costumes were designed principally by Mrs. T. G. Matheson and the posing superintended by J. A. Cockburn, the result being artistic and beautiful. Songs were sung by Miss Lizzie Stagg, Rev. A. Mahoffy and Mr. Deacon. Misses Lawrence and Bennett played a piano duet, W. F. Dewar a well rendered cornet solo and the orchestra played a number of selections.

EFFICIENT UTILIZATION OF FEED

"It is doubtful if the poultry industry ever faced a more acute feed situation than that prevailing at the present time. The most efficient use of the available supplies is vital to the success of our present production program," says Dr. F. N. Marcellus of the Poultry Department, Ontario Agricultural College.

"Conservation of supplies, both grain and concentrates," the Doctor continues, "is not only a question of avoiding loss through spillage, rats, mice and careless handling of feeds, but feeding to get the maximum returns from the feed fed."

"It is a well established fact that a flock giving better than average production will use from 60 to 75 per cent. of its feed for body maintenance. This requirement comes first and egg production depends upon this normal condition. Feed supplied in excess of maintenance requirements in quantity and quality, is utilized by the birds to produce eggs. If the quantity or quality is only sufficient for maintenance of birds, or worse, below that requirement, the feed used is largely wasted and the flock is a bill of expense."

"There is still a very definite shortage of proteins, both animal and vegetable. Any home supplies of skim milk or buttermilk, or clean, wholesome animal flesh should be used where available. Alfalfa hay, clover leaves, ground peas, fed alone, or in the feed mixture, will help the short protein supply and perhaps keep up the production to a profitable level."

"In some districts grains are also in short supply, possibly because of the difficulties encountered in moving western grain East. You can help this situation by using locally grown grains to the maximum."

"It is very important, not only to conserve feed by avoiding waste in helping out the present feed shortage, but it is good business on your part in developing increased efficiency in feeding practice. If you are going to carry on with a flock of laying breeding hens, use a diet properly and efficiently balanced and then feed it in such a way and in sufficient quantity to produce the maximum result."

SKIM MILK

Pound for pound, skim milk contains as much protein, a little more carbohydrate and as much calcium, phosphorus, iron, the B vitamins and vitamin C as whole milk. Nutrition authorities at Ottawa suggest, therefore, that when the budget won't stretch to whole milk for the whole family, skim milk provides an excellent and healthful substitute in part.

SUNDAY, MARCH 2nd

THE DRAWING POWER OF CHRIST

Golden Text.—I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto myself. Jno. 12: 43.

Lesson Text.—Jno. 12: 12-16, 20-32.

Time—Saturday, April 1, A.D. 30. Place—Jerusalem.

Exposition — I. Triumphant Entry into Jerusalem, 12: 12-16.

Leaving the home of His three friends at Bethany, Jesus soon came to Bethpage. At that point on His journey to Jerusalem He sent two of His disciples on a trying errand. They were to find an ass tied at a certain place and her colt with her. They were to loose them without asking anyone's permission and bring them to Him to whom all things belonged, with no other explanation than "The Lord hath need of them" (Matt. 21: 3). This was a real trial of faith, but these disciples proved themselves faithful by doing precisely what the Master told them to do (Matt. 21: 6). This is the supreme test of discipleship (Jno. 15: 14). They found everything just as Jesus said it would be (Luke 19: 32). The way in which Jesus entered Jerusalem riding on the colt accompanying the mother was an exact and literal fulfilment of Zech. 9: 9. This shows with what minute literalness Christ has fulfilled the prophecies that have been already fulfilled.

II. "We would see Jesus" 20-23.

There was probably more than mere curiosity in the request of these Greeks, but it is not likely that they realized its full significance. On our really seeing Jesus depends our salvation, eternal life, gladness and our likeness to Him (Jno. 3: 15; 6: 40; 20: 2; 2 Cor. 3: 18). We can see Him in the Word by the teaching of the Holy Spirit and in the Lord's Supper (Jno. 5: 39; 16: 14; 1 Cor. 11: 26, 29). Alas, that there are so many quite unlike these awakened Greeks; they cannot say "We would see Jesus." These Greeks came to Philip, seemingly, because he was not so strict a Jew as some other members of the apostolic company, or, perhaps, because he was of Bethsaida and had a Greek name. Their request suggested to Jesus the time when the Gentiles would come to Him—the Jews having rejected Him. But before this was possible, the middle wall of partition between Jew and Greek must be removed by His atoning death (Eph. 2: 13-16). Their coming foreshadowed His own coming glorification through death (vs. 23, 24; ch. 17: 1, 5, 10; 13: 31, 32). The cross itself was a manifestation of Christ's glory for there is nothing else so divine as love (1 Jno. 4: 7-10; Jno. 3: 16). But Jesus referred here primarily to the glory beyond death, the glory that was coming to Him through death (cf. 13: 1, 3; Phil. 2: 6-11 Heb. 12: 2).

III. The Power of the Cross, 24-32.

If we set our hearts upon our own lives, we shall lose them, but if our lives are nothing to us in comparison with Christ (Matt. 16: 24), then we shall keep our lives unto life eternal. Anyone who wishes to serve Christ must be ready to follow wherever He leads. The path to glory is the cross. This was the path Jesus trod, and it is the path everyone else must tread if they would bear fruit and receive the glory that comes from God. He went to Gethsemane and Calvary, and all who follow Him must take the same road. But if we follow Him to Gethsemane and Calvary now, we shall follow Him also to glory hereafter. Where He is, there shall we also be (v. 26; Jno. 17: 24; 2 Tim. 2: 12; Rev. 3: 21). It is worth suffering for and dying for to be with Him (2 Cor. 5: 8; Phil. 1: 23; 2 Cor. 4: 17 Rom. 8: 18). Not only will we be with Him hereafter, if we serve Him now but furthermore, the Father Himself will honor us. Is it not a wonderful thought that the great God shall honor us? The ways in which the Father will honor us are manifold and, for the most part, beyond our present comprehension (Jno. 14: 21, 24; 17: 22, 23; 1 Jno. 3: 2; Col. 3: 4).

Up to v. 27 the glorious side of His death had occupied the mind of Jesus; now for a moment the horror of it sweeps over His consciousness. And his soul is stirred to its depths with agony (cf. Matt. 26: 38; Luke 22: 44). But though this did not cause Him to waver one moment from His purpose the pain of His heart might prompt Him to cry "Father, save me from this hour." He will not do it. Indeed, for this very cause had He come to this hour (cf. Phil. 2: 6-8). What a lesson for us when we draw back from the Gethsemane and Calvary that lie in our path! Instead of "Save me" the prayer that ascends from Jesus' lips is "Father, glorify Thy name!" He seeks not His own deliverance from suffering but the Father's glory though that means His crucifixion. Have we, also, such a supreme desire for God's glory that we wish Him to glorify His name, though that involves crucifixion for us?

MEAT NOT ENOUGH

Meat and meat alternates are the most costly food items, yet nutrition surveys in two provinces revealed to national health authorities that nearly all the children surveyed were getting ample amounts of meat. On the other hand vegetables, except for potatoes, were neglected by almost one half.

Nutrition experts point out that vegetables, particularly the vivid green and yellow ones, contain a variety of vitamins and minerals essential to well rounded diets, and urge parents to encourage children to eat vegetables.

The only safe way . . .

Never touch a fallen Wire!

Wind, snow and sleet break down electric wires sometimes in spite of every precaution. Shock or severe burns can result from touching such a wire. Never touch a fallen wire.

Warn children not to go near fallen wires . . . but do not risk a demonstration by trying to move one out of the way. It can be fatal! Remember these three things if you discover an electric wire on the ground or dangerously low:

1. Do not touch the wire under any circumstances.
2. Stay on guard and keep everyone away until Hydro men arrive.
3. Have your nearest Hydro office notified at once.

Everything possible is done to keep Hydro wires safe in your community. Some things . . . winter storms and human folly . . . are beyond control. When these things occur, Hydro asks your co-operation in being careful and in warning others. By doing so you may save a life.

THE RED CROSS

CARRIES ON

Our men and women back from the world battlefields often tell how the Red Cross was there to aid and comfort them—oftentimes to save their lives. Now the Red Cross asks those who extended such solid support during the war years, to help keep the Red Cross strong in peace.

Today there are thousands of sick and disabled veterans who need the con-
