Guiding in Milton

The Girl Guides are at camp, and what fun they are having. There are over 25 girls under canvas for ten days, these girls will do all the cooking, dish-washing, wood and water carrying and have a sanitation detail.

The first three or four days in camp nothing seemed to be well-organized but with Sunday and the awaited visits from parents being over, something like a well-adjusted camp is beginning to show.

There are four tents pitched for the girls and each day the girls in each tent have special duties. One group of girls become cooks for a whole day while each of the other tent-groups take care of the other duties.

Camp life begins at 7.00 o'clock in the morning when the cooks for the day are called up to begin their duties. At 7.30 reveille sounds for the rest of the camp. After flag raising at 7.55, breakfast is on, and hearty appetites soon dispose of the huge kettle of porridge, the stacks of bread the bacon and eggs and several bottles of milk. Milk is delivered daily and as evidence that the girls get plenty to drink, 11 quarts or thereabouts disappear like magic, for just one meal.

As in Army camps, the tent sides are rolled up each morning for airing, and at tent inspection about 10.30 each morning the tents are tidy, with beds rolled up and placed neatly around the sides of the bell tents.

When the morning duties are over, there is an hour of instruction, then a swim at 11.00. And that swim. The creek has been dredged out to provide a good sized pool, in which all the girls have plenty of room to move about and do some swimming. At least one of the Guiders is always on duty at the pool and a general counting of heads goes on mentally while the girls splash around, play with tire tubes, water balls, etc., and generally have an uproarious time. The noise is at times almost ear-splitting to those on the bank but the girls have a wonderful time.

Strict discipline must be maintained at all times to protect the health and well-being of the girls who have now learned that the earlier and better their duties are performed, the longer they will have for play.

Meals are always adequate and well-planned menus made out for certain branches of Canada's Army were sent to the Guiders from Dominion Headquarters long before Camp. With these to help the Guiders plan the meals, all the minerals, vitamins and calories are incorporated in the three meals daily. The bed-time snack is an extra.

Dish-washing goes apace as the girls sing lustily as they wash, rinse, dry and stack the dishes for the next meal. It is a revelation to see how quickly and expertly things can be done in a camp with judicious handling on the part of the Guiders.

Some of the parents will be wondering about flies and mosquitoes. Flies are controlled so far as meals are concerned by keeping the camp grounds free from refuse. Pits are dug daily and dish water, left overs, etc., are buried. During the campfire, at night, one of the Guiders makes the rounds of the tents with a DDT bomb which effectively disposes of annoying pests, and the odor has completely dispersed by the time the girls are ready for bed.

An afternoon rest period of an hour and a half prepares the girls for their afternoon dip at three o'clock. Hikes, nature hunts and craft instruction are part of the daily program in addition to the duties the girls perform.

After supper and dishes are out of the way, campfire is held as soon as the beds are unrolled and prepared for the night. Frequently, as a reward for good behaviour, the Guiders are allowed a pre-bed swim again. On these occasions, the Guiders all stand on the bank playing flashlights on the bobbing heads in the pool to make sure that no accidents occur. This after their bed-time snack rounds out a very full day.

On Friday last, the Acton Guides visited in Camp which swelled the numbers to 37.

On Sunday, July 13th, the Reverend Gordon Porter held a short service on the camp grounds. This was held in a grove of elms with benches placed in the shape of a horseshoe. The girls very much enjoyed this service and it has been of great benefit to all.

The story of the Good Samaritan which Mr. Porter chose to read to the girls was the same passage read to them at their Sunday flag-raising and the Guiders were pleased to see the looks of recognition on the girls' faces. That little bit of regular Sunday worship brought a sense of peace and well-being to the whole camp. On Monday, the spirit of restlessness that had prevailed for the first few days, seemed to have completely disappeared. The Guiders feel that this was due in large part to that quiet half hour among the trees when they sang the hymns they knew, listened again to a passage of Scripture and had prayer together in Nature's church. Camp will continue (weather permitting) until Saturday, July 19th.

Karl Marx, the German philosopher died in London in 1883, and was buried in Highgate Cemetery.

Service Petitions Received at Meeting of Trafalgar Council

By-Laws Passed to Levy Rates and Transfer Tax Sale Property

The regular meeting of the Trafalgar Township Council was held in the Township Hall on July 7th at 1 p.m. with all members present, and the Reeve presiding.

Passed for payment was a statement of accounts amounting to $2201.62, and Road Voucher No. 6 which amounted to $1493.40.

The Bronte Horticultural Society was authorized to receive a grant of $10.00 from Council.

Petitions under the Local Improvement Act for storm sewers and water-remains on Truman Ave. and the Queen Elizabeth Highway were forwarded to the Township Engineer for his report. Plans of Kent Gardens Survey submitted by W. H. Armstrong, and the plan of Morden Park Subdivision submitted by S. C. Morden, were approved by Council.

It was agreed that the Road Superintendent be instructed to see that the Township Roadside trees are protected from unnecessary destruction by Telephone or Hydro Companies.

The following By-laws were read as required and passed: No. 607, to levy rates for 1947 to meet general expenses of the Township; No. 606, to sell and convey property purchased at a tax sale; No. 607, to impose a percentage charge on all unpaid taxes by a certain date.

Council adjourned to meet at the call of the Reeve.

Better health in infancy mostly accounts for increased longevity in Canada.

DIVE FOR SAFETY

Unless you can dive, when you go in for a swim, you should certainly hold your nose as you take to the water feet-first for, says the health experts, water forced up into the nostrils can carry infection to nose, throat and sinuses. Man isn't like the duck, which can close its nostrils under water. And, unlike the duck, human beings haven't that special eyelid which protects the eyes under water, so swimmers should try to see when submerged as rarely as possible.
