

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

The glove compartment is like a woman's purse. It usually needs to be cleaned out. Now is a good time to remove those bottles of sunburn lotion that you used this summer and get ready for winter. Here's what your glove compartment should contain for cold weather driving:

- (1) Bottle of hand lotion for chapped hands.
 - (2) Pair of wool lined leather driving gloves which can be used by the whole family and a pair of outside gloves for brushing off snow, putting on chains, etc.
 - (3) Plastic ice scraper and a small shaker, filled with salt, to loosen ice on the windshield. (Cover the top of the shaker with tape to prevent salt leaking).
 - (4) Sun glasses for driving in snow.
 - (5) Small flashlight and whisk broom; ear muffs, pocket size pack of tissues, and provincial and regional maps.
- Don't let your glove compartment become a "catch-all." Only put in the things you really need.

Local Exhibitors Win Royal Awards

For the second consecutive year, Dr. Hector I. Astingo, who maintains a Rosafe Herd of Holsteins both in his native Argentina and at Brampton, Ont., won both the Premier Exhibitor awards at the Royal Winter Fair. However, his ambition of having a Royal Grand Champion still eluded him as Spring Farm Juliette, shown by J. M. Fraser, of Streetsville, Ont., took the Female Grand Championship and Rockwood Rocket Tone, owned by the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association, was named Grand Champion Bull for the third year in succession.

This was one of the greatest Holstein shows ever held at the Royal, with superlative quality running right down to the bottom of the different classes. No less than 113 exhibitors brought out 279 head exhibited. Adding strength and spice was an entry of 33 head from U.S. breeders.

The highlight of the female class was the awarding of her third Royal Senior and Grand Championship to Juliette, who had previously headed the dry Aged Cows, over Woodyglen Queen Mazie, the winner of a great class of milking Aged Cows for Forsgate Farms, Jamesburg, N.J. The Reserve Grand Champion for Forsgate was bred by W. W. Thompson, Hornby. This was Juliette's tenth consecutive year on the tanbark during which she had been nominated for All-Canadian each year, and has won six All-Canadian and two Reserve All-Canadian awards.

Predict Surpluses Upset Production

Over 536 Forums reported their findings on the topic "The Challenge of Dairy Substitutes," which was discussed on Monday evening, November 16.

The forums were asked if dairying were seriously injured by the widespread use of imitation dairy products, what effect would this have on the other branches of Canadian agriculture and on the urban consumer.

85 per cent. of the forums stated that farmers would seek revenue from other branches of agriculture, upsetting the balance of production and causing embarrassing surpluses. 23 per cent. agreed loss of natural fertilizer would lower soil fertility causing poor crops. Because dairy farmers use large amounts of grain, 16 per cent. of the forums thought the widespread use of imitation dairy products would affect the western grain growers.

"If dairying were seriously injured by the use of imitation dairy products, there would not be the same demand for coarse grain. Surpluses would occur creating chaos all along the line. It would not be profitable to produce too much beef. Dairy cows leave more fertility in the soil, thus aiding in conservation," said Pinegrove S.S. 4 of Esqueving in Halton County.

40 per cent. of the forums agreed the farmers' reduced buying power would affect the prosperity of the urbanite. 30 per cent. thought the widespread use of imitation dairy products would cause unemployment among those connected with the dairy business. 39 per cent. believed a shortage of milk, butter and cheese would lower the health standard of the consumer.

The forums believed the challenge of dairy substitutes could be met by more advertising, not using substitutes themselves, producing a better grade of milk and butter as cheaply as possible.

SPEND WAGES ON DAIRY PRODUCTS, NOT BEER, SOME FORUMS SUGGEST

"The Challenge of Dairy Substitutes," the topic for farm forum discussion for November 16, did not find the attendance at forums as large in Halton county as at the previous broadcasts, but judging from the reports, it proved to be a very interesting and timely topic. No doubt the Royal Winter Fair was responsible for the lowered attendance.

If dairying were seriously injured by the widespread use of imitation dairy products, what effect would this have (a) on the other branches of Canadian agriculture, such as grain, livestock other than dairy cattle, poultry, fruit and vegetables?

In the first place, groups responded, it would cause a heavy surplus, which we have plenty right now, and prices would drop lower than they are to-day. The heavy hens; 2 electric brooders; feeders, fountains, etc.

HAY, GRAIN, ETC.—80 ton of mixed hay, field baled; 30 ton of corn on the cob; 1 ton pop corn; 30 bus. soya beans; small quantity of clover seed.
