THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Now is the season that we look for freezing facilities to store packages of garden produce—a home freezer or a locker at a Freezing Plant. This modern method of storing many foods retains true flavour and goodness. Then too the preparation of produce for freezing is a simplified and perfected way of processing. Yet, it must be remembered that freezing does not sterilize—the frozen fruit or vegetable will only be as good as the fresh product.

Briefly the processing method is the careful trimming and washing, then scalding two to four minutes followed by rapid chilling two to four minutes. The packaging is done in moisture and vapour-proof boxes. Air is pressed from the top of each inner envelope which is then sealed with a warm iron. Packages should be taken to locker plant within 4 hours, having packed them in a box padded well with newspapers on all sides.

TAKE A TIP

- Select only fully ripened, firm fruit or vegetable.
- Cull out any bruised or too ripe produce to use fresh or make into a preserve for relish.
- Prepare, then wash in cool water with care.
- Let fruit drain on trays lined with paper towelling, keeping food cool. Then slice fruit or pour directly into moisture-vapour-proof containers. Carefully add cool syrup (1 cup sugar to 6 cups water) to cover fruit. Try to exclude air from each package and seal top with warm iron or sticky tape. Label.
- All vegetables are sorted and washed thoroughly, then cut according to size required. It is necessary to scald in boiling water using only sufficient to cover. Time this blanching period exactly using cheesecloth or a wire basket so the food can be transferred quickly into ice cold water. Chill thoroughly then package the vegetable in boxes using either layers of dry salt or a brine solution (1 tsp. table salt to 1 cup water). Exclude as much air as possible. Heat-seal the package if possible. Label.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. H. J. asks: Have you ever had blackberries turn red when frozen?

Answer: Experts tell us that blackberries which are not fully ripe may turn red and become sour.
