

Road Repairs Chief Discussion Topic at County Council Session

county would pay 25 per cent. or up to $750 toward the raising of this road, with the townships paying the balance. Deputy-reeve Linham, Esquensing, said his council was prepared to call for tenders immediately as it was Esquensing's share of the road to maintain.

Manor Overcrowded

Council approved a resolution calling for a consultation with the architects in an attempt to find an economical method of providing additional space at the Halton Centennial Manor. Reeve C. A. Martin, Milton, informed members the board was experiencing an overcrowding condition in some sections of the Manor.

A by-law to regulate the distance buildings and structures are to be located from the road allowance on county roads was referred back to the committee for further study. The by-law calls for all buildings to be erected 68 feet from the centre line on most roads while on the more travelled roads the distance required will be 75 feet. Some members felt this would be a hardship to owners of buildings closer to the road allowance but controlled by a registered plan.

On recommendation of the inspector of prisons, council approved an increase of the jail surgeon's salary from $570 per annum to $700. Council shelved for this year a proposal to have a new jail kitchen constructed. Reeve William Anderson, chairman of the building committee, said the matter of planning an addition to the county buildings should be given careful consideration. He recommended the question be laid over for next year's council to consider. It was explained that for many years a portion of a jail corridor had served as kitchen for the institution.

Beautify Buildings

Reeve Anderson reported considerable thought had been given to a program of beautification of Victoria Park and the exterior of the county buildings. He explained it was considered to close off Brown street between Mary and King streets. Bell street on the west could be widened with a central entrance leading to the county buildings. Some trees would have to be removed and the county engineer is prepared to draft a sketch-plan of the project.

Reeve C. A. Martin suggested the adjoining streets, King and Mary, also be widened to provide for additional parking.

"The committee considered that suggestion," deputy-reeve Norton, Georgetown, stated. "There will be a drastic removal of trees," Reeve Martin countered as council approved a resolution authorizing the engineer to prepare a draft-sketch of the proposal. Council adjourned to meet October 11.

ROOFING IS BEING COMPLETED on the new J. M. Denyes school and this week window glass was being installed in an effort to close in the building as soon as possible to allow completion of inside trim despite approaching winter weather. The foreman indicated the construction firm hoped to have the building completed by the end of November but this was contingent on the arrival of materials.

Learn of Missions in South America

The September meeting of the W.M.S. and W.A. groups of the United church was held at the home of Mrs. Bruce Coverdale. The president, Mrs. H. Coulson, had charge of the worship service and program for the W.M.S. and Mrs. E. C. Foster took the chapter of the Study Book on South America, which dealt with the methods of bringing Christianity to that continent. Leprosariums, agricultural schools, radio and planes were a few of those mentioned.

A short business meeting for the W.A. followed and committees were appointed for the Presbyterian W.A. presidents' dinner and the annual turkey supper. After the meeting closed with the theme prayer the hostess served a dainty lunch, and a social hour was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Coulson and family attended the wedding of Mr. Beverley Bryant, Mountsberg, to Miss Joyce Beckett, Hagersville, at Hagersville on September 2.

OFFICIALS SEE DEMONSTRATION OF SANITARY LAND FILL, DISPOSAL

Members of council and town officials viewed a demonstration of garbage disposal on Tuesday at the south end of the race track in the Agricultural grounds. Presented by the Allis Chalmers firm, the demonstration featured a bulldozer-type of machine with a scoop of one yard capacity.

The demonstration was to illustrate the advantages of the sanitary land fill method of garbage disposal. The low section just off the end of the race track was taken to illustrate this method's advantages over the open type dumping presently being used by the town.

The machine scooped out a trench approximately three feet deep, with a ramp type end. The garbage truck backed into the trench, dumped the load and the bulldozer went into action rolling over it to compact the garbage. As the eight-ton machine compressed the refuse more was shoved on top and a little dirt added to mix with the garbage. As the garbage was all dumped and compacted, the earth scooped from the original trench was spread on top and not a trace of garbage was visible. The only apparent change in the scene was an area the width of the trench raised about four feet higher.

Advantages of this type of dumping are reported as the elimination of odor and vermin since all garbage is compacted tightly and immediately covered with earth.
