LOWVILLE
Problems Different But Solutions Same
The problems of the farm family of today may be different to those of 25 years ago but the solutions remain basically the same, was the conclusion that the Limestone Farm Forum reached at their regular meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. McArthur on Monday evening. The interest in the discussions of this group has always been keen but this week the topic 'Bringing up the Farm Family' brought forth an animated discussion that developed into many profound opinions, which stimulated thought, and it is hoped, will lead into action projects that will improve community and family living. It was generally felt that family worship does much to offset any problems that may arise when raising a family and gives a better foundation for sympathetic understanding and guidance.

After a short business period a few games of Bingo were enjoyed and after a delicious lunch Tom Ramshaw moved a vote of thanks to the hosts.

Conducts Service
Dr. A. J. W. Myers, Toronto, conducted the service in the United church on Sunday morning when the Sacrament of Holy Communion was observed. Dr. Myers' fine sermon left much food for thought, when he reminded the congregation that God's plan of creation can be used as an example when we decide to live an active Christian life. Through interaction with our fellow-man, we can co-operate to bring about perfect harmony in everything we undertake toward the coming of God's Kingdom on earth.

Many of the Lowville congregation joined with the Lowville-Zimmerman Young People in their splendid service on Sunday evening at Zimmerman.

MORE OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUTH OF TODAY

The Mount Nemo Farm Forum met at Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCay's on Monday night with 33 present. The topic for discussion was 'Bringing up the Farm Family'. The first question was 'What are the different ways farm families bring up their children today, compared with 25 years ago?' The following are some ways the forum thought of. There are more opportunities offered to the boys and girls today; they get a high school education, and along with this, the parents are not nearly as strict as they used to be.

What are the most important problems faced in bringing up a farm family and how can they be solved within the family, or with the community help? The biggest problem today is keeping the farm boys and girls interested in the farm, the group decided. The farmer has to cope with the high wages offered by the factories and the opportunities the family has for advancement.

Euchre was played; winners were Mrs. M. Colling, Gladys McCay, Cecil Patterson, and Robert Coverdale.

LIGNY-DUFFERIN

Receives Ph.D.

He received his early education at Dufferin School, and later Milton High School. Dr. Brown is assistant in research at Vineland Horticultural Experimental Station, and in charge of the breeding and testing of small fruits. Congratulations John!

Miss Jean Irving of Toronto spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. C. Brown and family.

Mr. Albert Stoutenburg, London called on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Kirby and family of Erindale and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dredge were guests with Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Dredge.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Davenport visited in Toronto with Mr. and Mrs. Melmer. Mr. Melmer has just recently returned home from Sunnybrook Hospital after two months treatment, and is very much improved.

Parking around the County Court House on Wednesday morning was at a premium as Magistrate K. M. Langdon continued holding Oakville court in the county town.

The average value of a mink pelt to the Canadian fur farmer is under twenty dollars.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR
Sees Home Town On TV in Vancouver

Vancouver B.C., Jan. 17, 1955.
Dear Sir,
Just a line or two to advise you that I was enjoying my T.V. last evening and saw the National Film Board's half hour on my old home town, Milton. The talk of the mayor and others was very clear, also views of the town hall, Main St., post office and residences, many of which I recognized. I note with great pleasure the evidences of Milton's progress — more power to her!

Am enjoying the sunset of light overlooking English Bay — no snow as yet, but lots on the North shore mountains where the skiers go. From my windows I get a wonderful view taking in Point Atkinson, West Vancouver, North Vancouver and Stanley Park.

Yours truly,
J. H. Clements.
