

Local Breeder Off to Scotland To Judge Cattle

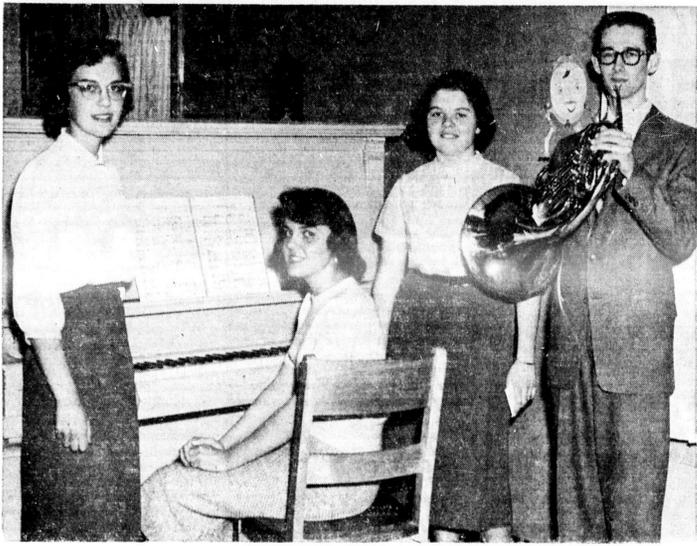

Reford W. Gardhouse of Milton has accepted the invitation of the Scottish Shorthorn Breeders Association to judge the 1958 Show and Sale at Perth, Scotland.

This will be the second occasion in recent years that Mr. Gardhouse has judged Perth. The last time was the "vintage" year 1952, when he was only 35 years of age and one of the youngest judges ever to officiate there.

One other Canadian has been so honored. He is J. Charles Yule of Calgary, Alta., who placed the awards there in 1948. Mr. Yule is also well known in livestock circles throughout America.

Mr. Gardhouse maintains one of the top herds of the breed near Milton. As well as being a director and executive member of the Canadian Shorthorn Association, he was elected president of the Joint Beef Breeds of Canada at their meeting held in London, Ont., in February this year.

During recent years, he has judged at most of the larger Canadian and U.S. shows, including the Chicago International; the National Show, Omaha, Neb.; the National Show, Des Moines, Iowa; the National Show, Denver, Col., 1957.

J. Murray Mahon President Of Children's Aid Society

J. Murray Mahon was named president of the Halton County Children's Aid Society when that group held its annual meeting in St. Paul's United church, Milton, on Thursday evening.

Sydney Childs was named vice-president; Mrs. J. I. Whitham, secretary and William Deans, treasurer.

Guest speaker Jack Finlay, managing director of the Children's Aid Society of Hamilton, reviewed the problems of child placement. He defined the best approach to the problem as "what would I want for my child if it was beyond my possibility to provide it in the confines of our home."

Outlining the problems, he referred to the difficulty of parents' decision to allow children for placement; the need for a family circle; the emotional problem of actually separating the children and parents; and the need for continuing efforts of the social worker after placements have been made.

The speaker also stressed the need for good public relations programs on the part of societies, emphasizing that the work of the society is as much in the field of prevention as any medical service.

"It is economically sound to keep the child in his own home as well as being sound social work practice," he stressed in pointing up the importance of the preventative work of the society.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. D. O'Sullivan and thanked by W. J. Cheesman.

Dr. H. V. Cranfield, retiring president of the society, in his address, reviewed the recent action of the Department in placing older and handicapped children and noted the success of the campaign. He noted the Halton society had joined in the action of the department, emphasizing the strength of the nation depends on family unity.

Director G. F. Thompson visualized the need for another social worker soon, in presenting his report, pointing out the population of the county had grown from 28,000 when he began the work to its present 68,000.

In reporting on the wards of the society, the director cited the problems of the unmarried mother, and broken homes as the two main reasons for child placements.

Speaking on the problem of broken homes, the director noted that "in many cases the parents lack maturity and an ability to handle finances. They're simply not big enough for the job."

Donations from Orenda and Avro Employee Welfare Agencies were praised as making it possible for the society to extend its family welfare services.

The director reported 57 applications for adoptions with 21 placements being arranged or an average of three applications for every adoption. Dealing briefly with the adoption of older children, he emphasized, "Each child must be considered on its own. It's a terrific adjustment not only for the child but also for the family."

Unanimously added to the list of Honorary Life Members of the Society were J. M. Denyes and Dr. H. V. Cranfield.

Retiring directors were Robert G. Mason, Mrs. M. J. Brown, Don C. McCreedy and Robert Marshall.

The treasurer's report, presented by Mrs. R. Powell in the absence of W. Deans, indicated a total budget of $43,606.51, with an operating deficit of $1,721.98. Largest expenditure was for board, clothing, supervision, school supplies, medical, dental and hospital expenses for children in foster homes totalling $32,036.51.

The following directors were appointed for 1957: Acton, Mrs. J. E. Whitham, Mrs. A. J. Orr; Bronte, Rev. W. Sherwin; Burlington, Mrs. Stewart McLaughlin, W. J. Cheesman; Georgetown, William Deans, Rev. A. J. Calder; Milton, J. W. Higgins, E. W. Foster; Oakville, Mrs. Hugh Pullen, Mrs. F. C. Bowden; Esquesing township, Mrs. Leslie Wills, Mrs. Wilfred Bird; Nassagaweya township, J. Murray Mahon, Omar K. Van Sickle; Nelson township, Mrs. Velma Norris, Mrs. E. B. Clements; Trafalgar township, Harold Biggar, A. Walsom; county council representatives, Sydney Childs, Herbert C. Merry.

Rev. Lorne Graham gave the invocation prayer at the opening of the meeting and Mrs. M. Galloway expressed the thanks of the Society for the use of the church and to those who assisted.

Lunch was served by the Mr. and Mrs. Club at the conclusion of the meeting.

NOTICE

TO THE SUBSCRIBERS OF COLLIERS AND WOMEN'S HOME COMPANION MAGAZINES

The Crowell, Collier Publishing Company, have discontinued publishing the Colliers and Women's Home Companion magazines.

This happened before some of the orders placed through the Canadian Legion magazine drive in November, could be entered.

We have received word that all subscribers to Colliers magazine will receive a letter from the LOOK magazine giving a choice of a substitute magazine. All subscribers to Women's Home Companion will receive a letter from the Curtis Publishing Company giving them a choice of a substitute magazine.

Some subscribers have already received these letters, and others will receive them soon.

The Milton Branch 136, Canadian Legion, regrets very much any inconvenience to its supporters. The magazine campaign in the future will be handled by a Canadian company, THE CONSOLIDATED PRESS LIMITED, of Toronto.
