ience has shown

W. Riddell, D.C. the many disc while, though. injuries seen are ruptured discs. Surgery is not satisfactory and conservative treatment is now recommended (traction, manipulation, etc.). The greatest success in treatment of these cases has been achieved by Doctors of Chiropractic using Chiropractic Spinal Adjustive Procedures. Not only is the acute condition promptly relieved but the faulty spinal mechanics which predispose to disc injury can be corrected. Returning the spine to normal good posture will correct the injury, remove the nerve irritation and prevent recurrence in most cases. The proper treatment of disc injuries is essential to prevent Neuritis and progressive degeneration in the area of injury. If you suffer any back injury, see the Chiropractor first!
