LETTER TO THE EDITOR

His "Best Present" Hockey Attendance

The Editor,
The Canadian Champion,
Dear Sir:

To the Citizens of Milton:
Do you know that Building Boys is better than Mending Men?

Some people in Milton do know this, and as a result there are 200 boys playing hockey in Milton Arena every Saturday morning, supplied with uniforms and equipment by local service clubs and organized and led by private individuals who are glad to give their time and interest and know-how to your sons.

This is clean sport, and the boys get an excellent training in self-discipline, fair competition and sportsmanship. (When I was a boy, we played shinny on vacant lots or skated on the Thames River with little equipment and no supervision.)

You can take part in this valuable activity, have some fun and give your boy a Christmas present money can't buy. All you have to do is be there on a Saturday morning to watch your son play! This will mean more to him than words can express—don't ask me how I know but it is true.

On behalf of Milton Minor Hockey.

Sincerely,
Wm. G. Ridde! D.C.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

Energy Hearings

Hearings of Canada's royal commission on energy are to open in the West, probably at Edmonton. Their subject: the country's oil natural gas and pipeline industry.

Plans for the hearings—the first phase of a study to work out recommendations for a national energy policy—were outlined at a press conference last week by commission chairman Henry Borden.

The commission would deal first "with all matters connected with the oil, gas and pipeline industry" because gas and oil were dynamic factors in the Canadian economy, he said.

"We have coal, nuclear power, water power, oil, gas and pipeline to study," he said. "I think the commissioners are of the view one could not usefully seek evidence on all matters at one time."

He added that commission secretary J. F. Parkinson and counsel Arthur S. Pattillo would hold preliminary talks with government heads and industry representatives in Western Canada early in the new year.

Native of Halton Retires from O.N.R.

Archie Freeman, a native of Halton County, retired this week as general manager of the Ontario Northern Railway.

Mr. Freeman, who knows virtually all O.N.R. employees by their first names across the 400 miles between North Bay and James Bay, has served a few months more than 50 years.

He has helped it grow from a minor road serving Cobalt, Hailybury and New Liskeard to the multi-million dollar lifeline of some 200,000 square miles of the richest territory in Canada.

Mr. Freeman, born in Halton County, came to the north as a junior clerk in 1907. Timmins, Kirkland Lake and Noranda were yet to be discovered. The huge pulp and paper industry was unknown as he went to work in the railway's old office in the Transportation Building on North Bay's main street.

He is today the only survivor among employees who worked in that office.

In recent years Mr. Freeman has fostered interest in iron ore developments on Belcher Island, which he hoped would become another major source of traffic to the line.

Mrs. Mary Pettit Heads March Campaign Plans Now Under Way

Mrs. Mary S. Pettit, Milton's Chief Marching Mother for the March of Dimes "Mothers' March," announced today that plans for the giant one-hour "Blitz" campaign are well advanced. The town has been divided into 14 districts, each under a captain. Between 7 and 8 o'clock on the evening of Wednesday, January 29th, every home in the community will be visited by a Marching Mother, each of whom will visit from 10 to 15 homes in her own neighborhood.

Marching Mothers are asked to donate one hour of their time to complete the "Mothers' March." Last year, an army of over 100,000 Mothers marched for the March of Dimes, and in just one hour raised sufficient funds, to carry on the entire medical rehabilitation in Ontario, for a full year.

Mrs. Pettit named her committee members. They are Mrs. Barbara Durnan, Mrs. Margaret Bailey and Mrs. Audrey Brush.

Volunteers are asked to get in touch with any member of the Kinette Club.

Mrs. Pettit stated that funds are used in a complete program of rehabilitation of physically handicapped adults. The program includes hospitalization; necessary corrective procedures, provision of appliances such as braces and wheel-chairs, job training in a skill or profession suitable to the handicapped person. During the past two years, 596 persons have been rehabilitated by the March of Dimes at an average cost of $623.00 per patient, she stated.

"Service such as those developed by the March of Dimes are not available from any other source, except in the case of the Workmen's Compensation rehabilitation services for those whose injuries have been caused in the course of their jobs," she stated. "No other source of help exists for the group of physically handicapped adults now accepted for rehabilitation procedures by the March of Dimes," she added.

"We think that money spent on March of Dimes patients is a small amount to pay in making these handicapped persons independent of public welfare," she said. "To take a physically disabled person and make it possible for him to earn a living for himself and his family is not only a wonderful thing for the patient himself, it also makes a lot of sense to the community."

$12,000 Error Made On No. 25 Overpass

An error in design of an overpass near Burlington has cost Ontario taxpayers $12,000. Because of the error, the overpass sloped in the wrong direction.

The province's chief highway engineer W. A. Clarke, said yesterday the mistake had been made by an outside consultant. It was discovered three months ago when contractors began pouring cement.

The overpass carries No. 25 Highway over the Queen Elizabeth Way and is part of the approach system for the Burlington Skyway. The error did not delay construction of the skyway. Mr. Clarke attributed the error to confusion between what was west and what was east.

"Before the concrete was poured we detected the error. It was necessary to raise the level at one end and lower it at the other. This involved no waste of concrete."

Plans for the overpass, preliminary and final, had been submitted to department engineers as is customary with all work done by consultants and had been approved. Department engineers are usually only concerned with structural details. They check to determine if the bridge is strong enough and whether height allowances are correct.

The extra $12,000 was the cost of building up the approach with more rock and lowering it at the other end. Total cost of the project is about $2,000,000 of which the overpass accounted for $150,000.
