Sports Ramblings

With Bruce Hood

WELL AS MOST people know by now the great Gordie Howe was in the town of Milton Friday as a special guest of the minor hockeyists. With Red Kelly and scout Donny Graham, Gordie came here after a plane flight from New York where the Red Wings had played the previous night and had been beaten 5-0. The trio along with George Hood of the Rotary club and Art Snarr, chairman of the local minor hockey body, dined in the Milton Inn's exclusive dining room prior to going around the corner to the rink which was jammed with kids just waiting for the big moment.

Not knowing for sure who had come to town, whether it was Charlie Burns, Terry Sawchuck or who, we were wondering just who it would be when we were invited to go over and meet the distinguished guests. Herb Higgs, one of hockey's best boosters in town, and I went into the dining room and sure enough there they sat, two people who are admired by thousands and thousands across Canada and the U.S.A. and who you hear talked about over radio and TV and read about in the newspapers almost as much as you do the Prime Minister. We were introduced to the group and joined in the conversation which came from between the mouthfuls of food which the party was enjoying. Howe and Kelly polished off their T-bone steaks as if they were eating hamburger and showed that playing hockey in the N.H.L. sure gave them an appetite. Ridiculous as it may seem we have always held the two as well as all N.H.L. players in the highest esteem, as if they were some kind of gods and being able to sit down and talk to them one soon learned that they are ordinary human beings and two real swell everyday fellows to talk to.

WE WALKED BACK to the arena with Red Kelly and on the way he asked what size ice surface we had and how our team was doing and it made me think that here was a fellow, if a youngster were wanting to pick an idol, that would be the man to choose. Not because he had asked about our town but when you stop to think of the hundreds of small towns across the country pro hockey players must stop over in to be guest celebrities during their playing time, it's wonderful to think he would be interested at all.

The players were shown into the arena where they stepped into the midgets' dressing room for a word of confidence to the locals (which didn't help) and then they went upstairs to sign autographs for the youngsters who by this time were swelling the hallways to get near the pair. After making presentations and draws, signing autographs and doing some kibitzing the pair were thanked by Ken Dick, M.C. for the night, and they left at approximately 9.15 to return to Toronto to prepare for Saturday's game with the Leafs. (The visit to Milton didn't do anything exceptional for the Red Wings as they were again beaten and dropped into last place). Although as a youngster we always looked forward to meeting a professional hockey player some day, the idea at this time was not too appealing but when they arrived on the scene we were as delighted as the young set and so were the few oldsters who got in for the treasured autographs which they said were for a child at home or a brother. But we know the story.

TWO OF MILTON'S ENTRIES in Ontario playdowns are starting their playoffs this week with the Sport and Cycle juveniles already embroiled in a battle with Orangeville while the Milton Merchants are waiting for Friday night's game to decide the opposition for them in the Intermediate "B" Central group playoffs. A win by Milton could have them into third place and pitted against Georgetown while a Stouffville win would leave the locals in fourth spot for a go with Bradford. Either way it's quite a struggle. Tuesday the Juves played the second game of their series with Orangeville and tied the affair at one game apiece with the winner to be decided at Milton Arena this Tuesday night. Meanwhile it is likely the Merchants will start their playoffs next week also and so local fans are in for some terrific hockey action.

Georgetown's Junior "C" hockey club starts its playoffs this week and it would be interesting to know how Milton's Junior squad would have done in that Super Seven

IF YOUR CAR'S STOLEN . . . YOU'RE PROBABLY TO BLAME!

Whenever I read in the paper about someone's car being stolen I can't help but wonder if it wasn't through the owner's own carelessness. It constantly amazes me to see the way some drivers park this big investment of theirs and blissfully walk away leaving it wide open for any passing car thief or joy

Figures prove that of all your property, your car is most likely to be stolen. And it can be a costly and annoying experience, even if you are covered by insurance. Even though most stolen cars are recovered, they're often stripped and damaged.

To help protect your car against theft, or if it is stolen to assist the police in its quick recovery, here are a few safeguards to take.

1. Don't leave keys in an unattended car, even for a few 2. Always lock car doors, And make sure all windows are secured. 3. Never leave valuable articles where they can be seen. This is just inviting a break-in.

4. Place a hidden mark on your car - such as, under the dashboard. Then you'll be able to identify your car, even if the thief repaints it or changes the license number. 5. Notify the police at once if your car is stolen. Don't delay by first calling your family or insurance company. 6. Make sure you know your current license number.

Police can often spot stolen cars within minutes if they are given the license number right away.

By observing these rules you'll go a long way towards protecting your car against theft.

But if you want a real "steal" in a thoroughly reconditioned used car . . . just drop in and see us.
