POET'S CORNER

THE EASTER GIFT

My neighbor, Mr. Springfield, died,
While January winds blew cold,
Left suddenly his dear wife's side,
At thirty-eight years old.

I watched him hang the diapers out,
The afternoon before,
This happy husband, family man,
To be with them no more.

Sadness covered his little brick house,
And his garden hedge so neat,
Till today his little family saw
Spring flowers round their feet.

The bulbs with care he'd planted,
Were a gay and glad surprise,
For the wife and little children
Of a man in Paradise!

WINTER BROKEN

Spring is when winter's frost is crystal token, dropped in April's hands and broken. The village pond still has an ice flow.

Ontario Appeal Hits Michigans

Ontario, which already gets about 60 per cent. of Canada's entire tourist visitors, has an unlimited tourist future. Never has interest been so high in visiting Canada, at least so far as Michigan is concerned. And Michigan is one of the big tourist states. The others are New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Wisconsin.

One-half to three-quarter outdoor plywood is an ideal material

Watch Canada

According to a group of Michigan outdoor writers who discussed Ontario's future from a tourist standpoint with officials of the Department of Lands and Forests, the American sportsman is watching—with even more interest than are Canadians—some of the developments which will bring this about within the next five years.

Kendrick Kimball, veteran outdoors editor of the Detroit News, says: "The wide open spaces of Ontario, where the fisherman or hunter can travel for a week and see no one else, offer an irresistible appeal to the man from highly-populated Michigan."

NEW TOWER

A new landmark in the Kemptville area is a 200-foot steel radio tower erected by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. It is part of a project to expand the department's radio communication network in the district which has five radio-equipped patrol vehicles for forest fire control and other duties. The new tower is on a hill at the G. Howard Ferguson Forest Station just outside Kemptville and will be operated by remote control from the district office.

Alarmed

Help Bring Back Bluebirds

Many naturalists are becoming alarmed over the decline in numbers of nesting bluebirds. Once a common sight along country roads, bluebirds are now seldom seen in many parts of Southern Ontario except during migration. Several factors may have played a part in their apparent decline, says a report from the Declaration of Ontario Naturalists, based on reports from naturalists clubs across the province.

The bluebird is a cavity-nester, usually building its nest in an old woodpecker's hole, the rotted top of an old fence post or a crevice in a farm building. Modern farming methods eliminate many potential nest-sites — old orchards are cut down, wooden fence posts are replaced by metal ones and farm buildings are built with sheet metal. The bluebird, being an insect migrant, is often the victim of a late winter storm — sleet and freezing rain may kill untold numbers.

Fortunately the bluebird will readily accept man-made nest-boxes. A simple box — five inches square and eight inches high (inside measurements) with a one and one-half inch entrance hole cut six inches from the floor — will suffice. It is important that the entrance be only one and one-half inches in diameter as any larger diameter will admit the starling.

One-half to three-quarter outdoor plywood is an ideal material for boxes, but almost any wood may be used. A coat or two of stain or creosote will help preserve the wood. The box should be made with a slanted, hinged roof — to allow the rain to run off and to permit observation and cleaning. Suitable boxes may also be purchased.

for T.T. Richard Fortin scored two for Hull and Yves Saumure a single.

GROUSING

Ruffed grouse hunters in the Lindsay forest district will play an important role in grouse studies being carried out by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. Studies of age and sex ratio of the grouse kill are being utilized to obtain a better understanding of their population fluctuations. Hunters were asked to send in wings and tails from their birds to the district office of the department if they were unchecked in the field.

It wouldn't be practical for Imperial to divide its income dollar the way the people in our picture are doing. A more exact division is required, as you can see from the figures below.

Here's how Imperial's income dollar is divided

Last year, out of every dollar Imperial took in:

- 55 cents was spent for raw materials—mostly crude oil—and for freight, a big item in a big country.
- 25 cents went for costs of operating the company. This included wages and salaries for our 13,000 employees.
- 9 cents was for depreciation, money set aside to help pay for replacing worn-out equipment.
- 5 cents went to various taxes (not including provincial road taxes ranging from 10 to 18½ cents per gallon)
- 6 cents was left. But two of these had to be set aside for equipment to make new products and for expansion of things like refineries and service stations to meet the public needs.
- 4 cents was left for the shareholders—whose investment made the company possible.
