Local Version of Olympics Enjoyed by Park Children

Over 100 youngsters went to Rotary Park on Thursday of last week to compete in the park's version of the Olympics.

The children were divided up into three groups of 25 and each group was named after a different country. The size of the groups was continually changing as contestants dropped out and new entries arrived.

The teams, India, Canada and Australia, competed in such events as the discus throw, the javelin toss and the shot put. A chariot wheelbarrow race with plenty of thrills and spills finally wound up the day of activity.

One popular event of the day was the 100 yard dash. While the contestants were running up and down over the course getting prepared, the leaders were stringing marshmallows on the end of the string, in preparation for the event.

The 100 yard dash consists of a marshmallow at the end of a yard long string, and a participant grabs the string in his or her mouth and tries to arrive at the marshmallow first. The winner gets the marshmallow and points for the team.

The other events proved to be more interesting than anticipated. The boys who were preparing to show their physical prowess during the javelin throw were surprised when they were handed a straw and a tooth pick and told to blow.

The winning team after the day of competition was Canada and they received laurels and prizes donated by the Whitehouse Delicatessen and presented by Reeve Mrs. Mary Pettit. She also spoke briefly to the group, mentioning that the town council hopes to install a swimming pool in the near future. Candy was given to the rest of the competitors.

The park leaders felt that the day was a success but they did complain in that there was a problem of getting water for the children. They pointed out that the nearest fountain is in front of the town hall. Throughout the day, it was necessary to have different youngsters run back and forth between houses and the park to get the water in milk bottles and plastic containers.

A scavenger hunt was held on Wednesday in preparation for a penny carnival to be held on Friday. The articles will be used as prizes and for a white elephant sale.

LAURELS were presented to the winning overall team captain and the team by Reeve Mrs. Mary Pettit. The winning team was "Canada" and was captured by Marsha Waldie. She received her laurel along with Coleen Smith of the same team.

The BIBLE Today

One hundred years ago, the Upper Canada Bible Society Auxiliary in South Africa distributed 961 Bibles and 887 New Testaments in English, 1861 Bibles and 1924 New Testaments in Dutch and 157 Bibles in foreign languages, a total of 5790 volumes.

Rev. J. T. M. de J. Van Arkel, general secretary of the South Africa Auxiliary, reports that 956,776 volumes of scriptures were distributed in 1960, of which half a million were distributed through the "million gospels for Africa" campaign.

Among the events of the year was the appearance of the re-translated Zulu Bible, the first copy of which, in a special binding, was presented to the Paramount Chief of the Zulus and to the Minister of Bantu Administration and Development. The Paramount Chief in turn presented a copy to Dean O Sarrdal, the chief translator, as a mark of appreciation for his translation work.

Children of white schools in the south-western region gave a large sum of money in the campaign to a Bible "from a scholar to a scholar." Over $6,000 was realized. The principal of a high school for girls in Paarl, in sending about $125, asked whether the 250 Bantu Bibles this money would supply, could be sent to one particular Bantu school in order that the European children could pray for those Bantu scholars. Not all the news from South Africa is concerned with strife and confusion.
