Unthinking Vandals Ruin Beauty Effort

"Littering town streets is not only against the law it's against the good of the community", Police Chief Ray Andress commented this week as he urged co-operation in the town's Beautification program.

Good citizenship includes the respect of the property of others too, he pointed out, stressing the importance of protecting flower beds and other planted area from vandalism.

"If everyone thinks before he throws away a cigarette or candy wrapper and places it in a trash container, Milton would look a lot cleaner", he commented. The Chief stressed that it was up to adults to set the example for the children.

"We do everything we can as police to see that vandalism in parks and gardens is seriously dealt with. No one likes to see beautification efforts ruined by unthinking vandals", Chief Andress concluded.

Keep Your Eyes Open And Your Camera Handy

Keep your eyes open and your camera handy. That's the secret of taking interesting pictures. Good picture-taking opportunities are everywhere around us. Be on the alert and you'll recognize them.

Remember that natural expressions are the best. You don't have to go to the ends of the earth for that. Pictures are yours for the seeing, the selecting and the taking. Whenever you see something that arouses a response in you, picture material is there.

Haircut Time

Snap people while they're busy. Catch junior while he's having his hair cut, mother while she's baking a pie, or daughter when she's placing a record on the phonograph. Wait for the peak of action, the spontaneous expression.

You can also achieve natural expressions by posing people naturally. Give them a simple task—glancing through a book, perhaps—anything to relax them and take their attention from the camera.

If your photos tell stories, they will bring back memories you will cherish long after they have been taken. Don't be satisfied with standing people against a wall and shooting. Stiff, blank stares will result.

Uncluttered

Remember that whatever type of camera you have, it's easy to take good pictures. Keep a few points in mind. Too many objects on the scene distract attention, so leave the background uncluttered. Indoors—and many of our photos these days will be taken indoors—a wall is a good background if it's plain and uniform.

Most simple cameras are equipped with flash, allowing you to take pictures indoors. The bulb will light up your subject when you press the button.

Experiment with angles. Move close to the subject, move away, pace to the left or right, raise or lower the camera. Generally, close-ups provide the best expressions. You'll recognize the right angle when you see it.

Press the Release

All set? Hold the camera straight and steady by pressing it against your body. Keep the subject sharply in focus and, to prevent "head chopping", well within the area of your viewfinder. Press, don't punch, the release. The slightest jar will result in a blurred photo.

A word on camera care: load the film in subdued light. Keep the lens clean with soft lens tissue. Picture taking is just as easy as it sounds.

Never pry open a closed mind, lest you be overwhelmed by the odor of prejudices.

Guiana, India, Nigeria, Formosa Speakers to Appear at Boston

Eight speakers representing four foreign countries will be the special guests at Boston Presbyterian Church's annual "Month of Missions" missionary conference June 16 to 20.

The speakers are Miss Margaret and Miss Katherine Duncan of British Guiana, Miss Winifred Knott of India, Rev. Inya Ude of Nigeria, Yoshi Lin of Formosa, Rev. G. Jeffrey Johnston of Nigeria, Clement deCastro of British Guiana and Mrs. Hugh MacMillan of Formosa.

Other guests during the busy five-day period will include Rev. Malcolm Ransom, assistant secretary, Department of Overseas Missions, and Rev. T. R. Maxwell, formerly of British Guiana and

British Guiana Speaker At Knox Family Night

The Robertson Auxiliary and The Evening Auxiliary of Knox W.M.S. held their annual get-together Tuesday of last week. With an attendance of 37, the president of the Robertson Auxiliary, Miss Eva Chisholm presided and opened the meeting with an appropriate theme. After the singing of the Hymn "O Come let us sing of a Wonderful Love," The Lord's Prayer was recited in unison.

The devotional was taken by Mrs. D. Smillie, and based on the ninth verse of Joshua, Chapter I. "Be Strong and of a good Courage; for the Lord Thy God is with thee, whithersoever thou goest." Prayer was offered by Mrs. S. Agnew, and the offering was received after Hymn No. 582 "O Master, let me walk with Thee", was sung.

Life Member

At this time Mrs. Nellie Anderson called on Miss Reta Navler to come forward, and along with Mrs. M. Robinson, president of the Evening Auxiliary, presented her with a life membership. Mrs. Anderson praised Reta for her untiring efforts through the years in the Evening Auxiliary of which she has been a most faithful and devoted member. Reta, though quite taken by surprise thanked the members for this honor.

Rev. J. K. L. McGown introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Allan Reoch, who filled in for Rev. Duncan, who was unable to be present at this time. Rev. Reoch was a missionary in British Guiana for many years, and also served as chaplain in the Canadian army during the war. He based his talk on John 10, verse 16, "And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd."

Steady, World

He also quoted verses 45-48 of Luke 24, stressing the importance of missionary work — for Christ said, not once, but many times, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel." British Guiana, he related is 83,000 square miles in size, with a population of slightly over half a million people, mostly Portuguese and East Indian. His work, mostly among the East Indians, and in Primary schools, he explained, had been very slow and difficult but steady. He also explained that the problem of rioting, burning, and looting in that country was of a political and a racial nature; but that they do have fine people along the Brazil border, who have been educated to be doctors and lawyers.

In conclusion, Rev. Reoch told the story of a young man, who by the time he was 17, had murdered three people, and of his conversion, after hearing the Gospel Message, preached by a missionary in a tent. He was so changed he broke all the images and idols that he had worshipped all of his life, and turned to God. In time he became an elder in his church, and later became an evangelist. These are the things that remind us, said Mr. Reoch that we do not labor in vain.

Hymn, Benediction

The speaker was thanked for his enlightening message by Mrs. Walter Bell, and after another hymn "Lead on O King Eternal", Rev. McGown pronounced the benediction.

The bales of both auxiliaries were on display and showed quite a worthy effort on the part of each member. Each item makes the light to shine just a little more brightly for those who live in darker corners of the earth.

An enjoyable fellowship was had over dainty refreshments served by the evening girls.

Locals in U.S. For U.A.W. Meet

Two Milton men are among hundreds attending the United Auto Workers annual meeting in Atlantic City, New Jersey, over the weekend and this week.

Marty Caputo is there representing Local 1067 at Ontario Steel Products, and Bruce Lee of Milton, president of the West Toronto Local 252 is a member of the convention committee. Several others from Halton County, including Gerry Klatt of Georgetown and a few from the lake-shore areas, are attending the convention.
