For 13th Year

Plan Night School Display

For the 13th consecutive year a Night School Display Night is scheduled for Milton. The event this year will take place February 19 at the Martin St. High School.

Night School courses in Milton have been uncommonly popular. Few centres continue a similar program more than a few years but the local program, initiated by the Department of Agriculture under J. E. Whitelock and A. T. Woodley back in 1950, has been carried on by interested volunteers with the co-operation of the High School Board.

Spread Out At the outset, courses were offered in every available building in Milton, the demand was so great. In 1954 the courses were going to be dropped, the task of handling them had become so great. Some interested people called on Lloyd Minshall of the community programs branch of the Department of Education and he outlined how night courses could be held under his Department in the High School.

The North Halton Night School program serving Acton, Milton and Georgetown was developed under a general management committee and local committees. In September 1957 the North Halton program was dissolved and the local communities carried on.

Many people have participated in the success of the Milton Night School program over the years. In March of 1951 when the first night school display was held, more than 500 attended.

Keen Interest Officials this year note interest is still keen in the program and look for a large crowd at the 13th display night this year. During those 13 years courses offered have included the complete range of sewing including smoking, tailoring and stitching. There has been aluminum and metal jewelry, woodworking, wood carving, photography, conversational French, motor mechanics, bookkeeping, public speaking, landscaping, dancing, floral arranging, weaving, rug making, draperies and slip covers, ceramics, welding, household mechanics and others.

Three children received the sacrament of baptism and nine adults were admitted to full communion at Knox Presbyterian Church on a recent Sunday. Baptised were Victoria Anne, Robert Joseph and Nancy Elizabeth, children of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Addison of 198 Riverplace Cres.

Miss Susan J. Hetherington of 370 Woodward St. joined the church by profession of faith. Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Addison; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kennedy, D. Edward Kennedy and Miss E. Joan Kennedy, of 310 Elmwood Cres.; and Mr. and Mrs. Allan R. Thompson, 180 Bronte St.; all joined by certificate of transfer from churches in Toronto, Belleville, Hillsdale and Vasey.

Five tenders for renovations and improvements at the Milton Hydro Commission offices were rejected by commissioners in a brief meeting Tuesday evening. The tenders ranged from $14,000 to $20,000 and were more than double the estimate submitted by architect George L. Schneider Ltd., Burlington.

Commissioners instructed the architect to study the bids and prepare specifications that would bring the project in line with the budgeted amount.

Outline Co-Op Medical Coverage Councillors Listen to Details

The Halton Co-operative Medical Services program was outlined to Milton Councillors on Monday. Councillors listened, questioned but made no move to endorse.

Mrs. Roy Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. R. Coulter and W. Hume, outlined to members that H.C.M.S. was "the only county oriented, county located group." Members may be enrolled in the health and major medical benefits and will soon cover extended medical benefits.

Non-Profit She emphasized the county group is a non-profit organization with the directors serving without remuneration. The benefits of the major medical plan were outlined. It is made up from 10 per cent of the premiums and has a $100 deductible clause. "It is a big help where the bills are big," past chairman W. Hume emphasized. He noted one man with bills of $1200 was being assisted.

Following the group's presentation Martin Caputo emphasized that Labor is not against health insurance. He suggested council is on the right track and this was the first time he had heard of the Halton County group. He cautioned the council against endorsing any particular plan.

He noted labor was not opposed to P.S.I. and that in many cases it was labor that chose P.S.I. coverage under the terms of collective bargaining agreements. Mr. Caputo emphasized however that the real need was for universal coverage. "There are many people who can't afford these premiums," he concluded.

Police Chief Ray Andress reports that nothing has been uncovered concerning the destruction of town planted trees on Martin St., which was reported last week.

OBITUARY

Mrs. McJannett Here 75 Years

A resident of Milton for 75 years, Mrs. Tamar McJannett, 83, died in Milton District Hospital on February 2, following an eight week illness. Mrs. McJannett resided with her daughter Mrs. Robert Reid, 89 Miles St., Milton.

She moved to Milton with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stephenson, in 1887, and attended Bruce St. school. In 1889 she married Thomas McJannett, who predeceased her. Mrs. McJannett had three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, all of Burlington.

She is survived by her daughter Mrs. Robert Reid (Marjorie) of 89 Miles St., Milton, two brothers, Albert Stephenson of Milton and William of North Bay, and two sisters, Mrs. Thos. Galloway (Margaret) of Prince Albert Saskatchewan and Mrs. Nelson Ryder (Clara) of Hamilton. Three sons, John, Robert and Harold, predeceased her.

Funeral service was held on February 5, at MacNab and Son Chapel with Rev. J. L. Graham officiating. Pallbearers were Walter Hayward, George Elliott, Tom Huddleston, Earl Forster, William Randell and John Charlton. Interment was at Evergreen cemetery, Milton.

MILTON COUNCIL BRIEFS

Milton Council Monday; Approved rental of the town hall to the Red Sox baseball club for its annual meeting in March. Heard an outline from Councillor A. Ledwith on proposed changes in the town offices to create a private clerk-manager's office. The sale of the old safe presently in the assessor's office was to be considered. An offer on it was to be obtained in writing before proceeding.

Asks Him to Stay Heard an appeal from Councillor J. Bell to remain on the Swimming Pool Board. Councillor Bell had earlier suggested he did not have time to attend the meetings. Councillor Pearce agreed to keep him "filled in" on the proceedings. Councillor Bell pointed out he didn't mind staying if he could be helpful and if he wasn't going to get a "slap in the face from the press". Councillor Bell was referring to an earlier Champion editorial that commented on the breakdown in communication when council representatives did not attend regularly last year.

Declined to offer a reward for information concerning those who destroyed trees on Martin St. last week.

Last Tuesday, (February 5), was a big night in the lives of Hugh Bates and Neil Martin. Having completed their 18 mile journey, the required reading of "Rovering to Success" and "Scouting for Boys", as well as having performed their vigil, the two Rover Squires were invested as Rover Scouts of the 1st Milton Rover Crew.

The initial ceremony may have been dimmed by the fact that the Squires were invested in borrowed kilts, but they can still await the main symbol of our Crew, their own kilt. These would have been used had there not been a delay in importing them from Scotland.

Also on Tuesday, Albert Penrose was finally presented with his Rambler's Badge, one of the two badges awarded to a Rover Scout. This is earned by having an aggregate of 100 miles, keeping a careful log of events, sights and maps. This was to have been awarded two years ago when Albert completed his last required 75 miles on a trip to Cape Cod.

Cub News Peter Hursey, Geoffrey Woodland and Stuart Robinson of the Mohawk Pack were recently presented with their first star.

Peter was also promoted to the level of Senior Sixer in his Pack. The Mohawk Cub Pack is now sharing a leader with the Iroquois Pack. Hugh Bates has been assisting in the training of the boys of the Iroquois Pack and is now helping the Mohawks as well. After all, the Rover motto is Service, and what better way is there for a young man to serve his community than in the leadership of young boys?

48 Firemen... (Continued from Page One) truck and 11 men stayed for four hours, while Georgetown's pumper and nine men stood by three hours to protect the area buildings and assist Milton's tired firemen.

Most Hose Ever In all, they laid 4,600 feet of hose, most of it the large two and one-half inch hose. "That was the first time in my experience I ever saw that much hose laid out at a fire," said Chief Clement. "We had to use everything we had."

Nine main lines of hose were used, seven from hydrants, one from the mill pond, and one from the neighboring creek. The town's two pumper trucks, plus one each from Acton, Georgetown and Oakville were pressed into service during the day.

The fire was actually "under control" in about two hours but firemen didn't quit pumping water at the stubborn spots until 7.15 p.m. in the evening. It took until eight o'clock for them to clean up the ice-covered hose lines and get the equipment ready for another fire call.

Mill officials praised the members of the brigade for their untiring efforts on the stubborn fire.

Police Chief Ray Andress reports that nothing has been uncovered concerning the destruction of town planted trees on Martin St., which was reported last week.
