

Board Presses Approval...

 population of 8,000, by 1968, as estimated by the planners, the high school enrolment could reach 900.
 "We must realize education costs are going to be taking an increasing share of the municipal budget and all we can do is holler in the hope that the province will continue to pay a larger share of the costs. Education is our most important investment in the future," Mr. Dick stressed.

Review Program
 The importance of providing vocational training was stressed and the Board's introduction this year of the limited technical program reviewed.

"The Board is trying its best to make sure Milton's secondary school pupils don't have to take second place to anyone," it was noted. "The county town must surely keep abreast of the educational times", Mr. Dick concluded.

Deputy Reeve Bell wondered why the High School Board was not building within the government grant schedule. It was noted the province pays a grant on $25,000 "per area." This applies equally to classrooms and a gymnasium, in which the construction costs are quite different.

Get Cost Down
 Predicting a four mill increase to handle the project, the deputy reeve stressed that he was very conscious of the importance of education but he was anxious to get the cost down so the town can live within its means.

Trustee Dick referred to the number of new public schools built since the war that were feeding pupils to the high school system to emphasize the increased demands for secondary school education.

Board chairman Ross Carbert expressed to council the urgency of the project, explaining it would take at least a year to build the school and the Public School Board had hoped to be in the Martin St. school next September.

Build to Grants
 Councillor C. Menefy recalled the finance committee met with the Board and concluded the school should be built within the $450,000 in which the Department would pay grants. "The reeve is not here and he is chairman of the finance committee. I feel we can't act until the chairman of the finance committee returns". (Reeve C. A. Martin was absent from the meeting attending the Good Roads Convention in his capacity as Warden of the county.)

 Trustee Dick noted if the Board agreed to the $450,000 the Department would only subsidize $330,000. "You can't beat the grant structure," he stressed. "We now have pupils taking study classes in the bleachers of the gymnasium and a commercial class in the women teachers' room. "We are shirking our responsibility if we don't offer educational opportunity equal to that of other area municipalities."

$50,000 Difference
 Councillor C. Johnson observed the difference in the town's share of a $450,000 program and the proposed $691,000 project would be about $50,000 over the debt-entire period.

Trustee Don MacEachen recalled earlier concern that there were "frills" in the program, with reference to a cafeteria and a gymnasium. He asked an opportunity for District Inspector F. W. Vickers to review these items.

Mr. Vickers emphasized these were not frills. "A gymnasium is as important as a lab or classroom," he explained noting the present gymnasium was in use 100% of the time. Another class next year would curtail the program. "Physical education is a compulsory program and for the minimum program you will need more space after June."

Cafeteria Use
 The Inspector explained the cafeteria was more than a place to eat. It is valuable as an extra study room, as an examination room and for use in a new educational concept called "team teaching" where more than one class is exposed to an exceptional teacher. "I know of no school of the size of this one proposed that is without a cafeteria," he concluded.

"The Board has given a great deal of thought to this project. We have done everything possible to keep that cost down. If you can tell us how we can keep to $450,000 and still provide the required facilities, we'll be glad to hear of it," Trustee W. Gazley said.

"No Frills"
 "There are no frills in this project," Trustee Reford Gardhouse assured council. He noted he had given the same assurance to members of his own Esqueving Council and they had been satisfied with the Board's study. Councillor N. Pearce observed that Mr. Dick's review and earlier requests on the matter had convinced him the project could not be trimmed. "I would be prepared to approve the proposal," he concluded.

 Councillor G. Purdy agreed, noting the Public School Board's program for accommodation was also being delayed.

"Sit Down and Think"
 "We should sit down and think just how much money is involved before we run into $700,000. We should put as much study into this as the Board has," Councillor C. Menefy cautioned.

"What happens if we turn the project down?" Councillor A. Ledwith wondered.
 "We're not turning them down. We're only asking them to stay within the amount the government approves for grants," Councillor Menefy replied.

Need Addition
 Deputy Reeve Bell observed there had to be a bigger high school but he would like to find out how much it would raise the taxes in 1965. "We can't tax people out of the town."

Councillor Menefy noted the finance committee could not prepare a recommendation until the committee chairman returned which might not be in time for next week's meeting.

Check Mills
 The discussion concluded with the understanding the clerk would prepare details on the effect on the mill rate.

In the delegation presenting the proposal to Council were High School Board members R. Carbert, W. Gazley, R. Gardhouse, K. V. Dick, Dr. D. A. G. MacEachen, Secretary - Treasurer A. E. Millson, District Inspector F. W. Vickers, Principal R. C. Hunter, W. Tom, Architects G. Farrel, and C. D. Dunlop.

Religion-Labor New Committee

David Archer, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, predicted more professional workers will be joining unions. He was addressing the founding meeting of the Oakville District Labor Council's Religion and Labor Committee, Monday.

Mr. Archer told the meeting doctors and lawyers played a major role in the trade union movement in Europe. He said all sections of society had to work together to solve the problem of automation. "We have to adapt ethical values to a society that is run by machines," he said.

Mr. Archer was presenting labor's viewpoint in a panel discussion moderated by Rev. A. R. Arkwright of Etobicoke. Speak for management was W. D. Moffatt, president of the E. B. Eddy Co. Mr. Moffatt told the audience it was government's job to create employment and industry's job to make money.

"If we don't, it would mean the failure of the competitive system," he said. Mr. Moffatt said increased employment would automatically follow increased production.

Representing the Milton Ministerial Association at the meeting was Rev. J. K. L. McGown. Following the meeting Mr. McGown noted it was a challenge to the church to help in problems and it was a challenge from the church to others to use religion in meeting problems.

Also attending from Milton was Ivan Armstrong, representing the union at the Canadian Meter Co. Rev. J. Hill from Hornby United Church was also in attendance.

Harley Family Goes to Ottawa

Halton's M.P. Dr. Harry Harley has moved his family to Ottawa for this session of parliament. They will remain there until the closing of school in June, 1964.

He explains, "In this way I will be with my family for five days a week, as opposed to previously when I saw them only on weekends. I will still be available in the riding on weekends as I have been in the past."

W. J. Hampshire 91 on Saturday

W. J. Hampshire, R.R. 3, Milton, Saturday marked his 91st birthday.
 Mr. Hampshire is a descendant of settlers who came to this country in 1803. He is a former township councillor, a former Halton Sheriff, and active church worker, a former school trustee, and federal election candidate, a one-time amateur boxer and a man who cleared virgin White Pine with teams of horses.

Clears Forests
 Mr. Hampshire was born at Fergus and at the age of seven months, his family moved to Speyside where his father had purchased a 200 acre farm. Ten acres of land had been cleared and the other 190 acres was covered with virgin White Pine. "It took a number of years to clear it," recalled Mr. Hampshire. "But I broke it all with a horse drawn plow."

He first went to Boston Presbyterian Church 89 years ago and is the oldest living member. In 1935 he became Sheriff, Surrogate Court Registrar and Local Registrar of Deeds for Halton, a post he held until 1946.

A long-time supporter of the Liberal Party, Mr. Hampshire was a candidate for the Federal seat in 1926 but he was beaten by Dr. R. K. Anderson of the Conservative party.

For many years he was president of the County Sunday School Association and he also served as president of the Canadian Club in Milton. Still in fine health, he visited Acton Fair two weeks ago.

Ask Parkway Footbridge Town will Review Costs
 Milton Council Monday agreed to have another look at previously prepared figures on the construction of a bridge across the Sixteen Mile Creek between the east and west links of Parkway Drive.

The action and review was prompted by letters from Dr. F. Galloway, W. Switzer, J. Ostler and J. M. Ledwith asking a footbridge over the stream to permit area students earlier access to the new Williams Ave. school.

Pine St. Crossing
 Presently, the nearest stream crossing is on Pine St. Members began recalling estimates of $3,000 for a footbridge, a $1,000 difference between a footbridge and a full bridge when provincial subsidy is considered, and other details.

Councillor Purdy noted the residents were interested in the easiest way. He noted the difficulty of the town just throwing a plank across was in the degree of liability that might be incurred in case of an accident. "Something temporary is all that's really wanted," he explained.

Town Liability
 "In the spring, the town liability could be very serious if the crossing is not properly constructed," Councillor C. Wilson stressed.

It was agreed the previously compiled figures on the project would be reviewed.
