

WANDERING "WHISTLERS" from Georgetown Kinsmen Club had rather I-o-n-g faces, but their whistled tunes were bright and gay as they performed for the I.O.D.E. "South Pacific Party" at Glenspey Farms on Saturday. Got the stubby fellows figured out yet? Well, you should have been there to see them whistling? From left are Trevor Moores, Dean Taylor, Bob Collett and Jim Cooper. (Oh yes, their REAL faces and arms are hidden, beneath their hats . . . and what appears to be their shoulders are really their waists. Got it yet?)

A LIVELY CAN-CAN NUMBER on the program at Saturday's I.O.D.E. party included dancers Mary Cooper, Gail Collett, Donna Moores, Jean Murphy and Joyce Mahaffy, all Kinette Club members from Georgetown. Their excellent performance was perhaps overshadowed by the menfolk, who did the "Whistlers" number and also a take-off on a ballet.

CALORIE COUNTERS BEWARE: Diets and waistlines were easily forgotten Saturday evening, when over 200 guests lined up at the buffet dinner tables at the Sarah Martin Chapter I.O.D.E.'s "South Pacific Party". Dishes like "Chicken Hawaiian" and "Polynesian Rice" plus turkey, ham, chicken and corned beef and dozens of tempting salads were attacked with vigor by the hungry visitors. Shown at the dinner tables are some of the hard-working members of the I.O.D.E. Chapter.

I.O.D.E. South Pacific Supper, Dance Party Features Exotic Food, Hilarious Dance Act

The annual lawn party of the Sarah Martin I.O.D.E. Chapter, Milton, had several innovations this year. Held Saturday evening at the spacious Glenspey Farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Frame, Speyside, the party featured a new format, new menu and new entertainment.

The innovations paid off, for a crowd of well over 200 guests reported having "the time of their lives" when the party was over. Convener Mrs. C. Watters and I.O.D.E. Regent Mrs. N. D. Martin reported the social event was warmly received by the guests, and compliments flew all evening on the supper, the entertainment and the open air dance.

South Pacific Theme

Last year it was a chicken barbecue followed by a fashion show, aquatic display and a dance. This year's event was a "South Pacific Party" and the theme was carried throughout the evening.

I.O.D.E. members wore colorful muu-muus and all the guests were presented with a lei to wear around their necks. The exotic music that has become the trademark in Hawaii, Balli and Bermuda wafted through the air all evening, as guests sat around the Frame's outdoor pool specially decorated with palm trees, a floating raft of palms and coral rocks. Even a sarong-wearing model graced the diving board.

The dinner, served buffet style on a table bearing a colorful flower and fruit centerpiece, was a highlight of the evening and had many guests coming back for seconds — and thirds. It featured "Chicken Hawaiian" and "Polynesian Rice" complimented by ham, turkey, corned beef and chicken, and a host of colorful fruit and vegetable salads. Coffee and a Hawaiian pineapple fruit sundae topped off the dinner.

Colorful Scene

Following the supper guests relaxed on the grounds, then gathered at the tennis court where they spent the rest of the evening dancing beneath a large marquee. Tommy Renzetti's colorfully clad orchestra provided the music, from a stage decorated in palms and back-dropped with the South Pacific scenery used in Milton's recent skating carnival.

Laugh highlight of the evening was the appearance of 12 Kinsmen and Kinettes from the Georgetown Club. Kinsmen Jim Cooper, Dean Taylor, Trevor Moores and Bob Collett nearly brought down the tent with laughter, when they presented their now-famous "Whistlers" number. It defied all description — it was one of those shows you had to see to believe.

The four later were joined by Leon Dearsley and Art Ellis, all dressed as "French Maids", as they did a takeoff on the ballet. The number evoked as much applause as the "Whistlers" and the breathless prima-donnas were called back for an encore.

The ladies got into the act, too. Dressed as French can-can girls, Kinettes Mary Cooper, Gail Collett, Donna Moore, Jean Murphy and Joyce Mahaffy did a number they presented recently at their annual dance, the Kinette Kruike. Kinsman Hugh Powell was the comical emcee for the show, and even brought along his own version of a distinctive Canadian flag.

"FRENCH MAIDS" (or something) who were among six men doing a ballet number at the Sarah Martin I.O.D.E. lawn party Saturday, included Art Ellis and Leon Dearsley. Both are Georgetown Kinsmen, and were among 12 Kinsmen and Kinettes who entertained. Their interpretation of ballet was, well . . . novel, to say the least!
