Farmers Take Safety Lightly So Farm Fatality Rate is High

Are you among the unlucky 300 farm people this year? This is the approximate number of fatalities that will occur from farm accidents this year. The way rural people take farm safety so lightly it appears that they want to be included in this number.
Possibly we could take several ideas from industry, in helping to curb farm accidents.
In the farm accident survey conducted in 1959 to 1960, the greatest number of accidents happened at approximately 10 o'clock in the morning, and three o'clock in the afternoon. These are times that industry allows its workers to take coffee breaks. If agricultural workers were to take coffee breaks at these times it would also do what it does for industry, refresh its workers and cut down the accident rate.

BY ED SEGSWORTH
Halton Junior Farmer Provincial Director

Startling fact
Another startling fact of the survey was the age of the persons in fatal accidents. The age for fatalities was highest at 10-12 years old. Industry does not allow a person 12 years old to operate any of its machines, in fact they won't even allow them to be in the factory during working hours. Why should rural people allow a boy of 12 years to operate the dangerous machinery that his father operates. You may say that is fine if you can afford to hire an extra man, but I can't afford it. Let me ask you. Is it worth your son's life not to hire an extra man for the busy season of the year?
With the trend to greater mechanization in agriculture comes the risk of human error and a higher accident rate.

In the survey, the property damage alone totalled well over five million dollars. By eliminating farm accidents each farmer could raise his salary by approximately one hundred dollars a year.
Something else I might make special note of here, is that if you have your license taken away from you under the criminal code of Canada, for an accident with your car, truck or tractor, you cannot work your fields with the tractor. If you do, you can be imprisoned for breaking the law, for the law states you cannot drive anywhere in Canada. This includes in your field with a tractor.
Although a tractor is not classed as a motor vehicle, you can be charged by the police if you are not operating your tractor on

Urge Farmers

With only two or three counties of the province reporting a hay crop surplus to their anticipated requirements, the Ontario Department of Agriculture today urged farmers to harvest all possible forage crops, not only for their own use but to assist in meeting the shortage in other areas of the province.

make sure that there is no buyer in the local area before selling for export.
Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick are traditional exporters of hay under normal conditions, with exports last year amounting to 150,000 tons.
"We have no wish to interfere with normal trade procedures, but it is hoped that farmers with hay for sale will make sure that there is no buyer in their home area before selling the hay outside of the province", said an official.
The situation has been aggravated by a shortage of hay in the United States as a result of similar drought conditions.

To Harvest All Possible Forage Crops Help Meet Shortage in Some Areas

Drought conditions, particularly in Eastern Ontario, have seriously curtailed normal production, with the result that livestock feeders will find it difficult to secure adequate supplies to meet their over-winter requirements.
The Department is urging farmers, who are fortunate enough to find themselves in a surplus position, to make every effort to make sure that there is no buyer in the local area before selling for export.

Cattle Judged By 4-H Club

The monthly meeting of the Halton 4-H Jersey, Guernsey, Ayrshire Calf Club was held at the farm of Lloyd Chisholm where an excellent display of Guernsey cattle was judged.
The roll call was taken with 21 members present.

A type demonstration was given by Agricultural Representative John Cockburn. Two classes of Guernsey cattle were judged, and after reasons for placing were taken from the members an excellent demonstration on bovine mastitis was given by Miss Verna Thompson.

The meeting was adjourned and lunch was served by Mr. Chisholm.

Harvest Hauling

Recently the National Safety League offered three suggestions for hauling in your harvested crops. One — check traffic before pulling on to the road. Two — be courteous and let faster traffic go by. Three — use the new orange and red Slow Moving Vehicle emblem to warn other traffic that you're travelling less than 25 miles an hour. Your local Agricultural representative heartily endorses these suggestions.
