

fact. The constable said he noted the facts at the time of the accident. Until he consulted the crown, he would not know if charges were to be laid. Summing up evidence, the crown attorney noted neither Johnson or Brown seemed to remember anything beyond the Base Line Road. He emphasized the inquest was an inquiry, not a trial, and called on the jury to bring in its verdict. The jury deliberated for an hour and a quarter before returning its verdict.

Mothers to Collect For March of Dimes With sponsorship by the Kinette Club of Milton and organization being done by Mrs. W. C. Rowney, Milton's "marching mothers" expect to launch a one-night blitz January 13 in a "March of Dimes" campaign to aid the Rehabilitation Foundation for the Disabled. Mrs. Rowney has been at work several weeks, lining up 14 captains to head groups of canvassers. She expected about 145 would participate in the blitz. The late councillor Mrs. Mary Pettit was Milton's "Marching Mother" for many years, but there have been no March of Dimes collections organized in Milton since her death. Some canvassers will be unable to go out on Monday night, January 31, and will begin their collections three or four days in advance of that date, the organizer reported. However no collections will be staged after January 31.

Miltonians Attend Biggest Sleighride Several Miltonians were among over 4,000 participating in what must have been Ontario's biggest private sleighriding party at Northote Farm near Lakefield Saturday.

The sponsor of the gala event was Dr. Hugh Gastle, who was born and raised on the Gastle farmstead in north Burlington, and he invited his mother Mrs. George Gastle and his sister Mrs. Bruce MacNab and family of Milton to attend. Laurie and Linda, were all seen on a TV news broadcast after the party. "Rural Fun" Dr. Gastle said he threw the party to entertain young guests from Peterborough's 14 one-room schools which are closing next September. He said he wanted them to sample an old-fashioned form of rural fun before they become modernized and transferred to consolidated schools next fall. He hopes the sleighrides will be a regular event during Canada's centennial year.

Others enjoying the day included district students, hockey team members, Indian children from a nearby reserve, school patrol groups, nurses, crippled children and retardates. Inquest into Dennis Schmidt's Death

A five man jury inquiring into the death of Dennis Schmidt on Highway 25 just north of Milton in an accident on December 11 placed "a high degree of responsibility for the accident on Thomas Johnson."

The jury ruled that Schmidt died of injuries caused in an accident involving his car and that driven by Johnson. It recommended the Canadian Automotive Manufacturers' Association be required to incorporate all safety features in all automobiles; the Dept. of Highways erect caution signs warning of the dangerous curve north of the town; and that the Department be required to reduce the speed limit in the area of the fatality.

Following completion of the evidence, jury foreman Donald Davidson questioned Johnson and Edward Brown who was a passenger in his car, on whether they had concurred on the evidence they would give. Both admitted they had talked of the accident at various times, but both had given police statements before seeing each other following the accident.

Remember to Point The foreman expressed surprise each could remember specific details to a point prior to the accident but neither could remember anything concerning the accident. Edward Brown, the first witness to testify, said he had gone to the Milton Inn after the hockey game and met Tom Johnson there. After two drafts and two pints, they left in the Johnson car, proceeding up Martin St. North of the Base Line, he looked up, saw headlights, realized the cars would crash. He suffered several cuts and a head injury and was treated at Milton District Hospital.

Dr. Dingle of the Joseph Brant Memorial Hospital testified Schmidt, driver of the other car, was severely injured and died about 3:15 a.m. In an autopsy, a blood sample showed no alcohol in the blood.

Serious Injuries Dr. D. Aikenhead testified he attended Schmidt at the Milton District Hospital and, realizing the seriousness of injuries, transferred him to Burlington. He was accompanied there by Dr. C. Hillz. He treated Johnson who had a head injury, but was not able to answer questions. He did not remember smelling any alcohol.

Thomas Johnson testified he finished work about 11 p.m. and went to the Charles Hotel, then to the Milton Inn, where he met Brown and after two drafts of beer, left to meet a friend at the Alpine Restaurant up Highway 25. He did not recall a specific car in front of him on Martin St. and he did not recall seeing the car with which he collided. The

Urge Safety Measures

Norma J. McLeod testified she was in the car with Schmidt and had come off Highway 401 onto Highway 25. She recalled seeing two cars coming, felt the car swerve. She recalled no other details of the accident. Saw Johnson Car Gayle Earle testified she had been driving past the Milton Inn shortly after midnight when a car backed out in front of her. She blew the horn and passed on the other side. She looked back and recognized Tom Johnson. Proceeding up Martin St., she said a car pulled in close behind her in front of another car and she thought it was driven by Tom Johnson. It followed closely and she believed it pulled off the Holy Rosary church. She remembered the car swerving "and scaring me". Mary Mowat, a passenger in the Earle car gave substantially the same evidence. Constable W. Griffith testified on his investigation of the position of the vehicles and highway marks. He testified the point of impact was two and a half feet west of the centre line. The Schmidt car was damaged along the whole left side and the Johnson vehicle was damaged at the front. The constable testified Johnson had refused to give a blood sample for alcoholic content. Couldn't Recall Recalled for further evidence, Thomas Johnson did not recall waving to Miss Earle, nor did he remember pulling in close behind her car. He agreed he might have, but did not recall it. Fred Johnson took the witness stand to ask when the constable had determined the point of im-
