Two Brothers, Sister All Wed 50 Years James Wetherelts Celebrate January 5

Two brothers and a sister who were all married during 1916 are having a busy time this year - attending each other's 50th wedding anniversary celebrations.

The first of the family to mark the golden anniversary milestone were Mr. and Mrs. James Wetherelt of Kilbride, whose 50th anniversary date fell on Wednesday of last week, January 5. They celebrated it with a family dinner for 19 guests at St. George's Church Hall on the Wednesday evening, and an open house in their home on Sunday afternoon and evening, when over 150 attended.

Three Times 50

Mrs. Wetherelt is the former Agnes Kerr and her brother William Reid Kerr and his wife of Brantford will mark the same anniversary February 17, while a second brother Hamilton Kerr and his wife of Milton are looking forward to their golden anniversary on October 25.

And to top it all off, Mrs. Hamilton Kerr's sister Mrs. Jim Eaton and her husband will celebrate half a century of marriage this year as well - September 23.

The Wetherelts, first to go through the celebration this year were tired but very satisfied after their anniversary events last week. The ladies of St. George's catered for the Wednesday evening family dinner, when all but two of the four children, six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren were able to attend. Son-in-law George Hardsand of Kilbride was master of ceremonies and the grandchildren and great-grandchildren presented the happy couple with a corsage and boutonniere.

Bridesmaid Attends

An open house at their home Sunday saw many friends, relatives and neighbors drop in to wish them many more years of happy marriage. Pouring tea through the day were Mrs. Harriet Watts of Galt, Mr. Wetherelt's sister-in-law Mrs. Kathy Wetherelt of Freelon, and a bridesmaid from the 1916 wedding Mrs. Hamilton Kerr of Milton.

The daughters and grandchildren assisted in serving and preparing the refreshments. Grandchildren presented Mr. and Mrs. Wetherelt with roses, while their son and three daughters went together to present a pole lamp.

Flowers, cards and best wishes were received from several friends including a telegram from relatives in Halifax, letters from M.P. Dr. Harry C. Harley and M. P.P. George A. Kerr, and a framed certificate from Lloyd Berryman, Mayor of Burlington. A letter was also received from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson. Mayor Berryman and area councillor William Green were among the guests attending the open house.

Live in Kilbride

The Wetherelts have lived in or near Kilbride for all of their married life. Mr. Wetherelt was born in Carlisle and Mrs. Wetherelt was from Beverley Township south of Freelon. They were married at her home in 1916, then moved to live at his farm on Mc-Niven Road near Kilbride. Mr. Wetherelt farmed for eight years and worked at several other occupations before his retirement two years ago. They are both active in the "Good Neighbor" cune club in the village.

Their family includes one son Jim of Burlington, and three daughters, Mrs. William Allison (Eileen) of Kilbride, Mrs. Hibbert Maeder (Mickey) of Whitby, and Mrs. George Hardsand (Irene) of Kilbride. There are also six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

MARRIED 50 YEARS on Wednesday of last week, January 5, Mr. and Mrs. James Wetherelt of Kilbride enjoyed the celebration which included a family dinner that day and an open house in their home on Sunday. They have lived in or near Kilbride since their marriage.

The principle of a county assessment commissioner was endorsed by Halton County Council.

A freeze on multi-family housing construction in Milton, until December 1, was approved by the O.M.B.

The Campbellville community was saddened when a popular village youth, Leroy Inglis, was killed while riding his motorcycle home from Milton. Several charges were laid against the driver of the car which struck the boy.

Haltos farmers experienced a serious drought, and hay, fruit and vegetable crops suffered.

JULY

Nassagawewa council, worried that the township was being thrown in with such far-flung communities as Paris, Guelph and South Dumfries, decided to protest the federal riding redistribution plan.

A reprieve from the drought arrived in the form of two inches of rainfall, welcomed by farmers.

The 70-year-old Kelso school, Haltos' last operating one-room rural school, closed its doors at the end of June.

A 1960 agreement with the former Township of Trafalgar forced Halton council to approve provision of water and sewer service for two small industries locating on Nipissing Rd. at the rear of Milton Plaza. A week earlier, the council turned down services, noting it was unable to provide services for apartment buildings in Milton which would produce a good revenue from assessment.

The town had to give up a plan to purchase the vacant Milton Armouries, when insufficient parking space was available to conform to the town's zoning by-laws. It was to have been purchased for use as a recreation centre.

A new venture began at Milton District Hospital when 11 "Candy Strippers", sponsored and organized by the Women's Auxiliary, went to work assisting nurses and W.A. members.

Work began on the $40,000 worth of arena improvements in mid-July.

Three tenders on renovations at the Martin St. senior public school exceeded the estimated prices, and the school board had to sit down and revise the specifications to keep in line with the proposed expenditure.

The town hosted 200 highland dancers at the annual Ontario Highland Dancers' Association competition, held in Milton Fair Grounds.

The province's Select Committee on Conservation stopped in Halton one day to admire the beauties of Rattlesnake Park, Kelso Conservation Area and other Halton Region Conservation Authority projects.

The Halton - Peel Needs Study was launched and the five terms of reference to be followed by consultant Thomas J. Plunkett were outlined.

A mail strike crippled the country's mail system and although none of the Milton Post Office staffers joined the strike, mail deliveries to and from Milton were seriously affected.

The new $23,000 Campbellville post office was officially opened with a Saturday ceremony attended by dignitaries.
