

Kelso Park . . . Area summer playground

WITH THE ESCARPMENT forming a perfect backdrop, swimmers can enjoy themselves any day of the week at the Kelso Conservation Area pool. During the recent hot spell, attendance has reached near record highs nearly every weekend. Fully trained lifeguards are on duty whenever the pool is open and an adjacent wading pool for tiny tots is also guarded constantly.

SUMMER SMILES can always be located at the Kelso Conservation Area, west of Milton. The area's large swimming pool, wading pool and scenic lake are perfect spots for beating the summer heat. In addition, the large number of trees at Kelso offer plenty of shade for picnickers. Attendance has been excellent during the past few weeks, as more and more people come back, week after week. A number of young swimmers are shown here as they relax on the edge of the wading pool.

Open registration for Kelso lessons

Following the completion of a successful July series of swimming lessons at Kelso Conservation Area swimming pool, the August series opened Wednesday morning of this week. Enrolments are still being accepted until Friday, August 5 for the August lessons.

Over 300 swimmers participated in beginner, junior, intermediate, senior and adult swimming lessons and lifesaving classes during July. Lifeguards at the pool were instructors.

In August the adult lessons will be Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at 10.30 a.m. while beginner, junior, intermediate and senior lessons are being held every weekday morning except Thursday.
