 the north part of Halton which would look after students from the time they enter kindergarten ten until they graduate from high school. He defended the board's proposal for a nine-room addition at the Brookville School and indicated the eventual aim of the board was to have large schools at both Eden Mills and Campbellville for students from kindergarten to grade six, and senior public school at Brookville from grade 7 and 8 students with some provision for students in lower grades.

He said it was his intention to run for re-election and indicated it quite possibly would be the last term of office for the township school board. He noted, "we on the board have started on a program and I would like to be able to help carry it through."

CLAUDE INGLIS, school trustee said he was pleased to see that people were interested in running for school board. He said he has enjoyed his work on the board and paid tribute to the staff members and in particular, secretary-treasurer Mrs.

Doreen Mahon. He said he favored the carrying out of the board's current plans.

JACK McPHAIL, school trustee, pointed out that this could be the last time a school board would be selected for the township. He noted 1967 will be a busy planning year for the school board.

ALLAN ACKMAN (nominated as a candidate for reeve): said several ratepayers and delegations had requested him to run for the reeve's post, but he indicated that he hadn't yet decided whether or not he would seek the position. He said he believed in local government and local representation and was not in favor of putting the power to directly govern the municipality in the hands of a few at Queen's Park.

Mr. Ackman stated he was proud of the actions of councillor MacArthur during the past year — "she shone like a beacon in the darkness," he said. He said the Planning Board, considering the limitations of the report submitted by the professional planners, had done a capable job, "but we're not out of the woods yet," he warned. He said he had apprehensions on whether or not the good elements of the proposed by-law and official plan would ever be implemented if regional government became a fact.

He condemned Plunkett's suggestions on representation and indicated he was not happy with current expropriation laws.

He told the meeting, "I'll let you know tomorrow whether or not I will run."

A. L. GOUTOUSKI (candidate for council) said he believed he had the experience to be a worthwhile member of council. "No one has asked me to run, I'm doing this on my own. In fact, some have suggested I might wait, but I don't feel we have the time," he declared.

The candidate said whether or not he is elected, he will go after council with some of his ideas. He acknowledged the work of Mrs. MacArthur — in particular her stand on the two-year term because if a member doesn't do his job after one year, out he should go.

He said he would like to see thrift with the taxpayers' dollars and a safety survey. "I don't want to have to attend a funeral because the township couldn't afford stop signs," he said.

MRS. ELVA NEWTON (candidate for council) noted, "it looks like we're going to end up with a $60,000 changing room for a ball park (the new township administration building which she opposed three years ago.)"

"I'm against regional government, I'm an individualist, first, second and last," she said. She warned ratepayers, if they do away with local government they would live to regret it, and suggested, "what Spooner wants, Spooner gets" (Minister of Municipal Affairs J. W. Spooner).

She said the Plunkett study was first considered a suggestion, but now it is being talked about as an accomplished fact.

She said she had time for only one member of the township council "and that's Mrs. MacArthur". She believed the two-year term was a good thing, but didn't think it should be shoved down the ratepayers' throats.

she began to express gross dissatisfaction with the efforts of councillor Ross Gordon.

Mr. McIntyre said, "I think in all fairness, personalities should be kept out of this."

Mrs. Newton asked that a show of hands rule whether or not she continue to speak. Immediately a number of hands were raised in agreement with her, but a number of ratepayers also shouted, opposing her statements.

The candidate made a few more comments then closed with the suggestion, "the choice of the type of government you want is left with you — you make it."

MRS. WILLIE ESSERY (candidate for school board) said she would consider it a privilege (Continued on Page 8)
